LYTTELTON HARBOUR

review creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake by local Real Estate Agent Lynnette Baird, and Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre Chairperson Wendy Everingham.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community. A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed by a couple of amateurs; or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Lynnette or Wendy would love to hear from you:

Banks Peninsula Festival of Walking

Begins this Saturday, 8 November

With a diverse programme of 44 walks spread over the peninsula, this year's Banks Peninsula Walking Festival offers excellent opportunities to explore and learn.

The Banks Peninsula Walking Festival is a unique, niche festival which offers intimate walks led by volunteer guides who have a personal connection to the peninsula and a great wealth of knowledge and experience. The festival has been extended this year to span four weekends, from Saturday 8 November to Sunday 30 November.

Several walks take place on private land or in areas not previously open to the public. Groups will be privileged to gain a sneak preview to the new Rod Donald Hut above Little River and to gain access to private land in Takamatua, Fisherman's Bay, Flea Bay and Onawe Pa.

Those with an interest in the local Antarctic connections can walk around Lyttelton and learn about many sites of interest. There are also walks for foragers, nature lovers, walks at dusk, a peek into backyards of Lyttelton, day-long tramps to Mount Herbert, Pa Bay, Hinewai and on the Head to Head Walkway, as well as the popular overnight camp at Quail Island.

There is also the very special opportunity for an overnight family camping trip to Quail Island on Saturday November 22. This is a once a year opportunity to take your family to the Island and camp overnight. Cost is just a ferry ticket to the Island.

The festival programme is available at your local library, or online from www.lyttelton.net.nz. Bookings are essential for all walks as places are limited and do book out quickly. Phone 03 328 9093 to book.

The festival is a collaborative effort involving Project Lyttelton, The Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust, Akaroa District Promotions and The Little River Wairewa Community Trust with funding from the Canterbury Community Trust and the Christchurch City Council.

Demolition of Lyttelton Service Centre

Full Scale Works to Begin in November

Christchurch City Council will begin installing additional propping on the earthquake damaged Lyttelton Service Centre building in London Street on Monday 6 October ahead of demolition beginning later in the month.

The propping, which is expected to take a week to install, is being put in place to allow contractors to begin the complex task of partially demolishing the service centre and building a new retaining wall to replace the damaged one that is currently on the site. After the retaining wall is completed, the demolition of the building will continue and is expected to take 15 weeks.

Due to the condition of the building, the demolition will mainly be carried out using a 'cut and crane' method which, given the closeness of the neighbouring buildings, will help to ensure the safety of the contractors and the general public. This means a crane will be situated behind Lyttelton Library while the demolition is underway.

Council Community Facilities Rebuild Unit Manager Darren Moses says fencing will remain around the site while the work is in progress. The footpath outside the building will also be closed while the work is underway. It is expected it will re-open at the end of November. Pedestrian access to neighbouring businesses and the library next door will not be affected while the demolition is occurring.

"We'll be making every effort to ensure the public and our neighbours are as inconvenienced as little as possible while the demolition is underway. We realise the building has been an eyesore for quite some time so we're pleased that work is getting underway."

A Land Rover and a number of boats are parked underneath the ramp to the service centre. Although contractors will take care while demolition is underway, the owners are encouraged to move the vehicles if possible.

The service centre is being demolished because it has been deemed uneconomic to repair. The Council is investigating options for incorporating a customer desk into the library. A combined library and service centre operation was a key action in the Council's Lyttelton Master Plan, which was developed after community consultation.

Lyttelton Museum

Update on Progress to Rebuild

Although the Lyttelton Museum building was destroyed in the February 2011 earthquake, the extensive collection survived and is presently in safe, temporary storage at the Canterbury Cultural Collections Recovery Centre, Air Force Museum of New Zealand. In the meantime, volunteers are working towards a new home for the Museum.

Have you seen the great postcards recently put out by the museum? The Museum Committee are actively seeking the support of locals, as they aim to have a new museum built.

Currently even without a building they are very happy to accept new donations for future displays.

They are also seeking financial members. For $10 you can find out what is happening and get a chance to help them behind the scenes.

