Review Creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Light * Creativity * Celebration *

An exciting addition to the Festival of Lifights in 2016 is the creation of light installations by local residents. The idea was proposed by Jill Larking and then with the help of Roz Dixon the project developed. Lyttelton locals have grasped the idea enthusiastically and for the first time in the events history twelve light installations have been created that are featured in shops and spaces around the town centre.

Artists involved are:

- Hannah and Aaron Beehre
'Postcard to Dr Jacoby' 2011
- Ed Van Son Death by TV
- Andy Scott, Mick Stephenson, Chris Harris, Gabe Wilkinson and Greg Larking The Flase Flag
- Anthea Struthers
- Maree Henry and Agnieszka
- Lyttelton Priomary School
Te Wheke
- Jason Greig
'Farewell Itallica.....good riddance.'
- Tracey Porteous Memorium 3
- Julia Croucher & Amber Moke
- Ros Dixon Art History Projection'
- Bettina Evans 'We are Stardust'
- Lilliana Sequiera and Mario Luz
'Dive Through'

Some of the artists wrote interesting pieces about their work.

Bettina Evans works as an arts therapist. She loves living in Lyttelton, where she can go swimming in the Harbour in summer and enjoy the twinkling lights of stars and houses on the hills in winter.

Bettina says 'many things jumped into my mind while creating this installation: I played with the possibility of light emerging from planetary, cosmic eggs and wondered whether whole galaxies could be born from small, everyday wonders like eggs. I loved becoming a bird, building a nest from willow and oak branches and leaves, native vines and grasses. Hidden in this nest are small magpie-treasures: a bunch of keys, bits of rusted metal and copper, coloured and carded wool, a sheep's bone and a tiny nest with golden eggs. I enjoyed the contrast between the cozy warm nest, the stark and stony egg-planets and the starlight rising above it all.

'Lastly I was inspired by a 1960's song called 'Woodstock' by Joni Mitchell, with the refrain 'We are stardust, we are golden'. The idea of having stardust coursing through me feels crazy and comforting at the same time. I love the idea of all of us carrying a bit of light within.'

Lilliana Sequiera and Mario Luz

'Dive Through'

Mario and Liliana are from Portugal and live in Corsair with their daughter Eva. They have always liked interactive art, where you can explore the object and be surprised.

They have staged a low tech installation, it can better be described as a black box where you can poke your head to discover a new micro-cosmos altered by the effect of light.

'CURRENT' WORK

Kerry Tunstall and Debra McLeod

Studied since antiquity, electricity's importance cannot be overstated – it is at the core of our everyday existence. The invisible force – so close and familiar in the domestic setting – can be terrifying, awe-inspiring and visually stunning in natural displays of lightning.

Instead of traditional media, this exhibition explores the potential of electrical current to make works of art. Kerry Tunstall uses high voltage to produce digital images and artworks. Debra McLeod makes images using a lower voltage static charge across acrylic sheet and Polaroid film, where the electrical images emerge once chemicals and powdered ink are applied.

These works have an expressive quality – the effect of the medium on surfaces is both random and reflective of the power natural forces have to create pattern, creating a sense of drama.

Kerry Tunstall, who began working with electricity as a medium in 2004, says, "While studying for a Bachelor of Fine Art at Canterbury University, I happened upon the University's High Voltage Laboratory and was immediately hooked by the work going on there to understand the electric field and high voltage phenomena."

"I use lightning arc drawings and an exploding wire process, via high voltage electricity to create performative, photographic and moving images. My photographic works capture electrical discharge, which I then digitally push around, invert, twist and reform."

Debra McLeod's working relationship with electricity comes from her personal experience of living with epilepsy. "I work from my own brain scans and electroencephalogram (EEG) scans to visually communicate how the brain's electrical impulses can easily become disrupted, causing epileptic seizures. "I use a Wimshurst machine (a hand-cranked generator) to create a high voltage / low amp static charge which I guide across a surface to try and control where the electrical current goes. The charge's image is only revealed when powdered ink and chemicals are applied revealing a chaotic symphony of line and pattern – referencing how the brain's impulses can also act in ways out of our control.

"By visually communicating analogies of the scientific cause of epilepsy, I seek to dispel the

Lyttelton Arts Factory Now Open

Another big milestone event for Lyttelton was the opening of the Lyttelton Arts Factory. The grand opening cabaret was a celebration showcasing old favourites and possible stars of the future. There were reflections on what was, the five lost years and the excitement for what lies ahead. MC Joe Bennett was clearly delighted to be up on the stage again in front of the home audience.

