Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

21 Day Challenge encourages locals to make changes for the better

It takes 21 days to make or break a habit. This spring, Project Lyttelton invites you to make a small change in your life in the area of food, environment, waste or wellbeing.

Taking a walk in nature every day, practicing te reo, eating only locally grown food, using a reusable coffee cup – these are some of the challenges being taken up by people in Lyttelton harbour for the 21 Day Challenge, which starts on October 30th.

Students at Lyttelton Primary will be taking up their own challenges and involving family members to learn about and practice ways of looking after themselves and our environment. Jill Larking, Lyttelton Harbour TimeBank co-ordinator, has been working with the students to identify their tradable skills, so that they can get active with time banking. Next term they will decide what changes they would like to make for the 21 Day Challenge.

Michaela, a volunteer at The Garage Sale, Project Lyttelton's community op shop, will be writing down one thing she is grateful for each day for 21 days. She says she hopes it will help her to feel more content with life. Michaela's challenge, as well as the whole initiative, are based on findings from positive psychology and the psychology of happiness.

If you want to take up a challenge, there are lots of ways you can join with others who are participating: indicate your intentions by filling out the google form at <http://tinyurl.com/yb89b89n>. Join the facebook group "21 Day Challenge Lyttelton". Instagram #Lyttelton21DC. Email us claire@lyttelton.net.nz.

There will be a workshops expo on October 29th at The Portal, where you can learn some helpful tips and tricks for reducing waste, cooking with local produce, growing your own food and self-care techniques.

Construction of Lyttelton's Te Ana Marina ramping up

The recent arrival of a marina construction flotilla in Lyttelton has triggered the next wave of construction activity at the Te Ana Marina development site.

Lyttelton Port of Christchurch (LPC) is building Canterbury's only walk-on floating marina at the location of the current inner harbour pile moorings in Lyttelton Harbour.

LPC Chief Executive Peter Davie says the construction programme commenced in June and is progressing on schedule.

"Construction crews and barges are now onsite and we are delighted to commence this exciting next phase of Te Ana's development," he said.

"More than 20 years after the first plans to develop a marina at Lyttelton were unveiled, Christchurch will finally have what all other major New Zealand cities have and that is a fully serviced, walk-on marina."

Te Ana Marina is the first stage of LPC's wider regeneration plan to improve public access and amenities in the area. It will feature up to 170 berths for yachts and powerboats and include a safe, waterfront promenade. It is expected that construction will be completed by the first half of 2018.

"Visible construction activity on Te Ana Marina will be ramping up over the next few weeks. Removal of the existing pile moorings currently located in the inner harbour is underway. The process known as 'pile pulling' is a visual activity however it will not be disruptive to neighbouring properties," Mr Davie said.

"Piling works will commence next week (October 9). We will be using two different piling techniques to reduce the proportion of disruptive piling-related noise in the local area. We have also provided updates to residents living near the Marina about our construction programme."

Throughout October earthworks at the Te Ana Marina landside redevelopment site will continue. Trenching works to establish power, waste and water services are ongoing, and construction of the sea wall will continue.

Trucks are delivering rocks that will be used to construct the sea wall, and excavated materials will start to be removed. Vehicle access will be via Godley Quay.

"The number of trucks accessing the area will be similar to what local residents have already experienced since the construction programme commenced, so there will be no significant changes to traffic flow," Mr Davie said.

"Our earthworks programme has been running efficiently for the past three months and we have received no formal complaints about noise or road usage."

LPC lodged a submission as part of the Christchurch City Council's 2017/18 Annual Plan to address intersection and road safety issues at both Simeon and Godley Quays.

"We are working closely with the Council to consider how roading in the area can be improved to manage traffic flow and ensure pedestrian safety at all times," Mr Davie said.

There has been strong demand from boaties looking to secure a berth at the new marina with more than 100 of the 170 berths already leased. People are encouraged to contact LPC if they wish to license a berth.