During October, the Lyttelton Museum hosted an exhibition at Grubb Cottage. Lining the fence are a series of panels that depict significant events/ happenings in Lyttelton. You can pop into the grounds at any time to take a look.

If you would like to help them in any way you can email at lytteltonmuseum@gmail.com.

Grubb Cottage

Special Celebration of History

Saturday October 18 was a special day for the Grubb Cottage Heritage Trust and the Lyttelton Historical Museum.

The two organisations have partnered to present an exhibition "At Home with the Grubbs" to coincide with Beca Heritage Week. To begin proceedings the gathered audience heard from Museum representative Peter Rough and Grubb Cottage Chair Michael William's. Both thanked their teams and associates who helped design, create and install the exhibition.

Peter told the delightful story of the placement of one of the exhibition cases inside the house. During the restoration some coins were found in the exact location of the case. The case was placed in this location to mark the significance of the discovery.

A second display was also unveiled. A Museum project, a series of panels depicting significant Lyttelton events. Called the Lyttelton timeline panels these are placed on the fence line of Grubb cottage. These are available for general viewing each day. Key museum people helped unveil the panels. The opening was followed by a traditional morning tea with delicious old time cakes and drinks.

Red Cross Updates Civil Defence

Harbour Wide Civil Defence Teams Connect

All the Civil Defence teams from around the Harbour met in Diamond Harbour recently for an up date from the Red Cross outreach team.

The teams were sharing general information on the recovery process and thought it would be useful to pass on some of the ideas to residents. In particular, from Red Cross sponsored psychologist, Dr Rob Gordon, here are some useful tips for coping with the on-going challenges that some of us are still facing in Canterbury.

- A fast recovery is not necessarily a good recovery. Pace yourself and focus on things that give your life value and meaning. For example, relationships, family, recreational activities, your health or your career.
- Take time to assess your energy levels. If you are feeling tired or stressed consider ways you can recharge your battery. Maybe you could get away for a weekend or take a walk, listen to music, or talk to friends – you decide how best to take care of yourself.
- Ensure you maintain control of your own recovery by identifying, and focusing, on the things you can control. It's okay to acknowledge things beyond your control but try not to focus on them.
- Ask yourself: "What am I not doing that I used to do? How do I maintain the quality of my life during this long and, at times, difficult recovery period?"
- Maintain your established daily or weekly routines or, if necessary, create temporary ones during the recovery period. Established routines protect us from uncertainty and constant change.
- Deal with small problems before they become bigger. Don't let things slip, or postpone them till after it is all 'back to normal'. Recovery means finding a new normal and it needs to include what is valuable and important to you.

Tin Palace's New Curator

Changes Happening at the Tin Palace

In just over a year the Tin Palace has welcomed over 4000 visitors, through a strong and varied exhibition program featuring over 100 artists! And today the Harbour Arts Collective is delighted to welcome Holly Cunningham in the role of the Tin Palace's new curator.

Holly is taking over from Anne Mortimer who has very successfully helped to establish the Tin Palace Art Space to what it is today: a vibrant platform for local and national artists to show their works but also and foremost a place for people within the harbour basin to engage in the arts.

Holly has been a Collective member for fourteen months and has worked on the curatorial panel to help select work for the exhibitions as well as working alongside Anne organizing 'Horomaka', our most visited exhibition showcasing Ngai Tahu artists connected to the five marae on Bank Peninsula. Holly's background is in Museums Studies and she gained experience working as the curator at the Aigantighe Art Museum in Timaru and in public programming at the Air Force Museum of New Zealand.

Thanks to Anne's strong administrative and people skills the Tin Palace has grown into a very well and consistently run Art Space where artists and visitors alike feel very welcomed and inspired. The Tin Palace wishes to thank Anne for her passionate commitment in helping to get this 'project' off the ground and wish her all the best for her future adventures.

Lyttelton Area Update

Councillor Turner: Monthly Update

Things are always busy at the City Council. This month we catch up with Councillor Turner to see what's going across his desk.

