Norman Kirk Swimming Pool

Closed for Summer 2011/2012

Many residents have contacted the council of late to find out the status of the Lyttelton Pool for this summer. Some concerned residents offered their help to fix the pool because many people thought the problem was merely the change rooms. Paula Smith our Community Board Chair has responded to email concerns by saying:

"As I understand it the issue is not damage to the pool itself or the changing sheds, but land stability. There is evidence of subsidence at the site [for example you can see cracks in the retaining wall along the lane up to Project Lyttelton]. If the pool is filled the weight of the water will increase the load and may result in further damage. An in depth geotechnical investigation is required and it may be some time before this work can be done."

Correspondence from the Christchurch City Council's Recreation and Sport Manager further confirms "The Lyttelton swimming pool needs a detailed structural engineering assessment and geotechnical analysis. The pool plant and tank appear to be in reasonable condition. The buildings are cracked and will need repair to meet new building code standards. Of most concern are the widening cracks in the retaining walls and the stability of the site as it is on a steep hill. Site stability will be aggravated by the weight of a full pool tank. This work is currently scheduled to begin in the new year. We will keep you advised."

Paula has suggested that Christchurch City Council could investigate some water activities for Corsair Bay for the summer. The Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board would be interested to know if residents think this would be a good idea. Paula can be contacted on famvanbeynen@snap.net.nz or you could drop into the London St Dairy and have a chat with Andrew Turner.

There is better news regarding the pool at Governors Bay. John Filsell, the City Council's Recreation and Sport manager advised that, "We have made good progress on this pool. This remaining issue involves an unstable concrete wall on the property boundary. We are working with City Care and a neighbour to remove the wall and replace with a fence or a temporary fence to allow use over summer".

So while the Lyttelton pool is out of action this summer, Governors Bay pool looks like an option and some organised swimming activities at Corsair Bay are some swimming options for Harbour residents this summer.

Sail the Harbour Seas

Escape for a few Hours

What better way to experience the natural beauty of the Lyttelton Harbour and the Port Hills than from a majestic Classic Yacht on Lyttelton Harbour?

If you've ever cast your eye across the Lyttelton Harbour and wondered how magical it must be to own a yacht to sail around the harbour on a sun soaked day, pausing for lunch in a sheltered bay - then read on.

Aboard the 1902 Gaff Rig Yacht "Oyster" you will be safe hands with the well experienced skipper Mike Rossouw, of Jack Jar Sailing, who can take you and up to five friends for an inner harbour sailing experience like no other.

"Oyster" was a very successful racing yacht and won many races including the New Year's Day race at Kaiteriteri three years in a row. Having changed ownership multiple times, it was in 1977 when she was finally restored, undoing the alterations which had taken place in Oyster's long history.

In September 1998, she caught the eye of Skipper Mike Rossouw who the following year purchased her and with the help of two friends, sailed her down the coast to Lyttelton. After receiving her Survey Certificate from the Maritime Safety Association, Oyster was ready for her new role as a charter yacht in January 2000.

Experience first hand what it is like to sail an old sail boat. Once you are out on the water, you will have the chance to see the beautiful scenery of Lyttelton Harbour, sailing around small bays and islands. If you're lucky, you might even catch a glimpse of dolphins swimming alongside the boat.

Take a full day; or book a half day to explore further around Lyttelton and its immediate bays. Take the time to call by Rapaki or Quail Islands, and enjoy a sheltered anchorage for lunch. Tea and coffee are provided however you will need to pack a picnic lunch or take a look at the tasty picnic baskets on offer for a quick and easy lunch option.

Or for something very special, book one of the romantic evening cruises - complete with a picnic basket, champagne and the tranquillity of sailing across the harbour, the experience is bound to deliver copious amounts of brownie points with your loved one.

Naturally trip routes and availability is weather dependent. Take on the adventure of trying something new. Book a tour with Mike and enjoy an adventure and a yarn.

Our Precious Water

Banks Peninsula Zone Committee

With talk of meaningful partnerships in Lyttelton at centre stage these past weeks, it was a joy to hear from Yvette Couch-Lewis and her cousin Donald Couch, both from Rapaki, about the newly formed Banks Peninsula Zone Committee for the Canterbury Water Management Strategy.

Yvette's eyes were sparkling with energy as we asked her why she was so excited about this role. "It's because for the first time we have all the differing views around the table. We will all be able to hear each other and as a team work our way through the complex issues. This should be meaningful and have real outcomes. It's a real partnership approach".

So what is this committee all about? What is it going to be looking at? We are told it's all about improving water quality within the Banks Peninsula; so we asked if it also included the sea zones? They explained that where the streams met the sea, this was where they were focused on.

Environmental restoration will also be a key part of the committee work. Yvette explained that they are fortunate to have $100,000 that the committee will be able to apply to various stream projects around the Peninsula. She was really excited about that and you could see her mind dreaming of all the possibilities.