With the permission of Lyttelton resident Robyn Robinson, LPC installed a camera to the exterior of her property so that live images will be available to the public 24/7 as the marina's construction progresses. The images can be viewed and downloaded on LPC's website: www.lpc.co.nz/lpc/harbour-webcam/te-ana-marina/

Felicity Blackmore is LPC's community liaison officer during the construction of Te Ana Marina. Questions or concerns can be submitted via emailing communications@lpc.co.nz or contacting Felicity direct on (03) 328 8198.

The Lyttelton Rotary club Established 1964

Lyttelton Rotary club has been contributing to the community for fifty two years. Many people will remember some of the very public activities of the club, in particular organising the Street car racing around Lyttelton collaboration with the Lyttelton primary school.

Most recently you will see Rotarians in action selling raffle tickets or working on sausage sizzle tables. All funds raised are distributed to support both community initiatives and to support to the young and old in the harbour basin. To name just a few includes, an emergency fuel tanker for Governors Bay Volunteer fire brigade, tree planting, seats in the new LAF / school hall, as well as assisting individuals. In addition the club is associated with the international Rotary aid organisation which supports large scale initiatives internationally. One of these is the eradication of Polio in the world. This goal has almost been achieved with the assistance of a 'two to one' funding initiative from Bill Gates.

Lyttelton Rotary is a small group, with a big reputation, not only for services to the community, and for doing things differently but also for having fun! We are proud of our achievements.

Recently a function was held to induct the President of the club for the 2017, 2018 year. Robyn Struthers and Donna Heenan are sharing the position of joint Presidents. We are now seeking to welcome new members to our club either as a friends of Rotary to assist with activities from time to time or to become full members. Together we can achieve a lot for our community. Come and join us.

Would you be interested in volunteering at The Garage Sale?

The Garage Sale is an important asset to the Lyttelton Community. It's an amazing way for the wider community to recycle its unwanted items whilst fundraising at the same time. We would be unable to operate without the help and support of our volunteer team.

The key tasks would be:

- Tidying the shop space
- Pricing goods
- Sorting goods
- Selling goods
- Displaying goods

Benefits in being part of our Team

- You'll meet a great bunch of caring, like-minded people
- You'll gain some new skills
- You'll get to know our community better
- You'll know that your contribution enables a wide range of community groups to fundraise to provide a variety of activities in our community
- You'll know that you are contributing to waste minimisation by recycling and reusing people's unwanted items
- We have a team outing/lunch once a year where we get ideas for our shop from other similar stores
- You'll be entitled to a 50% reduction on all goods priced $5 and below whenever you are on duty.

We are looking for a volunteer that could work either in the morning or afternoon on a Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. You can negotiate what works best for you. Ideally if you can commit regularly on a weekly basis that works as you get familiar with the processes and how the Garage Sale works. But whatever time and help you can offer to The Garage Sale it is always much appreciated.

Please call Frances on 021 100 1234 if you are interested in joining our team.

Embodied Movement Therapy Right here in Lyttelton

'Embodied Movement Therapy was practically unheard of when I first moved to New Zealand from the UK in 2003" said Lyttelton resident and arts therapy practitioner Jan Jeans. Jan has over thirty years' experience trained in Psychotherapy and Counselling and she draws on these experiences and new learnings as she teaches Movement Therapy.

"I became really interested in this field when I hit difficult periods in my life. This creative experience enabled me to work through some major events very successfully. It worked so well for me that I believed it would work well for others" she said. She became a fully trained arts therapy practitioner specialising in embodied movement in New Zealand and has worked in this space for the past eight years.

Her clients include people of all ages both male and female. She explains the method is often used to help people experiencing Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, anxiety and depression. "For some people when they get stressed the energy literally gets locked up in their bodies. This technique enables them to unlock the stress. You don't always need words to do this," she said.

Movement Therapy can be as simple as moving a joint and observing the flow of energy in the space. Alternatively it can be full on dance. "Many times dance is just thought of as a fun experience but it can be so much more than that" she said. Universal elements that are inherent in any moving body, such as breath, gravity, centering, expansion and contraction are part of the common movement language that we all speak.

Embodied Movement Therapy is not just for those who enjoy movement- it is equally useful for people who don't usually dance. In fact, it is an ideal modality for those who feel self-conscious physically, uncomfortable in their body or disconnected from their body- using gentle and non-intrusive methods, we can begin to 'make friends' with the body, so that we can fully inhabit ourselves and have access to a full range of expression in our lives".

