Lyttelton Time Bank

Borrow, Give, or Swap-a-Book Success

Last Friday the Lyttelton Time Bank had a free book stall in front of the Lyttelton Library on London Street. It was, to quote organiser Bettina Evans “a rip-snorting success”. Starting with five banana boxes of books, within the first hour another five boxes of books arrived by car, foot, pram and bike, donated by keen Time Bankers and Lyttelton residents. Then as the stall was just setting up, the librarians (from the still closed library) came out and donated a few more boxes of children's books and magazines. Between 11.00am and 2.00pm there was a steady stream of people sitting, chatting and exchanging books. As Bettina exclaims “it was great - took me back to the days of the heart stitching!”.

If you have any old books you want to take, borrow or exchange, you can head to the Information Centre at 65 London Street; or at the Health Centre, 18 Oxford Street where the Time Bank have placed a box of books. If you have more than one or two books to donate, you can leave them at the Information Centre or at The Portal, 54b Oxford Street [the building behind the swimming pool].

Whakanuia Te Wiki o te Reo Māori

Celebrate Māori Language Week

The Māori Language Commission have chosen “Manaakitanga” as the theme for Māori Language Week 2011. “Manaakitanga” is a very important belief of Māori custom and identity that has positively influenced notions of good old ‘Kiwi’ hospitality. “At its core manaakitanga is about how we make people feel welcome when they are in our company, and how we give regard to and care for others when hosting visitors”, says Chief Executive, Glenis Philip-Barbara.

“Our key message is about promoting Māori language use in communities and homes. In keeping with our recent choices for Māori language week themes we’ve selected another activity-based concept to further emphasise this message”, says Glenis Philip-Barbara. “Here is a golden opportunity to think of all the ways you can act positively in your community and utilize the language and practice of manaakitanga to do so”.

Pita Sharples, Maori Party Co-Leader, says “Māori Language Week has been important in creating critical awareness about the role of the Māori language, not just in terms of Māori identity, but also as the basis for a wider national identity. We can all help by encouraging communities to promote and support learning and using the Māori language, and supporting iwi, hapū and whānau interest in the long term survival of the language. With that in mind, enjoy the week and let us continue to promote the language and its revival beyond this week.”

Sustaining Love for Lyttelton Harbour

Kia ora koutou katoa - greetings, hello to you all. Every year since 1975 New Zealand has marked Māori Language Week. Use this week to learn some new words:

The Harbour Union CD

Great Music - Great Cause

Formed from the friendship in the rubble of the earthquake that hit Lyttelton on 22nd February.

The Harbour Union is a skeleton crew, constructed from the remnants of Lyttelton's music scene. The Eastern, Unfaithful Ways, Tiny Lies, Delaney Davidson, Al Park, Lindon Puffin and Runaround Sue combine to create the first Harbour Union Album. 100% of proceeds to go to the rebuilding of Lyttelton.

From the Fans:

"I love the album... everyone should buy a copy...it really is great, the haunted blues or some other kind of rhythm and soul from Lyttelton."

"Album arrived this morning - LOVE it. We're using for our Feature Album of the Week from next week at Community Radio Hamilton."

"Loving the album! Makes me proud to live in lyttelton!"

“inspiration”

Do not anticipate trouble, or worry about what may never happen. Keep in the sunlight.
Benjamin Franklin

Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined.
Henry Thoreau

The best way to make your dreams come true is to wake up.
Paul Valery

It is good to rub and polish our brains against that of others.
Michel Montaigne

We think too small. Like the frog at the bottom of the well. He thinks the sky is only as big as the top of the well. If he surfaced, he would have an entirely different view.
Mao Tse Tung

As we seek to rebuild Lyttelton - calling on local experience and knowledge from the community will be valuable in guiding reconstruction efforts.

A proactive community approach will deliver results in terms of offering a clear vision for the future; an opportunity to work creatively together; then delivering that vision to central government; and all the while making the most of the transitional phase.

Most of all, Lyttelton residents could look to adopt an approach that reflects vision, analysis and action through a process that encourages transparency and open discussion - hence the creation of the Lyttelton Forum.

