A Big Day for ....

Lyttelton Primary

The last day of term was a really big day for the school community. It officially marked the end of an era at the Lyttelton West site. The entire school gathered for a farewell with parents, teachers and invited guests. The school then began a symbolic hikoi. Dressed in their orange jackets the students wove their way through Lyttelton streets to the other temporary campus at the former St Joseph's site in Winchester St. Another farewell was made and then they all streamed to the Grassy site part of the playground for their new home back in Oxford Street.

Joined by some of the construction team the pupils got a great glimpse of the new school that they will return to in two weeks' time. It's been a long journey but Lyttelton Primary is just about ready to begin a new journey in the third purpose built school on the former Lyttelton Main site.

Review Creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Lyttelton Recollections My First Day of School

The year was 1950, month August and I was off to school for my first day. I was five years old. From our family home at the top of Brenchley Road (known as Brenchley Farm) my dad drove me down the hill in his little Ford truck to Lyttelton Main School.

I was OK until my father went to leave me in a class of strangers and with a teacher called Miss Alabasta. I can remember gripping hold of dad's trouser leg and crying so hard.

Eventually the day passed but my dad stayed with me all day to settle me. The other children loved having him in the class.

My shyness stayed with me all through primary school years but my dad didn't give in to my crying again.

The teachers at Lyttelton Main travelled from Christchurch by train every day except for Miss Tikao who lived at Rapaki.

The milkman arrived at the school every day at 10am and all the pupils received a bottle of milk. The lid on the bottle was made of cardboard with a round hole in the middle. Lots of us girls made Pom Poms by threading wool through the holes and then cutting around the edge.

There were two significant stories that I remember being told when I young. One was the murder of a young eleven year old girl in Lyttelton on January 9th 1875. Lyttelton was stunned by the news. Isabella Thompson, a pupil at the Lyttelton Borough School was murdered and concealed beneath a hedge on the corner of Ripon and Oxford Streets. Two young boys found her. A seaman named Mercer was found guilty and hung in the Lyttelton Gaol on May 8th 1875.

The second story dated to June 17th 1929. The school was shaken by the Murchison earthquake on the West Coast. Large pieces of plaster fell from the ceilings and cracks appeared in the walls. A teacher looked out the windows to see a large area of Quail Island cliffs slipping into the sea. The quake measured 7.8 magnitude. Nobody was killed but fifteen people were injured in Murchison.

Councilor Turner Will Stand Again

Banks Peninsula Ward Remains

The results of the Local Government Representation Review were announced last week. For this community and greater Christchurch, the outcome is positive. An immediate result for our community is that Andrew Turner will stand for election again as our councilor.

"I'm really happy with the outcome. Each ward will now have one councilor, the urban community boards remain and we will have one community board for the Peninsula. I believe this will improve the relationship between the people and their elected representatives and mean greater accountability all round," he said.

Banks Peninsula will remain as a separate ward with one councilor and a Community Board. Whilst a smaller number of people reside in the ward compared to the city wards there was clear support both from rural and urban residents that this reflected community wishes.

For Banks Peninsula Ward this will mean a drop from two Community Boards to one. "I think this will work well. Quite a bit of duplication will be eliminated. Rather than staff having to brief two boards with the same information it will only require one briefing. It will also draw Peninsula communities closer together as they will work side by side now" Andrew said.

In terms of actual political representation not too much has changed. Under the current Community Board system there are five Community Board Members per Board. With the new board this will change to 7 people. There will be two people elected from the Lyttelton subdivision, two from Mt Herbert, two from Akaroa and one from Wairewa.

"The only disappointment from my point of view is that now only one person will represent the Birdlings Flat and Little River communities," he said. Andrew highlighted that with eight people there would have been more balance around the table and equal opportunity for all communities. This wasn't the case now.

Now that the electorate is aware of the structure it has also enabled all existing Community Board members to think about what their future will be.

Paula Smith the current Chair of the Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board indicated some time ago that she was going to retire.

Adran Te Patu had also signaled he would retire having moved north to Whanganui

Ann Jolliffe said she had made no definite decision. "I'm not entirely sure at the moment and will leave my decision until I have further information on how the new board will operate".

Dennis Aldridge is not going to re-stand. "I'm not going to be based in the harbour for most of next year as I'll be taking a year away from Living Springs. I've enjoyed my short involvement and it's been a great learning curve but I'm wanting to do something else" he said

Christine Wilson said "I'm trending towards re-standing but would also like greater clarity on how the new Board will operate before I make my final decision" she said.