In Lyttelton most of the facility rebuilds are all on track. Albion Square will be finished at the end of October, and there will be a special opening on Saturday 8 November. The Recreation Centre is also heading to re-opening in the first quarter of 2015. Another good piece of news is Boyd Cottages will be re-opened before Christmas. There will be a small celebration to mark this. Unfortunately the pool reopening has been put back by a couple of weeks due to the ground conditions, however the expectation is that the pool will still open this Summer, but in January rather than December. "I had always hoped we would make the target date of 22 December, but I knew that this was an ambitious target as this is a large rebuild project and there were always a number of unknown factors, the state of the ground under the pool being one of these" said Andrew.

Over in Governors Bay there is more good news. Funding for the rebuild of the Community Centre is approved in its former location. Likewise in Diamond Harbour the repairs of Stoddart Cottage are also approved. Shortly an expression of interest will be released.

In London Street the former Council Service Centre is getting ready for demolition. Apart from the retaining wall that holds up the street no other work will be completed excepting demolition of the building. At this stage there are no plans for the site. There are discussions about relocating the Service Centre to the Library and Community Board meeting room to a variety of locations. Under consideration is the library including its basement, the Recreation Centre and number 25 Canterbury Street.

The District Plan Review created lots of conversations. Andrew was pleasantly surprised how many people contacted him to get help with submissions. Topics of concern included natural hazards, usage of London Street and Albion square, building heights and the port zone. All submissions will be made public by October 22. If you have written a submission you are then given the opportunity to make a counter submission if you want to provide further information on the topic you have commented on. You have until November 8 to submit. Andrew is happy to help with any queries you have. This time round the process is being driven by an Order in Council as a result of the earthquakes. Commissioners led by Sir John Hanson will hear all the submissions rather than the Environment Court. This means the entire process will conclude within two and a half years and your only right of appeal will be direct to the High Court.

Coming close on the heels of the District Plan Review is the Long Term Plan. Council is currently having a conversation with residents about how they can make smart choices for the city. "If you haven't seen the booklet 'Our City, Our Future' go on line at yourvoice.ccc.govt.nz or visit a Council service centre or library. Council is actively seeking your opinions on how it can spend its scarce resources" said Andrew. This booklet shows in simple language what the council is committed to regarding the cost sharing agreement with the Crown. Your feedback is accepted until October 31. These ideas will flow through into the council's Long term Plan. There will be a formal consultation process for this March to April 2015.

Along side this work the Councillors are really trying to come to terms with how money is actually spent at the council. A team of them are going through all budgeted line items line by line. They are trying to make across the board savings of 2% over the next three years. This is happening because if spending continues at the same levels, by 2017 the council will have reached its debt level ceiling. Council wants your opinion on where money could be saved.

At the same time the council's committee system has been revamped. This means Andrew has another role to attend to. Andrew is now the Chair of the Community, Social Housing and Economic Development Committee. Committees have all been streamlined. Now the Mayor is the Chair of the Strategy and Finance Committee, David East Chair of Regulations and Consents and Phil Clearwater the Chair of Environment, Infrastructure and Transport. All the other Councillors head up sub committees that report to the main committee.

As an example, there is an Events working group that will report directly to Andrew. Andrew believes the new changes to the committee system will see decisions being made more holistically and this will mean more joined up thinking. He cited in his committee alone the visitor strategy could be much broader looking at economic development issues, as well as the visitor centre, Christchurch and Canterbury Tourism the Port Company etc.

Andrew is particularly excited when talking about the prospect of innovative community involvement within the council. He always refers to how things are done on the Peninsula. "For example in Little Akaloa the hall needs repairs. The locals just step up and do it. Small places have such a lot for the city to learn from" he said. Andrew can cite example after example, and he hopes that he can influence lots of community led innovation as the council seeks to do things differently. Andrew sees Peninsula ideas as a catalyst for even better things in the city.

Gosh, the month has disappeared quickly!

The Dominion Monarch

Lyttelton Life Remembered: 1940s

The date is Sunday 3 September 1939 at Port Lyttelton. An ordinary Sunday except for the arrival of the passenger ship Dominion Monarch.