Old favourites, Shay Horay Mullet man, Lindon Puffin and Janice Gray performed. Carmel Courtney and her ensemble were brilliant and everyone marvelled at the Twisty Twinz who during their five year absence had both had babies! They were joined by the performers of the future. Lachie who set the night off with "Welcome Home" Dave Dobbyn's much loved song ,Sienna Friend and a troupe of Hip Hop Dancers.

Timeball Site Work on Hold

Thank you so much for your interest in the proposed return of the Timeball to Lyttelton. Heritage New Zealand has important news to share regarding the timing of the project.

With significant road works on Sumner Road and Reserve Terrace now being carried out, the Heritage New Zealand Board has put the residents first and made the decision to put site work on hold.

The Stronger Christchurch Infrastructure Rebuild Team (SCIRT) is repairing earthquake damaged retaining walls on Reserve Terrace, with its work programme scheduled to be completed by the end of 2016. Work is continuing on the Lyttelton end of Sumner Road, making access difficult to the Timeball site.

These infrastructure works are crucial parts of the rebuild programme. For residents in the immediate area of the road works there will already be constraints in getting to and from their homes. The Heritage New Zealand Board did not want to add to that with activity on the Timeball site.

Heritage New Zealand had planned to start work next month (July 2016) on returning the Timeball tower, Timeball mechanism, flagpole and landscaped grounds to the site. Heritage conservation work such as on the Timeball mechanism will continue.

It is important to note that the site is secure and the heritage fabric carefully deconstructed five years ago is safely stored away.

No date has been set on work commencing. The stone masonry component of the works involves the use of traditional lime mortar and render. This work needs to be done outside of the colder winter months, to ensure proper curing. As a result, the timing of construction would need to ensure that stone masonry work could be undertaken in the spring and summer months.

Thank you, once again, for your interest in the project. We will keep you updated of further developments as they come to hand.

Lyttelton Redux

Kiwi artist Julia Holden is keen to get an exciting art project which will also double as a Lyttelton Museum fundraiser happening in our township. Julia was at the Community Board open forum this month explaining the project to the Board.

“Lyttelton Redux, Refiguring the past” is all about working with modern Lyttelton Harbour personalities and transforming them into historical Lyttelton harbour figures “she said.

She’s already begun and has transformed Delany Davidson into Robert Falcon Scott!

She explained that the project has many dimensions. An art exhibition where painted portraits would be on display around the township in various businesses, a fundraiser for our museum via posters and postcards , a visitor attraction via an interactive art map, a possible theatrical item at Lyttelton Arts Factory, audio history etc. “I’m not one for small ideas” she explained.

Julia aims to have the project up and running for the summer. To make it all happen she appealed to the community board for funding support. She is currently exploring several funding options to make her dream a reality.

New rules for dog owners

Dog owners who don't carry a plastic bag to clean-up dog poo left in public places could face a fine under new rules approved by Christchurch City Council on Thursday 23 June.

There's also been a change to the Dog Control Status of the Lyttelton Recreation Ground, meaning dogs will be required to be on a leash while using the park. The decision is timely, as Lyttelton residents have noticed an increase in dog poo around the Lyttelton Recreation Ground lately. By law, it is the owner's responsibility to clean up if a dog should foul.

The new rules come into effect on 1 September, and are outlined in the Council's Dog Control Policy and Dog Control Bylaw, which was recently reviewed. The Lyttelton-Mt Herbert Community Board submitted during the process, requesting the latter change on behalf of the community.

"We're very keen to encourage a culture of good dog ownership in Christchurch and although many dog owners are very responsible and respectful, keeping our city and rural areas clean and safe requires the efforts of every single dog owner," says Councillor David East, who chaired the Hearings Panel that looked at reviewing the Policy and Bylaw.

Council Animal Management Officers will continue with random checks in this area to ensure compliance is met.

Helping Local Artists

Just One of Reuben's Passions

Reuben Romany has been the volunteer curator of the Lytel Gallery within the Information Centre since August 2008. The idea emerged after Colleen Eason's gallery closed and Reuben had identified that there were many up and coming artists in the area who would benefit from the experience of hosting an exhibition. Together with Information Centre Board Member at the time, Diana Jackson the idea became a reality when the Information Centre relocated back to 20 Oxford Street.

Since that time Reuben has curated on average eleven shows a year!

