Review Creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Council confirms annual budget

Christchurch City Council on Tuesday confirmed its annual budget for the coming financial year.

The 2017–18 Annual Plan includes a slightly lower-than-proposed average rates increase of 5.46 per cent, down from the 5.5 per cent increase put forward for public feedback, says Mayor Lianne Dalziel.

“Importantly, this Annual Plan allows us to build a platform. I’m determined we get ourselves on a stable footing as a Council, so we can become financially resilient to unexpected challenges such as the Port Hills fire. We need to be better prepared to absorb the impacts of such events without relying solely on rates.”

The final plan sets out all the projects and services the Council will provide over the next financial year, how much they will cost and where the money will come from. For the first time in recent years, more than half the Council’s $520 million works programme is already committed to major projects, such as the Town Hall, the New Central Library, the Metro Sports Facility and other significant community assets.

“Following public feedback we’ve set some new priorities and, in some cases, adjusted when we plan to spend money on projects in our works programme – but we are still aiming to complete essential projects within their scheduled timeframes.”

Changes made to the final Annual Plan following public feedback include additional budgeting for the Port Hills fire recovery, employing extra staff for upkeep of urban parks, establishing a Christchurch Biodiversity Fund, and trialing a free-entry scheme for pre-schoolers visiting Council swimming pools.

To account for these changes and others, the Council has budgeted an additional $4.4 million in the final plan.

It will also work with Regenerate Christchurch to potentially fast-track regeneration planning for Southshore and South New Brighton, with a view to addressing residents’ concerns over estuary flood protection in Southshore as quickly as possible.

Mayor Dalziel says, with the Annual Plan now finalised, the Council is already switching focus to its main planning document, the Long Term Plan, for 2018–28.

“The coming financial year is the last one before we refresh the 10-year Long Term Plan. That will be the opportunity to really dig deep over the next 12 months and set the direction for the Council’s 30-year infrastructure strategy.”

The Council received 1491 public submissions on its Draft Annual Plan and heard from around 100 submitters in person during public hearings held last month.

The final version of the plan will be made available via the Council’s website, libraries and service centres in July.

Great Party Great Turnout

Despite the dreary wet and cold weather, the Festival of Lights still draws out Lyttelton Harbour and Christchurch residents. A good natured crowd really enjoyed the street party atmosphere. From the individually designed street light installation, a diverse range of musical performances and the fireworks, there was something for everyone. It's quite a novelty to actually go out and enjoy the rain and for this once a year event seems many people are happy to participate no matter what the weather. Thanks to the team at Project Lyttelton for pulling this great community event together.

Did you see ....

The amazing light installations?

Under the Directorship of Claire Coates the Lyttelton Harbour Festival of Lights encourages local residents to create light installations around the township to add to that special community feeling that the festival emits.

Twelve special installations have been created by Lyttelton artists.

"Open Sesame" by Hannah Beehre was brilliant. A first for the Festival of Lights this installation was projected onto the tunnel opening portal on the Heathcote entrance to Lyttelton.. The work was based on the Electric Company's 1977 "12345" song.

"I've given it a Lyttelton twist" Hannah said. "I wanted to turn the tunnel into the giant pinball machine from the video for just one night" .The sound tune sung by The Pointer Sisters accompanied the projection. She hoped that added to your experience arriving in Lyttelton.

"Secrecy" by Kathy Pollock was in the window of the Information Centre. Kathy enjoys working with ceramics. "In this installation light glows and reflects from ceramic forms, whose curves echo those of the natural world" she said.

A little further down the street in the former Min Sarginson building Mario Luz and Lilliana Sequera created "The Crew". "We are inspired by the collection of fictional characters one could find in a port town" they said. Mario and Lilliana moved to Lyttelton from Portugal in 2014. They can't imagine living anywhere else now. They view the hills and port life as a great source of inspiration.

Some of our shop owners got into the spirit of the lighting displays. Henry Trading's window was filled with fishing bits and pieces. Aganiezka Thom and Maree Henry were the designers. Next door at Sweet Thursday Anthea Struthers got into the swing and had a brightly coloured shop window with interesting bric a brac.