It was then the largest ship to berth at Lyttelton. Strangely too it was the day that Britain declared war with Germany. Berthed at Gladstone Pier it remained for several days.

As a small lad I remember being taken aboard by my dad, and was shown over the entire ship. To a small child everything was so massively large the dining room alone was the size of a theatre.

Imagine having ice cream and fruit salad with the captain at his table! The children's play room was almost as large as a football field. It was equipped with everything from rocking horses to a paddling pool [inside!].

A small lad could easily get lost so many places to go and so many things to have a look at. On the bridge there was so much brass everywhere, and of course a favourite the cupboard with the signal flags. Communications were in a separate radio room near the bridge. There the chief radio officer demonstrated the radios and teleprinters and we sent a test message by morse code, known as [CW or Continuous Waveform].

We listened in ore to the BBC broadcasting direct from Bush House in London.

The engine room was something to be seen. The massive engines, pumps, valves, generators, and control equipment made the chief engineer seem very tiny indeed along side all the machinery.

After a long walk through corridors and up and down stairways to arrive several floors below the main deck level are the kitchens, and food stores. Stainless steel and so much equipment to assist in preparing meals, and the stores where food is kept it looked like a huge market place in a city.

The passenger accommodation areas reminded one of a huge hotel, so many well appointed cabins, and state rooms.

Communications for passengers was through the ships own telephone exchange, and teleprinter through the radio room.

Lastly we were shown inside one of Monarch's two funnels. Plenty of space here to hide away and play games!

After an exciting afternoon on board Dominion Monarch we walked down the gangway to the wharf below.

It was an experience I have never forgotten.

Note: In 1939 ships did not have computers or satellite links and the like. That was something that came many years later.

Distant Quakes No Rock Fall Risk

Results from Research into Frequency of Rock Falls in Christchurch

On 3 October 2014 an article appeared in the Press and on the Stuff webpage <http://www.stuff.co.nz/national/10574099/Alpine-Fault-unlikely-to-trigger-Port-Hills-rockfall> describing results of research by University of Canterbury geologists Dr Ben Mackey and Dr Mark Quigley about dating the last substantial rock fall at Rapaki that preceded the rock fall of the 2011 earthquake.

The research indicated an age of approximately 7000 years, and the results indicated that that only near fault large earthquakes were likely to trigger major rock fall. This excluded earthquakes generated on the Alpine fault as likely sources of rock fall in Christchurch. Quigley pointed out that the Alpine Fault could have ruptured about twenty times during the 7000-year period, none of which caused major rock fall at the Rapaki site.

The research was published in the scientific journal Geology; the full reference is: Benjamin H. Mackey and Mark C. Quigley, Strong proximal earthquakes revealed by cosmogenic <sup>3</sup>He dating of prehistoric rock falls, Christchurch, New Zealand. Geology, November 2014, v. 42; no. 11, p. 1–4; Data Repository item 2014345 | doi:10.1130/G36149.1 © 2014 Geological Society of America

A link to a .pdf of the paper was provided to the Lyttelton Review by the Christchurch City Council http://www.drquigs.com/wp-content/uploads/2014/10/G36149.1.full\_.pdf

The message included the covering comments from Philipa Hay: "Please read, circulate and reference this research in all rock fall related submissions. The research by Mark Quigley shows that rock fall risk is a once in 7,000 year event. He has given explicit permission for this paper to be referenced (when I met him today)." And from Helen Shanks: "Apologies that this email will be too late for people to consider in their submissions to the District Plan Review, but it may be useful if you are speaking to your submission."

Governors Bay Waste Water

Annual Meeting Wednesday 12 November

The wastewater scheme for Governors Bay was installed in 1989 following an Act of Parliament requiring a public wastewater scheme to be constructed.

This resulted from health concerns over the number of failing septic tanks and because the hillsides of the bay were unable to adequately filter the effluent. The scheme serves the immediate Governors Bay community of around 750 residents that live along Main Road to approximately 350m short of Church Lane. The treatment plant is located approximately 400 metres south of the Governors Bay wharf, above the foreshore track.