As mentioned by existing Community Board members the only uncertainty now is how the new Board will work. Andrew said if re-elected he'd like to see the use of more IT so that both staff, elected representatives and the wider community won't have to travel too far or too often. Currently better IT is being trialed in Little River.

"There may also be new committees of the Community Board formed and coupled with the idea of devolving more responsibility down to the boards the Board may be quite different to what we have been used to in the past. I'd like to see Boards moving towards having their own budgets" he said.

That idea is also floating down to the Reserve Management Committees. Quite a lot of thought is going into what tasks the Council can devolve to the Boards and the committees below them. He indicated that all of that will be clear before the new council cycle begins in November. A delegations review is currently under way.

What is clear is there will be opportunities for new people to get involved with the Community Board with many existing representatives not standing for election again. If you are keen to explore this idea Andrew would be very happy to chat with you.

Of immediate importance is a reminder that the Long Term Council Plan is in the process of being consulted. Lyttelton residents are invited to a meeting on May 2nd to share their ideas and ask questions.

This is Your Back Yard Opportunities to Get Involved

Lyttelton is extremely lucky to have a very active community who are always seeking ways to engage with our surrounds. Thanks to the foresight of a large group of residents under the leadership of the late Gary Broker, the former Banks Peninsula District Council secured Urumau and Whaka Raupo Reserves for our community.

What an amazing legacy this is for us all, 113 hectares of land for the enjoyment of our immediate community and wider citizenry! What is even more amazing is the land is managed locally from within our community. The Lyttelton Reserves Management Committee, a subcommittee of the Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board, is tasked with the daily operations and management of this great asset. The committee comprises publically-elected local residents. The current members are Richard Hopkins, Brian Downey, Daryl Warnock, Helen Greenfield, Brian Dougan, John King, Wendy Everingham and Geoff Knight.

Our committee members are very passionate about the opportunities this presents. For some it's the first opportunity to get up close to nature for others it's just an extension of their love of the outdoors and what that entails. Committee members are involved for a variety of reasons. Ultimately, we are trying to recreate an amazing temperate rainforest and grassland as a back drop to Lyttelton and the harbour.

Community input over the years has guided the development of the reserves. That means the committee are still working to those long term plans today. Whilst Whaka Raupo Reserve is a natural regenerating reserve managed similarly to Hinewi Reserve most of the community based work is focused on Urumau Reserve above Gilmour and Foster Terrace on the eastern side of the township.

Over the next few months there are several ways that you can become involved with our community land depending on your interests. The Management Committee has a series of sub committees – planting, weeding, tracks and maintenance. It is through these teams that opportunities for your involvement are created.

The Planting Team has an autumn/winter work programme. The first task relates to the community planting from 2015. The new planting needs protection from the frost. On Sunday May 1st 10-12pm you are invited to help spread mulch to protect the plants from the cold.

From May until September every second Sunday of the month between 10-12pm we'll be having small planting opportunities. Learn how to dig a plant ledge and thin broom and gorse for planting. Then plant a carefully selected locally-grown native plant to add to the forest cover that is being developed.

To ensure the new plants do well, a second team helps to control weeds. They meet on the last Sunday of the month from 1-3pm. They are looking to control Old Man's Beard, Hawthorn, Sycamore and Boneseed that might compromise the new planting areas.

High above on the reserve near where the 4wd track meets LPC land a team of track builders have been working for many months creating mountain bike tracks through the pine trees. They have been digging these tracks by hand. They meet most Sunday afternoons 2-4pm.

The Committee welcomes your participation. Basic tools are provided. If the weather is bad the workshop is postponed till the next scheduled date. For more information you can contact lytteltonreserves@hotmail.co.nz or call the Information Centre 328 9093. If you are a Timebank member time credits apply.

PS If you would like to help but working on the ground isn't your thing, we are having a fund raising morning at the Garage Sale on Saturday April 30th. Come along with your donations and wallets and support the planting effort for 2016.

What an Amazing Fundraiser.

Every year when we tally up the worksheet to see how amazing the Garage Sale is for this community we get a very pleasant surprise. From January to December 2015 an amazing sum of $53,230.80 was made from your wonderful donations. Thank you Lyttelton Harbour residents. Thank you also Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board. Without your support to relocate to 25 Canterbury Street this result would not have been possible.