The library was the home for an installation by Bettina Evans. Called "H" is for House Inspired by the importance our homes and houses. "In Lyttelton houses huddle together like children's toys hugging the hills. I love seeing the lights of each house illuminate the dark" she said. Houses have also been depicted by other local artists and that has also been a source of inspiration for her. "I have a beloved painting by Elizabeth McKelvey depicting Lyttelton houses being buffeted by a fierce wintry southerly and I was charmed by Ann Skelton's brooches in the shapes of houses" she said.

Other installations were created by Nick Lowry, Ros Dixon, Amber Moke, Julia Holden, Jaya Gibson, Ronan Whitteker and Maria Lee.

It's Winter Again!
Time to Plant Natives.

June signalled the start of the planting season for the planting team at the Lyttelton Reserves Management Committee. This season there are four chances to participate. On our first Sunday session June 11th seventeen people participated. We had a great mix of people. Suzie Everitt is a new resident. Moving to Lyttelton from the North Island she was previously involved with Kiwi Conservation in her spare time. With an affinity for nature she decided to volunteer for the day.

Suzie was quite familiar with natives however commented that quite a few of the plants that she planted were not known to her. "What is this one"? The hebe strictissima that she'd been asked to plant she discovered, was endemic to this region only! She commented that the southern kowhai Sophora microphylla also looked totally different. "North Island kowhai Sophora tetraptera have much bigger leaves" she said. "On Banks Peninsula it's quite delicate with smaller leaves."

The Reserves Management Planting team only plants native species that are localised to this region. Seeds are sourced from the south facing slopes of Lyttelton Harbour. That's a tiny area from Governors Bay to Godley Head. Unknown to many people, our district still has sources of remnant bush. These old growth sites have plants that have existed here for many thousands of years. It is from here that the Propagation Team source the seed for germination and growing-on for planting, because they have evolved genetically to thrive in our locality.

Dave Craig and his family also helped out. "I used to be an arborist in England" he said. "There I would attempt to plant in an urban environment. We'd be basically digging plants into concrete holes!" He commented on how lovely it was to dig into this lovely soil. He really enjoyed the day. His partner Hannah Sylvester had previously helped with watering during the summer months but had never planted before. She got to dig plant ledges and knew from her watering experience why it was so important to get the ledges right. "A flat level ledge means that the water will stay around the plant and not run off" said Brian Downey. Brian is the one in the team who calculates the water requirements. He says "Each plant requires 2 litres of water a week, either by rainfall or watering, during the summer season".

Paul Nicholson is in Lyttelton waiting for the next job opportunity. Originally from Gore he'd grown up on a family block where planting natives was really important to his family. "I popped into Community House and Hannah told me about the planting day" he said. He joined in very willingly. He's now signed up for the next session on July 2nd! Brian Downey has formed a Fat Tony's planting team. Sixteen locals will be involved in planting on the reserve that day.

French woman Jessica Avfrere saw the planting day notices in the Bay Harbour News. "It's so amazing to get this opportunity to plant forest" she said. "In France there is no native forest, so it's pretty amazing for me to be able to do this". She enjoyed the experience so much that she wants to come back again.

Helen Greenfield, is one of the team leaders and has been successfully propagating local seeds and growing them on. At the last planting day she produced some large Plagianthus regius – lowland ribbonwood plants which added to the day's highlights. It's been a real journey of discovery for the small propagation team who are developing ideas on how to grow our special species.

There are more opportunities for planting shortly. While the Fat Tony's planting day is on Sunday July the 2nd and is fully booked. The next opportunity to help is Sunday July 9th. There will be two sessions 10-12 or 1-3pm. In-between the team provides lunch consisting of soup and a BBQ. If you would like to participate please register. Call 328 9093 or email lytteltonreserves@hotmail.nz or sign in directly to our googledoc registration sheet

Community Emergency Response

What's Happening In Lyttelton?