Treatment

The resident's sewage receives primary and secondary treatment within the plant followed by ultra-violet disinfection, before being discharged through an outfall pipeline into the harbour. Sludge is regularly removed and transported to the Christchurch Wastewater Treatment Plant.

The Consent

The main resource consent for discharge to the harbour (CRC101760) expires in 2018. Council has a programme of work that will be completed in 2022, that will see this plant decommissioned, with all of the Lyttelton Harbour raw wastewater being pumped directly to the Christchurch Wastewater Treatment Plant. The Governors Bay plant is likely to be the first to be closed, in 2018. A consent application for the continued running of the existing plant has been granted.

Consent monitoring

Resource consent CRC101760 sets out requirements for monitoring treated wastewater and the area receiving the discharge (receiving environment). Samples are taken and analysed on a regular basis. The volume of wastewater leaving the plant is recorded continuously. Together these provide an indication of how the plant is performing and whether there are any potential adverse effects of the discharge on human health or the environment.

Environment Canterbury resource consents CRC101760 and CRC101835 - to discharge contaminants into water (in relation to the operation of the Governors Bay and Diamond Harbour wastewater treatment plants) require the consent holder, Christchurch City Council, to send copies of the annual report and the implementation plan progress report to interested parties, and to hold an annual public meeting to discuss these items.

The annual reports were circulated by email on Monday 1st September 2014 and a copy of the implementation plan update circulated on Wednesday 3 September 2014. The implementation plan update indicated that due to financial constraints the projects were under review. We can now confirm that these projects are continuing on schedule as planned.

We would like to invite you to an annual meeting as per the details below. Tea and coffee will be provided.

Date: Wednesday 12 November
Time: 6.00pm to 8.00pm
Venue: Governors Bay Hotel

Attention Lyttelton Caregivers

Lyttelton Playgroup Opportunity

As many of you may know, Lyttelton playgroup, a once thriving and vibrant group, has been struggling with lose of numbers and venue issues over the last couple of years.

We would love to see this group thrive again and be available to new and existing families in the Lyttelton Harbour area, however with venue issues upon us again we are struggling to make this possible. This week though, we were presented with a very exciting new opportunity which we wanted to share with you. We met with Kidsfirst to discuss the idea of having playgroup at Kidsfirst. It has been implemented at other Kidsfirst kindergartens with really positive outcomes. It would become part of what they call 'Whanau Time' and would run during their hours integrating play and socialising with the older kids with all resources available to the playgroup children (consideration would be taken on playgroup days to have appropriate resources put out, such as no marbles).

Due to restrictions on numbers it would need to be during their afternoon session when numbers are lower of kindergarten children - 12.30pm to 2.30pm. Understandably, this is a tricky time for many children with napping, however as a drop in session you would stay as long as it suited you. It would be administered by the kindergarten with your only responsibility to turn up and look after your own child, or children. There would be no cost and open to all caregivers, regardless of whether you had children at kindergarten.

As we need to get back to Kidsfirst ASAP to get the ball rolling if we choose to take this path, please can we have any thoughts or comments from you by Thursday, November 6. Alternatively, drop in to Playgroup on Wednesday, Union Parish Church on Winchester St, and have a chat with us or phone us. ## Governors Bay Swimming Pool

Volunteers Needed to Keep Pool Open

The Governors Bay swimming pool has been a much loved facility and has been run entirely by community people. We would like to thank all those people who have helped over the years to maintain, clean, and run the pool, especially Nick Preston, who has worked hard behind the scenes to ensure the pool is open.

Recently our operating set-up has changed. Due to earthquake damage the Council have taken over ownership of the pool and the carrying out of all related repairs. They have installed a new main filter and pump, and a small separate pump and filter for the baby pool as this did not meet code. Council have set the pool up for us to open, but the community stills need to operate it on a day to day basis, including supplying locks, keys, power, chemicals and daily pool checks.