Project Lyttelton $37,997.85.

This money was used to support various projects that our group runs. The Garage Sale team raised $31,223.20. of which $25,000 was applied to wages and operating costs. The remainder of the funds were invested in the refurbishment of 54a Oxford St, our new home.

Tony Bond – Plunge

Latest Exhibition 50 Works Gallery

Bomorphie 'Cr-formunculae' playfully traverse the walls of Lyttelton's 50 Works Gallery in an exhibition by Christchurch artist Tony Bond.

These organic sculptures hint at possible lifeforms – humorously imagined, strangely familiar, but not of this world. Gallery Director, Ronnie Kelly says, "Tony Bond's work presents objects that attract and repel, sooth and alarm – their sensual forms are deliberately ambiguous, inviting the viewer to speculate about their origin and purpose.

"Some people may view these works as suggestive, others see abstracted representations of birds, animals or body parts. Cleverly, what these works do is elicit from each of us the point when an abstract shape becomes familiar and sometimes unsettling," says Mr Kelly.

Other works in the exhibition include a large-scale drawing – a prelude to the 'Cr-formunculae', and a large stainless steel sculpture.

Tony Bond has exhibited throughout New Zealand and internationally since the early 1990's. Solo exhibitions include 'Clutch' at Bath Street Gallery in 2013, 'Nudge' at The National in 2012, 'Squeeze' at The Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetu in 2004 - 2005 and 'Push' at the Centre of Contemporary Art, Christchurch in 2001.

He has shown in numerous selected group exhibitions, including 'Burster Flipper Wobbler Dropper Spinner

Stacker Shaker Maker' at the Christchurch Art Gallery in 2014, Headland Sculpture on the Gulf in 2015, 2009 and 2007, The New Alchemists in 2004 and was one of three New Zealand artists selected to exhibit in the Taiwan International Ceramics Biennale in 2010.

His work is in various public and private collections including Te Papa, The Christchurch Art Gallery, The Auckland Museum, The Wallace Collection, Canterbury University, The New Zealand Embassy in the Cook Islands, the Christchurch and Wanganui Polytechnics and The Waikato Museum.

Bond's art practice involves the use a wide variety of materials and processes. His sculptural works have brought him several awards, including The National Award for Artworks in Reclaimed Materials in 2004, the Portage Ceramic Award in 2000 and Cleveland Art Award in 1998 and 1997.

Exhibiting from 15 April until 15 May 2016, 50 London Street, Lyttelton

Emerging Talent

Tarryn Wilson at Lytel Gallery

Tarryn Wilson is the latest exhibitor at the Lyttelton Gallery. At fifteen years old she has great talent.

"Art is where my passion lies"<sup>1</sup> she says. In her spare time she is often drawing at her desk, painting and mulling over new creative and artistic concepts.

Much of her work is based around the structural definition of the human face. Each artwork has an underlying meaning that only viewers who take time to interpret may understand.

Into the future she plans to expand her artistic knowledge and ability by taking art classes at Mairehau High School. Her driving force at this stage is the encouragement she is receiving from her art teacher, sister and grandmother who is an artist.

Later in the year her work is also going to be exhibited at several other exhibitions. Keep an eye out for this talented youngster.

Buddy is the star of the show at 'The League of Super Artists' Exhibition at Oxford Street Art

'Buddy' is a limited edition print by popular local artist Julie Sheppard of one of her cats. Four of the seven prints of this limited edition sold in the first week of the exhibition. One buyer, having missed the opening night was at the gallery soon after 10 am the next day to ensure a copy of 'Buddy' was secured for the wall of her Lyttelton home. The companion print of 'Bobby', Julie's other cat, is also getting admirers. Come and see both at Oxford Street Art until 1 May 2016.

The opening night of the exhibition was enjoyed by over 70 people who imbibed on various cocktails and snacks. Our local councillor, Andrew Turner, had to miss the opening night due to prior commitments (opening the Gaiety Theatre in Akaroa) but came in during the week to admire the show and wish us well. He hopes to be here on May 6th for the opening of our next exhibition 'Simulacrum'-a contemporary view of portraiture and the human figure.

We have had a lot of interest from local artists for 'Simulacrum' including Meredith Marsone, a Lyttelton artist who is submitting her portrait of the poet Ben Brown. We may have the pleasure of Ben reciting one of his poems on the opening night (watch this space!).