For many years Lyttelton had an official Civil Defence team that was linked to the Christchurch City Council. Over the years a few dedicated residents attended monthly training sessions learning how to run a welfare centre. They trained learning about radio communications, various welfare functions, catering, first aid and so the list goes on. Keeping enthusiasm going for these activities is not easy; some of this training becomes quite tedious after some time. The only thing that keeps you committed is your team's comradery.

Currently in Lyttelton our old Civil Defence team are no longer meeting. One or two people are involved working with Civil Defence teams in Diamond Harbour and Governors Bay that are linked to the wider Civil Defence network but the rest of us are just getting on with the normal day to day community activities in the township. The Information Centre has become a hub for the informal network. This community operated space is perfect for a community response to a small scale emergency event.

With office facilities, gear needed for an emergency response, access to community databases and relationships with businesses and other groups we believe with the Timebank and volunteers we can deal with most situations that we are confronted with.

Based on Lyttelton's experiences of the earthquakes the number one thing that I learnt was that knowing your community was the most important thing rather than training to open a welfare centre. A well-connected community that knows its skills and can communicate it's needs easily is by far the most important thing. As a result I have come to the conclusion that the best we can do to look after ourselves is connect.

We need to do this neighbour by neighbour and community group to community group, business to business. The Timebank, community facebook pages community activities, socialising all add to the mix of our connectedness.

With this approach, these are the things that you need to know.

- Be prepared as best you can. Have extra food and water for three days
- Get to know your immediate neighbours. We have some neighbours contact detail cards at the Information Centre if you would like to collect one.
- In an emergency if you need additional help contact Christchurch City Council first, - dial 941 8999
- If you need community help contact the Lyttelton Information Centre 328 9093.
- It is beneficial to be a member of the Timebank. You can link to the wider community via this network. Visit www.lyttelton.net.nz/timebank and register to join.
- Sign up to the facebook page Lyttelton Harbour Community Civil Defence
- If a large scale emergency happens a Welfare Centre can be opened up at the Winchester Street Recreation Centre at 25 Winchester Street. This would be managed by approved Civil Defence volunteers.

The under 7 Mermaids Team

After accepting an invitation by Canterbury Rugby to participate in some way at the up and coming Womens International Rugby Series at Rugby Park, Christchurch, for the Black Ferns vs Australia Game.

The under 7 Mermaids Team from Lyttelton Rugby Club took on the role of escorting the Black Ferns players onto the pitch and then performing the New Zealand National Anthem with them, in front of a full capacity crowd in the stand.

The girls and the Anthems were televised live.

The mermaids were formed this season, and have played many games against full boy or partial mixed teams with very good results. The coach, Ian Rees and managers, Lisa and Chrissy were thrilled for the opportunity that the 'All Girls' Ripper Rugby team got, not only for promoting girls playing rugby but for proudly representing their Lyttelton Rugby Club.

Any enquires regarding Lyttelton Rugby Club can be made to Linda.

You are invited

To come and play the Savings Pool Game.

Sunday 2 July 1 – 4 pm in Lyttelton.

The venue will be decided when we see how many people want to come. If you are interested in attending send an email to margaret.jefferies@clear.net.nz

Savings Pools are groups of friends (sometimes not known when you first join) who collectively save (each has their own account) and take turns to use the money interest free. Reciprocity comes in the form of your savings (same amount as you borrow) which when complete is returned to you.

The session is open for people who are intrigued by the concept of savings pools – who may have heard of them from friends but don't know how they work. Maybe feeling that such a system is too good to be true!

The game includes role cards and situation cards. It is an excellent way to understand how the savings pool system works and helps you decide whether you want to be part of one at some stage.

Lyttelton Museum

Christchurch City Council is seeking feedback on a proposal to gift the property at 33-35 London Street, Lyttelton, to the Lyttelton Historical Museum Society for their new museum.

33-35 London Street, Lyttelton was acquired by the Council in 2008 as a local service centre. The land has been vacant since 2011, when the buildings were substantially damaged in the earthquakes and were subsequently demolished. Council has no current plans for rebuilding on this site.