"Funnily enough my two most memorable shows were during the early years. The very first show was put on by Diamond Harbour resident Chris Cape. He chose to do a photographic exhibition. He had so many photos that he'd hung them on wire mesh. Just getting them displayed was a mission and then to top it off he'd come in every day to check on things!

Another memorable exhibition was the Diamond Harbour Camera Club. With so many exhibitors there were many fingers in the pot that coordinating it all became a challenge".

As you can imagine over the years Reuben has met all sorts of artists. Some who are incredibly shy, avant garde, temperamental etc. He reflects on how some people have gone onto bigger and better things. Local Helen Dungey came immediately to mind at this point. "From her first exhibition she's gone on to sell quite a lot of art works and now has a permanent display at Lyttelton Seafoods on Norwich Quay".

Reuben uses half of the Information Centre wall space to display works and both customers and staff benefit from the regularly changing displays in store.

"Artists don't pay to exhibit but if work sells the Information requests a koha. That benefits both parties rather nicely".

Reuben has such a passion for helping the artists in our area that she's also part of the art panel at the newest gallery Oxford St Art. Formerly the Tin Palace this gallery is run by Madhu and Tim Rees. Interestingly Madhu had her first exhibition at the Lytel Gallery and now she's moved forward to running her own gallery! Reuben forms part of a small team that helps select the work to be shown at each of the exhibitions.

For Reuben his main motivation is giving future artists a leg up. Young people are particularly in his sights and by hosting an exhibition he shows them how to hang their work and details what's expected. Anyone who exhibits needs to write a biography, price their works, host an opening party etc His aim is to give exhibitors the complete experience so that hopefully they gain the confidence and enthusiasm to try it again.

Having such a passion for artists and art it won't be surprising to you that Reuben is an artist in his own right. "I'm a 3D artist with a bent for sculpture and model making. "I'm currently working on an exhibition model for the model railway show that's on at Pioneer Stadium during the first week of October. Models are a huge project and on average it takes me two years to complete"!

He's feeling rather chuffed as he sold a big model last year.

If you are keen to take advantage of Reuben's art experience and would be interested to have an exhibition at the Information Centre contact Reuben Romany 028 4001036

Lytel Gallery is open Monday to Saturday 10-4pm Sunday 11-3pm.

Repairing Jetty 3

The wharf structure behind the heavily used Inner Harbour Jetties 2 and 3 is damaged and 440m<sup>2</sup> requires full replacement. This work involves driving 40 piles approximately 25m deep. These piles are steel and will be driven by crane and drop hammer which will be heard when in the vicinity of the works. It will take one to two days to complete each pile.

Piling will occur intermittently from June to September during the following hours each week:

Monday – Friday: 7.30am to 6pm
Saturdays: 8.30am to 5pm

We have a construction environmental management plan which includes detailed noise management requirements.

As part of this, we are contacting those likely to hear the most piling noise prior to commencing work.

The construction project will also operate under the marine mammals piling procedure. This ensures that if any marine mammal comes within 300 metres of the project then piling will cease until it has left the area.

Rebuilding the jetty is an important part of making sure the Port can meet our region's needs. We appreciate your patience during construction.

LPC seeking feedback on proposed channel deepening project

Lyttelton Port of Christchurch (LPC) is proposing to deepen the shipping channel in Lyttelton Harbour/ Te Whakaraupō in preparation for the visits of larger container ships and is now seeking feedback from Port users and the Canterbury community on its plans.

LPC Chief Executive, Peter Davie says, "Internationally, container ships have been getting bigger for many years. To accommodate these larger ships, we are proposing to dredge the channel to increase its depth by 5-6 metres and deepen the container berths at the Port.

"With 99 percent of New Zealand's freight carried by sea, and a 50 percent forecast in trade growth through Lyttelton, alongside our container volumes set to double over the next decade and double again by 2041, it is imperative that we secure a deeper draught.

"The dredging proposal is future proofing our port. We need to have the right facilities and capacity to continue to attract major international shipping lines. This gives the region's exporters and importers access to competitive freight networks and cost effective access to markets and goods. It will also protect and grow jobs, particularly those that are export related.

Davie says the additional depth will support Lyttelton as the South Island's major international trade gateway and develop a thriving Port for the future, providing local, national and international customers with confidence to invest and do business in Canterbury

"Dredging of the channel is not new and has occurred regularly since the first dredge came to Lyttelton Port in 1880. The harbour has a natural depth of 5 to 12 metres, but with successive dredging a shipping channel with a consistent depth of 12.5m has been formed. To allow the bigger ships to call at Lyttelton we need to create a depth of approximately 17-18 metres and widen the channel by 20 metres.