Currently Jan is also training in Open Floor Practice movement. This is a full on lively dance inquiry.

She believes, "When we use dance movement to be fully embodied – physically, emotionally mindfully- it means we are present for anything and everything. To be embodied is to come to our senses. To feel our power and to make things happen in our world".

Jan uses the therapy for two outcomes, overcoming personal blocks and for personal growth. You may have seen she often conducts Open Floor Workshops in Lyttelton. The aim of the workshops is for people to experience mindful movement practice. The latest series focuses on Heart Dance – A Spring Awakening Experience.

She offers individual sessions; group work; and supervision for counsellors. She has a private practice in the Arahura Centre in Christchurch plus a private studio at her home in Lyttelton.

SLIPPAGE SOLUTIONS SOUGHT FOR CASS BAY

Cass Bay drainage and slippage issues are in the spotlight.

We have asked staff to provide a briefing on damage to the Cass Bay to Pony Point section of the Head to Head Walkway, which is closed, and any proposed repairs.

We have also sought information on the status of the Cass Bay toilet block upgrade.

Further, we have requested an update on poor track drainage, toilet facilities, picnic tables and benches, parking, accessibility and general development to inform our Long Term Plan submission. Meanwhile, Black Cat Cruises chief executive Paul Milligan has spoken during our public forum about the condition of the Diamond Harbour Wharf.

As a result, we have sought information about health and safety issues, and disabled access, and any update on Long Term Plan funding for improvements.

Safer Boating Week

13-20 October

New Zealand's national Safer Boating Week (October 13-20) starts Friday with an important new message for boaties: If you can't call for help, we can't rescue you.

"Have waterproof communications with you, and a marine VHF radio is usually best," Safer Boating Forum Chair, Lindsay Sturt, said. "Lifejackets and waterproof communications work together. A lifejacket helps you float and they have saved many lives, but if you can't call for help, then we can't rescue you."

For seven years the Forum has successfully focused on lifejackets. As the number of recreational boaties has increased over that time, the percentages carrying and wearing lifejackets on board have also increased significantly, and there is strong awareness of lifejacket messages.

Eighty-six percent of boaties take lifejackets with them on their boats, and 76% now wear their lifejackets all or most of the time on the water. But only 38% of boaties take two waterproof ways to call for help and the most common device they take is a cellphone.

Civil Defence Update

Emergencies can happen anywhere, any time, and without warning. Make sure you and the people you care about are ready to get through by knowing the different ways to stay informed.

The Council is currently promoting the different ways people can stay informed during an emergency – which radio stations to listen to, which website and social media to follow, the importance of getting to know your neighbours and checking if you can receive Emergency Mobile Alerts (available end of 2017).

You can also download the Red Cross Hazards app to receive emergency alerts in Christchurch.

RADIO

If the power goes out, a solar or battery powered radio (or your car radio) can help you keep up to date with the latest news. In an emergency, tune to these stations:

- Radio New Zealand
- The Hits
- NewstalkZB
- MoreFM
- Radio Live

Online For local updates, check the Christchurch City Council website and the Christchurch CDEM Facebook page.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOURS

There's strength in numbers. In an emergency, you can work with your neighbours to get through.

In Lyttelton joining the Timebank or other local networks is a good idea. You could also join Neighbourhood Support and the Christchurch Gets Ready database. An Emergency Mobile Alert will be coming soon.

Emergency Mobile Alert will be a new way of receiving information about emergencies in your area. If your life, health or property is in danger, Emergency Mobile Alerts can be sent to your mobile, without needing to sign up or download an app. Emergency Mobile Alert is expected to be available by the end of 2017.

Bird of the Year. Vote Kea!

Forest and Bird run the "Bird of the Year" competition each year – this is largely to get people thinking about our birds and get some friendly competition and banter going. Most of our bird species have serious issues (e.g. introduced predators, habitat loss, disease, human interactions, etc) and all species are worthy of all our votes and deserve so much more recognition but it's time for kea to finally be our bird of the year! They have been in plenty of news items this year, but most of this news isn't good.