The Society needs another site for their museum after their most recently-leased premises at 1 Gladstone Quay was made uninhabitable following the Canterbury earthquakes.

Submissions are open between Wednesday 7 June 2017 and Friday 30 June 2017 and the Council will make a decision end July/early August 2017.

You can find out more details about the proposal, and how to have your say, at: www.ccc.govt.nz/haveyoursay

Banks Peninsula Community Board News

Three groups, the Mission to Seafarers, the Apostleship of the Sea and the Sailors Society, and the Lyttelton Seafarers Charitable Trust want a port levy introduced in Lyttelton to raise funds for shore-based welfare facilities for visiting seamen. The Board has asked Council staff to look at what support the Council could give. It has also asked staff to look at possible opportunities for Council land to be used as a permanent site for the Lyttelton Seafarers Centre, which has been operating out of temporary facilities since the quakes.

The Council's Parks Unit is working with the Lyttelton Reserves Management Committee on a development plan for Urumu Reserve. The Parks Unit has also started to develop the Te Oka and Misty Peaks Management Plans in conjunction with the community. These management plans are designed to ensure the natural landscape and scenic qualities are protected and enhanced.

A green prescription programme has been set up in Lyttelton for those needing support to get active and improve their health. So far 19 people have signed up for the programme.

Lyttelton Museum Item of the Month – Gas Iron

As you wield your steam iron (or better still ignore the need for ironing altogether) spare a thought for generations of housewives and servants, for whom laundry was a heavy and time-consuming business. Monday was traditionally washday, followed more often than not by a full day of ironing on Tuesday.

This gas laundry iron, donated by Mrs. C.W. Fenton, cost 25/- in 1928. Prior to the 1870s, heavy flatirons or sadirons were heated on top of cast iron stoves. The new gas irons, patented in the US in the 1870s, were much lighter and reduced the need to heat up the stove. A rubber gas line carried fuel to the iron, which contained a burner to provide the heat. When the burner was lit with a match, the iron heated up. Wooden handles replaced metal ones, reducing the likelihood of burns, although the irons did get very hot and gas sometimes leaked.

The establishment of the Lyttelton Gas Company in the mid 1870s, made possible the use of gas in Lyttelton homes, coinciding with the arrival of gas irons on the market. The Christchurch Gas Company regularly extolled the virtues of the gas iron in local newspapers.

Use a Gas Iron once and you will forever discard the old-fashioned, smutty way of Ironing. Abandon the old, tiresome method of changing irons – one Gas Iron does all the work in the quickest and best way imaginable.

Clock

In my life as a grandfather clock, I have spent much time cogitating on what it is, this time thing that I spend my life measuring. Perhaps firstly I should comment on those facts about my existence that I am totally familiar with and understand.

Firstly I understand that I am a thing of great beauty and am a fine example of the horologist's art. I know this because I have frequently heard silver-headed persons who ooze confidence and culture commenting to this effect.

Secondly I know that whatever this time thing is that I am measuring, I do so with great accuracy, for many people pause in their frantic rush through life to take time to stand in front of my face and make adjustments to the puny time measuring devices that adorn their wrists.

Thirdly, and perhaps most importantly, I provide a purpose for the ever-ageing being who attends to my energy needs and delivers those minute adjustments that allow me to continue to provide the estimable service that is the hallmark of my existence.

Now as to this time business; it seems that I must in some way regulate the movement of this world and, indeed, this universe through a great passageway, an escalator perhaps, called time. I have noticed that although the journey has no effect on me, it does have a deleterious (we'll call it ageing) effect on those who inhabit this cosmos with me, and my question is how were these things managed before I came into existence? And indeed (perish the thought) what will occur when I am no longer able to perform my pivotal function? These are difficult questions and no easy answer presents itself. My best idea, it is only a hypothesis mind you but I think that it is a good one, is that this universe that we call home came into existence when I breathed my first TICK. I leave you, gentle readers, to contemplate what might happen when I breathe my last TOCK

'HARD BOILED' - Rachel Ratten

Rachel Ratten is a painter and printmaker based in Timaru, New Zealand. She has a BA in Sociology, and a Masters of Fine Arts (with Distinction) from University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand.