Kees Bruin who is a well known artist resident in Sumner will also be showing some limited edition works. Submissions for this exhibition are welcomed up to April 20th. For details and a submission form please go our website www.oxfordstreetart.co.nz or call Madhu on 0274298505.

Don't forget to put the date of the opening night party in your diary - May 6th 5.30pm.

Meanwhile come and see 'Buddy' and 'Bobby', and some other amazing art before the exhibition closes on 1st May. The exhibition catalogue is available on line at www.oxfordstreetart.co.nz.

We are open Wednesday to Sunday 11.00 to 5pm. We open earlier on Saturday for people going to Lyttelton Farmer's market and later until 7pm on Fridays when we offer a glass of wine while you relax and view the exhibition. We look forward to seeing you soon.

Lyttelton Harbour Festival of Lights

Light • Creativity • Celebration

17- 24 June 2016

A week long festival of light, creativity and celebration.

LIGHT

It's about light and all the wonder and excitement that that brings.

CREATE

It's about bringing a community together to create, fostering local performing and creative arts.

CELEBRATE

We invite the communities of Lyttelton Harbour and Christchurch to come and celebrate the magic of the harbour and its people.

Project Lyttelton's flagship event is taking shape once again for 2016. This year's Festival Coordinator is Claire Coates, Lyttelton local and co-manager of Project Lyttelton's hugely successful Garage Sale. She is supported by a fantastic advisory group comprised of the more experienced Festival of Lights faces from past years and some new, fresh faces.

This year we have seen the stepping aside of Lucette Hindin from the role of festival coordinator to focus on fundraising for the festival and as a support for Claire. Others on the advisory group include Project Lyttelton's Sue Ellen Sandilands and Anne Jaiswal, the Lyttelton Harbour Timebank Coordinator Jill Larking and Ros Dixon, coordinator of the Harbour Bazaar. Local musician and promoter Al Park continues with his role as entertainment programmer for the Street Party and local musician Kate Anastasia has also joined the advisory group bringing new ideas. Local musician Andy Scott and his partner Linda (or Angus) Goodwin have also joined the group with fresh ideas.

Last Tuesday night saw a good turnout of people to the 'Have your Say...' evening. There were some fantastic ideas and support for the Festival. If you would still like to be involved it is not too late. We would love to hear your ideas.

Would you like to:

- Play some music during the week of the festival or at the Street Party?
- Be a performer?
- Run an event during the week of the festival?

- Be in the street parade as a puppeteer or roving performer or character?
- Inspire others to be part of the parade or help others make costumes for the parade?

The Street Party will be held on Friday 24 June. The theme for this year's parade is FUTURISTIC. This is a fantastic event and a chance to let your creative juices flow. All members of the wider Lyttelton Harbour community young and old are encouraged to participate. All schools in Lyttelton Harbour will also be encouraged to get involved. The key is to start thinking now! There will be more information about the parade soon.

Scent.

By Jill McClelland.

You know how it is. Suddenly you smell something that brings back memories of a past event – the smell of candy floss at a fairground – the smell of frying onions by the sausage sizzle stand. Well, this particular day, I couldn't believe the scent that arose from the flower beds in the cemetery. I had gone to place some flowers on my parents' grave and all of a sudden there came this very strong aroma of violets. The flowers in the beds were roses and there was no accounting for the aroma that was surrounding me.

The last words that my mother spoke to me were that heaven was just like a garden of flowers and the song "Tip Toe through the Tulips" always brings moisture to my eyes.

Lately I have been having vivid dreams of my mother and this was definitely some message coming through.

At home I felt quite strange but after a strong cup of coffee settled slightly. Still the thought persisted that I should go to the garden shed and look through the old tool-box that had stood there for as long as I can remember. I had never looked in it before but the feeling was so intense that I just had to go. Lifting the lid was a hard task as years of debris had filed the hinges with grime. Imagine my surprise when under the rusty tools I saw a canvas bag lying right across the bottom of the chest. I carefully lifted it out and the contents were in surprisingly good repair. Firstly, a beautiful dress embroidered with violets around the sleeves and hem and then a pair of velvet shoes to match. Tiny pale purple gloves and stockings of sheer silk. What did this mean?

I had seen my mother's wedding photos and this wasn't her wedding dress and I had no idea to whom it may have belonged. On looking further I found an envelope full of newspaper clippings all about a young girl who died in suspicious circumstances. My parents never really discussed the past very much and hedged over things that I asked and now I understood. The dress must have belonged to my aunt who they told me had emigrated to New Zealand as a girl.