Kea are undeniably special – a kaitiaki of the mountains and a taonga species. Imagine the backcountry, skifields, mountain villages without the distinct call of the kea. The mountains would be a lonely place without them – they're conspicuous by their absence. Their colorful and inquisitive nature brings a refreshing feel. People love them but some also love to hate them. People everywhere are providing anecdotal declines in kea sightings across most of the South Island.

What does a Bird of the Year win do? Well it helps to raise their profile and create some positive Public Relations for a bird that all too often gets negative press.

Please get in behind our precious mountain parrot and vote! Please share widely with others.

Here is the Kea Conservation Trust Facebook page to share our links on your own social media pages: <https://www.facebook.com/keaconservation/>

Here's the link to encourage everyone to vote: <http://www.birdoftheyear.org.nz/> #votekea #birdoftheyear

Voting closes at 5pm on Monday 23rd October.

Our Re-Search Lab

Victoria Edwards and Ina Johann have been working as collaborative visual artists for the past ten years. Known collectively as Edwards+ Johann, Victoria resides in Lyttelton and Ina in Sumner. They are rare model of collaboration in New Zealand. While collaboration is observed in many creative fields an established, ongoing collaborative artist duo in the visual arts is less common.

The two explore their art through drawing, painting, print, collage, video, performative activities and photography. Meeting in a teaching environment they have set out to use a range of media to be visual story tellers - together. They are driven by their desire to use art to create human connections and make the world a more meaningful place. To do this they believe that collaboration is an ideal, rich productive space to test and play out scenarios of being.

"We love to play with the unseen, the untold, the unfinished, the unpolished and the uneasy....".

Their practice allows them to begin a conversation. "We view our work as a form of carving out" said Victoria. They create a concept and then see where it flows. The duo don't set out to achieve fixed outcomes but just know that the viewers will shed further light on the topic. "Our viewers are such a critical part to the process of the reading and the experiencing of the work. We don't have the answers to what we pose. Our aim is to open a space to reflect, question and learn" said Victoria. As we talk it is clear that their art is a medium to create possibilities. This process is how their real life Re-Search Lab works. An initial concept – interaction – conversations and the loop is created and the ideas flow in any which way. A key component to success is what Dr Warren Feeney referred to as "reciprocal goodwill". The process will only work if that is achieved.

Their concepts are formulated in the various mediums. "We look to multiple ways to make the concepts resonate. We may use play, humor, beauty and elements of 'the ugly and unease'" Ina said. With so many mediums at their disposal the works are often multi layered adding to the richness of the work and experience.

Over the ten year life span of this collaboration the pair have achieved quite a lot. There have been multiple exhibitions, an amazing residency in Switzerland where they were both inspired by the sense of history and easy accessibility of outstanding artworks plus they have received a number of awards for their work. Coming up they are about to release a book. "We are working on getting the publication finished by the end of the year".

They shared a photo of their work. This image depicts the diptych work On the Seam of Things - Constellations #5. This work earned them the Supreme Winner New Zealand Painting and Printmaking Award 2016. They have also been recipients of the Margaret Stoddart Award in 2009. Their work is in private and public collections around New Zealand and overseas. Keep an eye out for it.

If you are keen to see what they have done or what they are currently working on make an appointment with the artists to see them at their studio at the Chambers Building in the central city. Alternatively, you can follow their progress via their website.

I think their work mirrors the sense of exploration and experimentation that makes New Zealand and particularly Lyttelton a very exciting place to be.

Council leads the charge in electric vehicles

Electric Cars coming to Lyttelton

A 100-strong fleet of electric vehicles will be stationed at 10 hubs around Christchurch city from November and made available for use by businesses and members of the public.

The new car sharing scheme is the brainchild of a Christchurch City Council-led group of organisations that are looking to reduce emissions.

The fleet will be available through an online booking system.

Christchurch Mayor Lianne Dalziel said car share company Yoogo would run the service, which would include Hyundai Ioniqs and BMWi3s.

"An electric vehicle shared fleet is an exciting initiative for our city. The fleet will deliver improved environmental and health outcomes and we are proud to be the first city in New Zealand, and one of the few cities internationally, that has an electric car sharing service."