"This greater depth also means the existing channel will be lengthened by approximately 6.5 kilometres. The proposed disposal site for the sediment (spoil) from the dredging is 2.5 kilometres by 5 kilometres and is located approximately 5 kilometres off shore from Godley Head," says Peter Davie.

"We want to ensure our community and Port users are fully informed of our proposal to deepen the channel.

"We are seeking input to ensure that all issues and concerns are considered and that the community is comfortable with the extensive environmental monitoring and protection plan we are proposing. We are also committed to protecting the health and mahinga kai values of whakaraupō and koukourāta throughout the project."

Before any work can commence on the channel deepening project LPC must gain resource consent under the Resource Management Act to carry out the dredging and disposal.

"We plan to lodge our resource consent application by late September. We are also requesting that the consent is publicly notified. This will allow anyone to lodge a submission to the consent application.

"To date we have worked closely with community representatives, iwi, environmental and commercial groups to consult on the proposed project and to seek feedback.

As part of preparing for the resource consent LPC has invested more than $3 million, working with a range of expert scientists, to undertake investigations into any effects the proposed dredging could have.

"We have engaged a series of experts in areas including marine ecology, sea bird and marine mammals, sediment, waves and tidal modelling and water quality monitoring to carefully evaluate and mitigate potential effects of the project. We have commissioned studies by the Cawthron Institute, which at this early stage, indicate it's very unlikely there will be any significant impact on dolphins, their food sources or the ecology of the Harbour.

"A cultural impact assessment to identify and mitigate potential effects of the project on mana whenua values and interests has been undertaken," says Peter Davie.

"The environmental monitoring programme we put in place will be the most extensive ever undertaken on a dredge project in New Zealand and we are working alongside leading international organisations that have significant expertise in this area.

"For example, 15 real-time monitoring stations will be installed across Lyttelton Harbour / Te Whakaraupō, Port Levy/ Koukourarata and offshore marine areas to ensure we have continuous information on water quality."

Continuous assessment of the data, coupled with weather reports and comparison to modelled scenarios, will allow the proposed dredging operations to be constantly managed and adapted to ensure environmental effects are minimised and within anticipated levels. Access to the real-time water quality information at all the locations will be available via a dedicated website.

The public is invited to see the plans and watch videos of the proposal to deepen and widen the channel, discuss the ideas and give feedback to LPC's project team and Managers at 'Port Talk', the company's information centre on the corner of London and Oxfords streets in Lyttelton, this Saturday (25 June) between 10.30am and 1pm. 'Port Talk' is also open every Friday from 11am to 1pm.

The public will soon be able to give feedback through the LPC website and can email feedback.

The proposed plans and videos can be viewed at <http://www.lpc.co.nz/port-development/projects/dredging/>.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. What is pipe bursting?

Pipe bursting involves digging trenches near two manholes and pulling a drill head through the existing pipe. The drill head breaks up the old pipe as it moves along the pipeline. The new piece of PE pipe is pulled through behind the drill head, replacing the old pipe as it goes.

2. Why is pipe bursting used?

Because pipe bursting does not require trenching along the whole length of the pipe it has fewer construction impacts to businesses, homeowners and traffic. Pipe bursting also takes less time than open trenching.

What we are doing:

Fulton Hogan has repaired the earthquake damaged wastewater pipe on Randolph Terrace and Gilmour Terrace. Camera investigations of the pipe are required to ensure the job has been completed effectively. Due to the narrow width of the road, the road will need to be closed during each investigation.

Friday 1 July:

From around 9am the road outside 10 Gilmour Terrace will be closed to complete the pipe investigations. If you need to use your car during these hours please move your car outside of the road closure by 9am.

From around 9am the road will also be closed at 20 Randolph Terrace to complete pipe investigations. As Downer's retaining wall repairs have a section of Reserve Terrace closed an arrangement has been made to open a section of Sumner Road to allow resident vehicle access past Fulton Hogan's Sumner Road worksite during this time only. There will be detour signs clearly in place to direct you to and from your property. Please turn over for a map of the detour route.

Please drive carefully to the conditions of the road and be aware of pedestrians and road workers.

If you live on Gilmour Terrace and will be parking your car outside the worksite, please remember to remove any valuables and always lock your car.

Please turn over