The focus of Ratten's work is the relationship between objects deemed kitsch, and the people that own and cherish them. Kitsch contains aesthetic value outside art theory but instead offers a direct visceral experience of the familiar, therefore evoking nostalgia and sentimentality, thus creating personal narrative and identity. As owners, we reminisce and are reminded of the circumstances that involved obtaining the object in the first place. We use mass produced items to create a 'meaningful' décor based on current and previous life experiences.

In the current series, classic movie stills and treasured 'cheesy' objects are used to depict new recollections, beyond the tenets of cinema history and the sociological collecting of kitsch. Without direct referencing to specific films, it is the gestures undertaken by the characters in the stills, which open up new narratives for the viewer. This can stir curiosity, and the works exaggerate this perplexity through abnormal scale and position and context.

WORK STARTING AT WINDY POINT

From 12 June more than 10,000m<sup>3</sup> of rock will be removed from around Windy Point where a retaining wall failed as the result of the earthquakes.

Sumner Road has been closed to the public because of the high risk of rockfall and this is just one of the projects underway that will help reopen it.

The most cost-effective solution to fix the road and reinstate the failed retaining wall is to cut into the hillside above Windy Point and divert the road slightly.

The team will be smoothing out the bend of the road by removing rock, which will improve line of sight and stabilise the banks along the road at the same time.

Around 30 truck movements a day are planned to move the rock from Windy Point to the Lyttelton Port reclamation area, via Sumner Road and the Quay.

There will be strict speed limits in place and no engine-braking to minimise disruption.

The two-month long project will deliver a safer road passage ready for rehabilitation and reopening.

If you have any questions about the Sumner Road Risk Mitigation Project please contact the project team on the details below.

SUMNER ROAD GEOTECHNICAL RISK MITIGATION

Reminder that blasting work is beginning soon.

Excavation of the catch bench using explosives, will start in Area C (see map below) from Friday 15 June.

Explosive charges will be placed into holes drilled into the ground and detonated to break the ground apart, which will limit the noise and vibration.

It's a very different method than the one used in March which was designed to split surface rock and released more noise and vibration.