Yoogo was selected to implement the service for the Council, Ara Institute, Aurecon, Beca, Canterbury District Health Board, Chapman Tripp, Environment Canterbury, Meridian Energy, Tonkin and Taylor, Warren and Mahoney, Jacobs and Christchurch International Airport. Christchurch residents will also be able to book and use the electric vehicles.

Key features of the shared fleet roll-out are:

- 100 electric vehicles will be provided
- The cars will be Hyundai Ioniqs and BMWi3s
- Businesses and the general public can book online and access vehicles via their phone or swipe card.

The first stage of the car share scheme will be launched in November this year with Hyundai Ionic and BMWi3 vehicles available at hubs in the Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetu car park, the West End car park and at Christchurch International Airport.

The second phase will see further hubs at the Lichfield Street car park, The Crossing car park, Ara Institute, Canterbury University, Papanui and Fendalton Libraries, and Lyttelton Community Centre. Overall, there will be 100 electric vehicles at 10 hubs around the city.

Kirsten Corson, General Manager of Yoogo, describes the electric car sharing platform as a smart and sustainable way to get around town for businesses and for everyday Kiwis.

"Yoogo will deliver an experience that is easy, enjoyable and affordable," says Ms Corson. "The shared vehicle partners and the public will be able to book vehicles online and access them via their phone or swipe card."

"This will be the largest transition from combustion engines to pure electric shared vehicles in the Southern Hemisphere."

Initially cars will need to be dropped back to their original location but phase two of the service to be rolled out next year would allow shared fleet users to drop vehicles off to different fleet hubs.

Christchurch City Council's Resource Efficiency Manager Kevin Crutchley said it was an exciting development for Christchurch to have a 100 per cent battery electric transport service.

"Our electricity is largely generated from renewable energy, so this electric vehicle scheme will reduce our city's carbon emissions. Also using a transport service with zero tail pipe emissions will improve air quality and have positive health benefits for the residents of Christchurch."

The Christchurch Agency for Energy Trust was a foundation supporter, providing a grant towards the electrical and charging infrastructure for the phase one hub roll-out. EECA provided funding towards phase two of the service through the Low Emission Vehicles Contestable Fund.

Lyttelton pedestrian improvements and minor bus stop changes HAVE YOUR SAY.

Proposal

A temporary pedestrian crossing point was installed at the Oxford Street and Winchester Street intersection in 2014. With Lyttelton School reopening, and merging with Lyttelton West School on Oxford Street, we are proposing to make this crossing permanent, with added kerb build outs on Winchester Street. Tactile pavers for the visually impaired, will also be installed at the intersection of Oxford Street and Winchester Street, and at the existing intersection at Oxford Street, London Street and Sumner Road.

Bus stops

It is proposed that the existing bus stops on Winchester Street (near Oxford Street) and Oxford Street (near Sumner Road), which are positioned close together, be replaced with a new single bus stop with a new seat, outside Lyttelton School on Oxford Street. This will improve the sightlines for pedestrians using the zebra crossing on Oxford Street, at Sumner Road, as the bus limits visibility while at the current stop. The proposed new bus stop will also be in a safer location for the school.

Proposed parking changes

New P3/P120 parking restrictions are proposed for Oxford Street opposite Winchester Street. With the relocation of the current Oxford Street bus stop, there is an opportunity to extend the P3/P120 parking restrictions in this area. These proposed restrictions will assist the pick-up/drop-off for Lyttelton School, and for daytime visitors to the school and surrounding attractions. The two resident parking spaces on Oxford Street will be relocated (please see plan below).

To improve visibility for pedestrians, crossing the roads, and for passengers getting on and off the bus, we are proposing to remove some on street parking on:

- Winchester Street near the new proposed crossing
- North and south of the new proposed bus stop on Oxford Street
- At the Oxford Street, London Street and Sumner Road intersection

With the proposed removal of the two existing bus stops, five on street parking spaces will become available, with three additional spaces adjacent to the Lyttelton School playing field. As a result of the extension of the no stopping for visibility there will be five fewer parks overall.