Granted there is still a long way to go until our earthquake affected region is fully recovered, but as a community we still have control of our destiny - but only if we can all give ourselves a voice.

Earthquake Counselling

Peace of Mind; Healthy Body

Your local doctor can help you to manage stress and anxiety around the events of the past several months. Stress is a normal reaction to a challenging situation, but when you suffer intense stress for a long time, it can affect your physical and mental health, wellbeing and enjoyment. If you think you might be suffering from stress, or don't feel "quite right" chat to your local doctor, as there are options for free counselling advice they can refer you to.

Lyttelton Port Company News

Update: June 29 Released

Operations are continuing well at the Lyttelton Port despite ongoing work throughout the port to repair damage from the February and June earthquakes and continuing aftershocks.

Shipping movements are continuing as normal, apart from coal exports. Operationally, we were up and running within 96 hours of both the February and June earthquakes, proving that the port is extremely resilient in terms of people, facilities and infrastructure. However, we have lost up to a third of our operating area at Cashin Quay to repair works.

The Port Company is facing a four to five year programme of repaving, repiling and rebuilding. Our responsibility to the people of Canterbury, as the largest trade gateway to the South Island, is to recover, grow and continue to contribute to people's economic wellbeing. Our staff and contractors continue their hard work to ensure that vital goods and commodities can move safely through the port, and we thank them for that.

Lyttelton's iconic and historic lighthouse has been removed temporarily to a safe place for rehabilitation.

The earthquakes left the lighthouse on a 15 degree lean as the timber roundhead structure that it sat on was pulled downwards by settlement of land near the wharf. Once the land and wharf structure at Z berth have been remediated, it will be returned there and will go back into operation.

The lighthouse is a listed international navigational aid and while it is out of commission a temporary light has been installed in its place. It was built around 1878. The light colour was changed from its original red to green when New Zealand adopted a new international standard for buoys and beacons in the early 1980s.

Community Watch

Keeping Lyttelton Harbour Safe

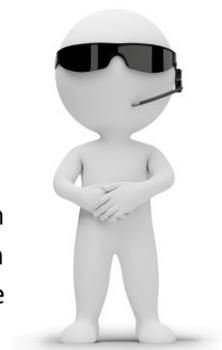

Are you passionate about keeping crime down in the Lyttelton Harbour?"

Then volunteer to help residents feel safe by joining the Lyttelton Community Watch group. Based in Lyttelton the group patrol the Lyttelton Township, especially the central business district and areas where there are less residents since the earthquake.

At present the Community Watch Group are looking for fit and enthusiastic people to assist in this important community role. For the most part, the role includes walking or driving around the streets, and talking to people who may appear lost, or look as though they are 'up to no good'.

Being a part of the Community Watch Group is also about liaising with the local Police, and giving the Police more tools to be more effective.

No prior security experience is required, as full training will be given to volunteers taken on board. All interested persons should contact Paul 027 555 1292 or 328 9952.

A Silly Poem
Said Hamlet to Ophelia, I'll draw a sketch of really give one a

That lets in the

I must go down to

I left my shoes

I wonder if they

Community Garden

Helpers Heading to Lyttelton

It's time to kick up our heels and inject some fun into the community with the 20th celebration of Christchurch City Council's annual winter school holiday festival.

2011 TV2KidsFest is taking place between 16 and 30 July with heaps of events in Christchurch, Banks Peninsula, Selwyn and Waimakariri districts. Each year around 75,000 participants take part, and this year we've got even more reason to showcase our community spirit and why TV2KidsFest has become New Zealand's biggest annual children's festival.

Celebrate the official opening of the festival at the 'Light and Flight' Breeze Lantern Parade with entertainment for the whole family.

The Press Dogs Day Out ensures even the four legged canine member of your family is not left out of the celebrations with a fun day for pet pooches.

Dust off your singing voice, fine tune your fancy footwork or show us your special talent in the Singapore Airline's Star Fest, a family based talent quest with three heats and a grand final.

Cool Stuff's Variety Show takes to the suburbs in community venues around Christchurch with clowns, magic, music and dance.

Bikes4Fun returns with whacky bikes for children of all ages to try their hand at riding.