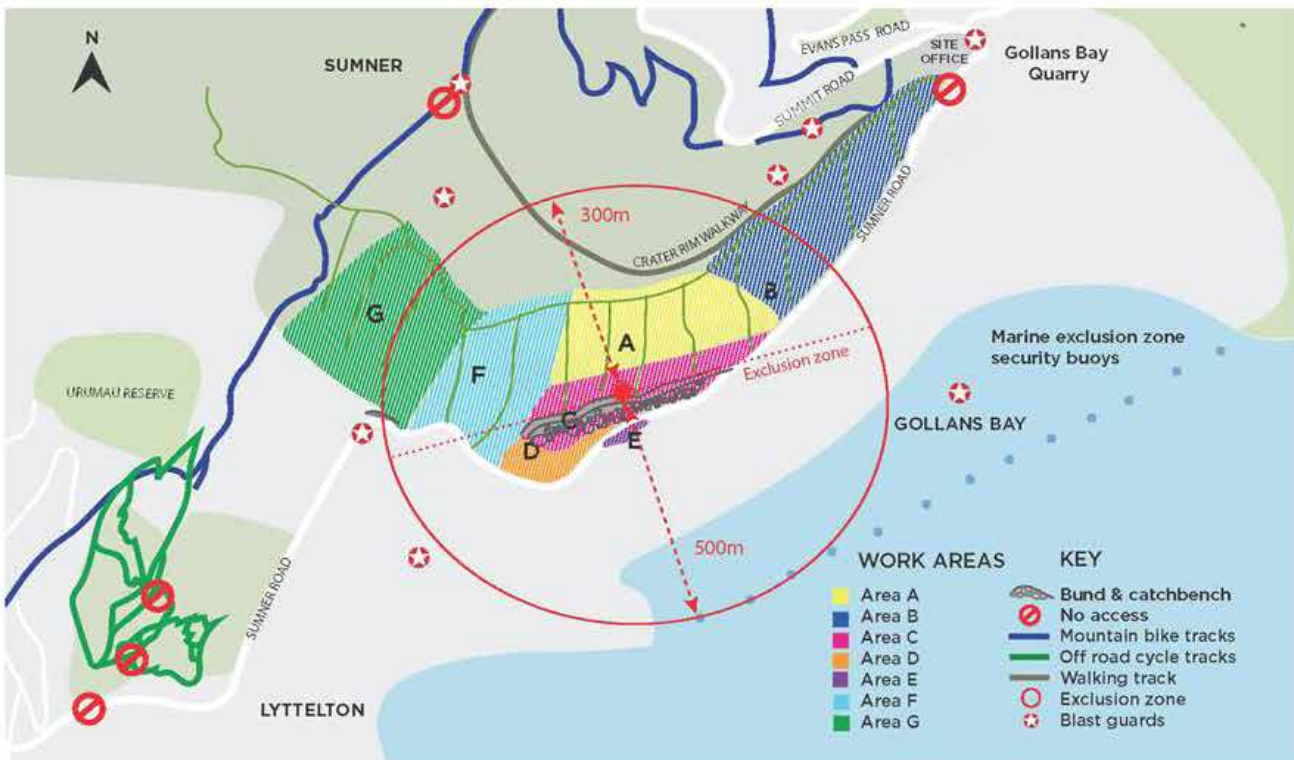

The blasting planned for the next seven months, if you hear it, will likely sound like a couple of seconds of dull thumps in the distance. This will depend on weather conditions such as cloud and wind direction.

About three to four blasts a week will be required to remove around 100,000m<sup>3</sup> of rock. Please stay well away from the project area and the exclusion zone (shown below in the map). There will be warning signs and security guards at access points to prevent entry during blasting and no explosives will be stored onsite.

Contact the project team on the details below if you have any other questions or concerns.

LYTTELTON HISTORICAL MUSEUM SOCIETY

AN INVITATION TO THE AGM

To be held at Trinity Hall, 25 Winchester St, Lyttelton
2–4pm Sunday 2 July

What is happening with the new museum?

We know many of you are keen to find out where things are at with the plans to build a new museum on London St. We'll bring you up to date with our progress.

Fascinating Antarctic finds

Did you know that the expedition bases of Scott, Shackleton, Borchgrevink and Hillary hold the largest single can collection in the world, with at least 8000 cans, many of which still hold contents? Lizzie Meek, one of our Vice-Presidents, is the Programme Manager-Artefacts for the NZ-based Antarctic Heritage Trust. For the past 10 years, the Trust has run a long term cold-climate conservation project to conserve the bases and Lizzie spends several weeks a year down on the Ice. Earlier this year, she was invited to a workshop organised and hosted by the CANS project (Conservation of cAns in collectionNS). This project is funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation, and based at the Haute Ecole Arc Conservation-restauration in Neuchatel, Switzerland. Following the business of the AGM, Lizzie will present the slide show she took to that workshop.

Become a member

If you would like to become a member of LHMS, we'd love you to join us. These are exciting times for the Society and the wider Lyttelton Harbour/Whakaraupō communities.

Committee, Admin & Exhibitions team vacancies (volunteer positions)

With our plans for a new museum building seriously underway, we're looking for people who are good at getting things done to join us for a really exciting ride. We have a vacancy on our management committee and are keen to fill it at this AGM.

We're also looking for people who would like to help in some way – perhaps to put on pop-up exhibitions, run events, collect stories for the new museum, or maybe monitor our media coverage. And we have need of someone with strong organisational or admin skills. If you are interested helping in any of these ways, and to be part of a rare opportunity to build a new museum, please contact Acting President Wendy McKay to find out more – info@lytteltonmuseum.co.nz

Everyone is welcome! You don't have to already be a member.