How I wished my mother had confided in me as to the real story of Violet – for that was her name – and I felt that yesterday at the cemetery she had been trying to tell me about it.

Scents are so personal and have such intimate and personal meanings for all of us. I can't explain this story – it just happened and I thought that I would share it with you.

Norwich Quay (SH74 Lyttelton) Pedestrian Safety Improvement Project

PROJECT UPDATE

APRIL 2016

A preferred option has been identified to improve pedestrian safety at the western end of Norwich Quay on State Highway 74 (SH74) in Lyttelton.

Last year, a working group made up of community representatives and partners to the Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan including Christchurch City Council, Environment Canterbury, the NZ Transport Agency and Lyttelton Port of Christchurch, was formed to investigate pedestrian safety options along this section of Norwich Quay, as an outcome of the Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan.

BACKGROUND

SH74 Norwich Quay is managed by the Transport Agency with Christchurch City Council responsible for bus stops and shelters in Lyttelton.

The Transport Agency investigated pedestrian improvements providing access linking the west end of Lyttelton and the Dampier Bay development with bus stops and the town centre. The aim was to improve pedestrian safety while maintaining road freight efficiency to and from the Port of Lyttelton. By working with community groups, running workshops and carrying out surveys, the Transport Agency explored three pedestrian crossing locations.

OPTION INVESTIGATION

These locations were at sites near the Lyttelton Tunnel roundabout, between Dublin Street and Sutton Quay, and between Sutton Quay and Canterbury Street. The roundabout option was discounted because of traffic queuing concerns at the Lyttelton Tunnel entrance, along with issues with truck operations and buses moving in and out of the nearby bus stop.

The remaining two options involved shifting the bus stop and shelter. Surveys were carried out to identify where people currently cross this section of Norwich Quay, what their perceptions are about safety, location and type of pedestrian facility options. Most of those surveyed preferred the crossing closer to Dublin Street, but said that they would use a pedestrian crossing to the east of Sutton Quay, if the bus stop and shelter were moved to this location.

Further investigations of traffic along Norwich Quay identified complex truck and bus movements that could create safety issues between the roundabout and Sutton Quay. This ruled out a crossing between Dublin Street and Sutton Quay.

THE PREFERRED OPTION

The preferred option is a signalised pedestrian crossing between Sutton Quay and Canterbury Street where the road is narrower and away from most complex traffic movements further west. This option that includes relocating the bus stop and shelter to this site, was favoured by pedestrians and bus users along Norwich Quay who were surveyed.

- » Nearly 90% of those surveyed said they would use this crossing location to access public transport, work and education facilities.
- » While many of those surveyed wanted a pedestrian crossing close to their particular walking routes, they agreed this location that included shifting the bus stop was a good choice.
- » Those surveyed felt it was an ideal location because it provided a safer option particularly for seniors and young people.

The preferred option caters for existing users as well as future pedestrian demand from the redevelopment of nearby Dampier Bay. The improved pedestrian facility will also benefit students walking to the new Lyttelton Primary School on the east side of the town.

Ten car parks will be lost in order to create the space needed for the new crossing and relocated bus stop and shelter, and to ensure good visibility for both motorists and crossing users. Plenty of alternative parking is available nearby.

THE 'SMART' PEDESTRIAN CROSSING WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

The preferred option would see the installation of a 'smart' signalised pedestrian crossing between Sutton Quay and Canterbury Street. These use radar sensor technology to identify pedestrians waiting and vehicles approaching. The signals then allocate green Cross Now/or Go time to ensure pedestrians are safe, while minimising disruption to truck movements on the highway. Minimising trucks stopping and starting also reduces emissions.

The new smart traffic signals are expected to be similar to these ones located on SH6 near Queenstown International Airport.

NEXT STEPS

Installing the new signals and relocating the bus stop requires several approvals.

Subject to these being granted, work could start in the third quarter of 2016 and see the signals operating by Christmas 2016.

The Transport Agency acknowledges the support of the working group and partners who have teamed-up to find a solution that provides a safer traffic environment for everyone. This project contributes to the actions identified in the Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan.