We will need volunteers to help run the pool; this consists of one week of pool water quality checks, vacuuming the pool (only once in the week) and general housekeeping. All training and help will be given to volunteers. If we don't get enough volunteers we will have to shut the pool some weeks, as this is one of our requirements by Council. Due to popular support we plan to install some heating for the pool. We have obtained a heat pump from Sumner community pool and are looking to install it in the next few weeks.

Because the season will be longer and because of increased operating costs a pool key will be $70, still the cheapest pool key around. These can be purchased on opening day from the pool or from the pub after opening.

For volunteering or any information contact Karen Bellamy 3299 005, Karen.tim@xtra.co.nz, or Jilt Van Keulen 3299 029 jilt.vankeulen@gmail.com.

Albion Square, Lyttelton, Progress Report, No 8 Dated 10th October 2014

Preamble & Project objectives

Purpose of this document is to provide an update on the Redevelopment of the public square at 44 London Street, Lyttelton.

The Lyttelton/Mt Herbert Community Board, the local community and the Christchurch City Council are working together to develop a civic square in Lyttelton. The provision of a new civic square is one of the key actions (N1, p59) in the Lyttelton Master Plan.

Progress

We are on the home straight!

HEB and their sub contractors are currently focusing on the upper terrace works particular around on and around the cenotaph footpaths and plinth.

The cenotaph replacement granite plaque is currently being sourced (to match existing) and it is anticipated that this will be installed after the planned opening of the square. After months behind the scaffolding, it is great to see the war memorial standing tall once more.

Lower terrace paving essentially complete and London Street footpath remediation schedule to commence after Monday 13th October once the site huts are removed.

The prefabricated toilet block is now in position and final testing of connections etc underway.

Water feature in position and functioning. Mosaic chair and Mandela now placed on site, see photos below.

The village bell (bronze cast) repairs currently on hold as the existing hair line fractures has 'opened up' and the construction team is seeking advise from a specialist.

While the Waharoa timbers are still en route to Lyttelton, the process of completing the two adjacent plinths is underway (redrock cladding). The expectation is the reinforcing rods will be temporarily protected, redrock completed and installation of the carved Waharoa due on site mid to late January 2015, consistent with pervious advise.

With regards to formal opening ceremonies, the organising committee is currently working towards the 8th November 2014 date. The next level of detail is currently being worked through.

Anticipated contract completion date on schedule for late October 2014

Standing proud & tall under early summers sun

Looking good, how about that sign?

We have the technology..... thanks HEB for this cool shot (taken 5th September)

HARBOUR STORIES

Lyttelton Museum needs you!

We're working towards a new museum, but we need your support.

Although our building was destroyed, the Lyttelton Museum collection survived the 20 10-11 earthquakes and is in safe, temporary storage at the Canterbury Cultural Collections Recovery Centre, Air Force Museum of New Zealand while we work towards a new home for the Museum.

There are many ways in which you can help us rebuild. While we don't yet have a building, we can still accept donations of historic or important items related to Lyttelton and the harbour basin, which will be essential for our future displays.

For just $10 per year you can become a member. As well as helping our finances, you will receive our newsletters and the chance to get involved behind the scenes with our projects.

And keep an eye out for our pop-up exhibitions – which have included At Home with the Grubbs and Service and Sacrifice, and check out the new Lyttelton timeline panels in the grounds of Grubb Cottage, 62 London Street, Lyttelton, open Saturdays 10 am-12pm.

You can pick up a lovely free Lyttelton Museum postcard from the shops and cafes around Lyttelton.

Tin Palace November Exhibition "Silversmith's Guild of Canterbury "

Opening Thursday 6 November, Silversmith's Guild was formed in the early 1980s by a group of enthusiastic people who had the common interest of working with both precious and semi-precious metals. They survived the Christchurch Quakes (with a lot of hard work from some wonderful members) and are now enjoying new life in their new home at The Tannery in Woolston. The annual exhibition provides an opportunity for members to showcase their work and for people to start their Christmas gift shopping .

Exhibition open from 6 November to 16 November. Thursday, Friday 12noon to 4.00pm and Saturday, Sunday 10.00am to 4.00pm. 13a Oxford Street, Lyttelton.