Work notice update: St Davids Street, Lyttelton, retaining wall repairs

What	Retaining wall repairs
Where	St Davids Street
When	Ongoing until August 2016

Progress to date:

Update:

Construction is now complete on walls 1 to 4. Remedial work to the road in front of each retaining wall will be completed in the coming weeks. When repairing the road in front of each wall the road will need to be closed. We will not close St Davids Street in more than one place at a time to allow residents vehicle access to their properties.

Wall 5 is due to start Monday 18 April and will take around three months to repair. Wall 5 is a king pile, timber retaining wall and will have a similar look to the retaining wall at 49 Jacksons Road. The road will be closed at 48 St Davids Street throughout this work to pedestrians and vehicles.

Our methods

What is a retaining wall?

A retaining wall is a structure used to hold sloping ground in place. Retaining walls are used where there is not enough space for a natural slope.

How do earthquakes affect retaining walls?

In an earthquake, the soil behind the wall moves horizontally back and forth. When the shaking stops, the wall stops moving at a different time from the soil behind it. Put simply, the soil and the wall act as separate elements. If the soil load gets too heavy for the wall, it may collapse.

Soil nails*

We call them soil nails, because we hammer them into the soil. We use steel reinforced bars and anchor them using plates.

1. A drill rig drills a hole into the soil behind the wall.

2. The soil nail is installed in the drilled hole and grouted.

3. After the grout cures, the soil nail's strength is tested.

A cantilever wall relies on a section of the wall being buried in the ground (the footing). This footing means that a cantilever wall requires less area. Its size is limited by the strength of the cantilever section and the amount of ground it is buried in.

Shotcrete

Once we install our soil nails, we'll cover the slope with shotcrete. Shotcrete is a mixture of cement, stones, and water applied to the wall using a spray gun. When used for retaining walls, shotcrete is usually sprayed over a framework of reinforcing bars and steel mesh.

Once the shotcrete is set, we then pour the fence of the new retaining wall.

Shotcrete being poured

History

Black Map of Lyttelton sourced from Wikipedia - http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lyttelton,\_New\_Zealand

Much of Lyttelton's historic infrastructure, including red rock retaining walls, was built using convict labour between the 1860s and 1930s. The workers would have included convicts from the Lyttelton Gaol.

SCIRT is repairing more than 100 earthquake damaged, publicly-owned retaining walls in Lyttelton. These walls have an essential function; be it supporting and protecting private properties, roads and footpaths, or protecting electricity, water, telephone and wastewater services.

There were two major periods of retaining wall construction in Lyttelton. The first was between the late 19th century and the start of World War I; these walls were built by the gaol hard labour gang. The second period occurred during the Depression of the 1930s, and these walls were built by relief workers. Retaining walls built during the Depression period typically feature stones of irregular size and shape, set in a 'crazy paving' style.

Example of damaged red brick retaining wall in Lyttelton

Example of damaged red brick retaining wall in Lyttelton

Red scoria (volcanic) rock was quarried, cut and fitted by hand along embankments and walls up to eight metres tall. Walls were backfilled with loose rubble, clay or rock. SCIRT has designed all of its repairs to red rock walls so they can be re-faced with red rock in future. In the meantime, all red rock taken from historic walls is being carefully stored at Windy Point and Naval Point.

SCIRT consults with an archaeologist from Underground Overground Archaeology before starting work on each retaining wall in Lyttelton. The archaeologist tells SCIRT if an archaeologist is needed on site while the work takes place. For post-1900 walls, the archaeologist is more interested in what's behind the wall than the wall itself.

General Information

We want to stay safe and we want you and your family to be safe too. Please stay alert, drive to the conditions, follow on site signage.

Our standard hours are Monday to Friday 7am to 6pm. Sometimes we will work over the weekend to finish work.

The work may result in increased dust, noise and vibrations. We will try to keep any disruption to a minimum and we apologise for any inconvenience.

All work is subject to favourable weather and on-site construction conditions.

Your rubbish and recycling will not change. Please put your bins in the normal spot by 5pm the night before collection and our crew will move and return them if needed.

Please contact us on 0800 632 889 if you have any access needs e.g. nurse/doctor visits, Meals on Wheels or planned work on your property.

How could the work impact you?

Footpaths will be closed while repairs are done and some small detours may be necessary. Please follow our signage. The footpath between Exeter Street and Dublin Street will remain open.

Some on street parking will be affected in the work area and in areas where a one way is in place. Cones will show where parking is not available.

Repairing roads and retaining walls can be noisy because of the heavy machinery needed. We apologise for the disruption and will work quickly to get this job done.