Donald whilst not as outwardly excited as his cousin explained that he was apart of this process because he really cares about fresh water quality and this is his home.

To date Donald said the committee had only met twice. "There is a long way to go before all the priorities are finalised but they had started general discussions about things that might be considered from the earthquake impacts on springs and streams to the amount of potable water available for settlements and harbour sedimentation".

Water quality differs through out the Peninsula. Some places don't have "town" water like many places around Lyttelton Harbour. In many of the smaller settlements and places around Akaroa Harbour drinking water comes from the local streams. Quantity and quality of this water is a big issue.

This new committee is comprised of five community members, four Runanga representatives and two council representatives. Donald is represented via his role as Environment Canterbury Commissioner and Yvette has been selected to be a community member of the team. That in itself is a lovely outcome as Yvette of Nghi Tahu descent, is representing the broader community.

If water quality is of interest to you the committee wants to hear from you and will be engaging both formally and informally with the public.

Brief History of Holy Trinity

Excerpts from the Last Service
by Vicar Neil Struthers on October 9 2011

The beginnings of establishing an Anglican Parish in Lyttelton originated in England with the forming of the Canterbury Association and the proposal that the area should become an Anglican settlement. The Parish dates from the arrival of the Canterbury Pilgrims in 1850.

The first church was designed by Benjamin Mountford and appears to have been built on the site of the present vicarage. It was completed in nine months and was consecrated in January 1853, but then abandoned after only six months use as it was found to be structurally unsound, having been built of green totara and rimu timber.

When it was demolished in 1857 some of the timber was saved and it formed the interior roof lining of the present church. Today we find the collapsed walls were originally supporting this structure and the only remaining Benjamin Mountford design is the pulpit donated by the Ladies committee in 1885.

Holy Trinity was the oldest stone church in Canterbury. It was constructed of red porphyry, a volcanic stone from the Sumner Road Quarry. Unfortunately it was very porous and inclined to deteriorate as seen over the past century. The side walls were about ten feet high and two feet thick. The angles of the walls, buttresses, door jambs and window frames are of sandstone from Quail Island. The roof was originally shingled, but these were covered over with iron in 1884 and finally taken down in the 1970's when the roof was restored with long run iron.

Various articles brought out in 1850 on the "First Four Ships" are still in the Parish's possession to this day, they are; Three chalices and patens, two Glastonbury sanctuary chairs, a wrought iron alms box, a lectern bible, several prayer books, and possibly the credence table. The four large parchment tables showing "The Ten Commandments, The Lord's Prayer and the Creed" are still in storage at the McDougall Art Gallery building and they will be restored over a period of time. Finally there is the Church bell which along with the belfry has been taken down from the building and will remain on the church lawn until demolition takes place.

The organ built in England by Gray and Davidson was erected in 1865 and remains within the building with wrap around it to keep it secure from elements, its future is at present under negotiation.

The beautiful 1860 Corona, which is the best example of Victorian brass work in New Zealand, originally holding 40 candles but electrified in 1924, has had its 610 pieces of hand-wrought brass unscrewed and has gone into storage along with the Altar.

There is just so much history in this church which has been preserved and although many Lyttelton residents may not be regular worshippers, or in fact even Anglicans, they continue to be very protective of this historic landmark in the community and therefore, serious decisions and conclusions have to be made for the near future.

Since the June 13th earthquake the church building has completely collapsed. It is hoped much of the beautiful totara and kauri timbers can be salvaged along with any other valuable items which remain.

Walking Group

Health, Fitness and Fun

Still wanting to walk but finding the options a bit limited with the hillside tracks closed? How about getting out and exploring more of the township? Maggie Button from the Lyttelton Recreation Centre and Wendy Everingham from the Lyttelton Information Centre are trying to identify new walking opportunities within Lyttelton.

Are you interested in walking for enjoyment, recreation, learning or companionship?
Are you looking for walks for young families, school age children, older adults?

We have several ideas for walking opportunities, such as, “Walking and Talking” with a guide. This could be with someone who knows about heritage, plants, birds etc. We could re-run the Discover Lyttelton walking series. This proved really popular with primary school children and parents several years ago. We walked around various sections of the township, up and down the steps and discovered all sorts of interesting places. We did this with the great snakes and ladders walking map that was developed for Lyttelton.

Wendy and Maggie are open to any ideas that make walking attractive for you. If you are interested to join a group, let us know what you’d like and when it suits you and we will endeavour to establish a programme.

Sharing Resources for Rebuilding

Collectively Gathering and Sharing Information

Many of us are facing repairs or rebuilding after the earthquakes. And in many cases we are all going to require the same information. Rather than individually going around gathering information, we thought it would be good if we could share the information being sourced.

Claire Findlay popped into the Information Centre recently to start a conversation on what these shared resources might be. She identified a series of ideas from seminars, support groups, individual research to building web resources. With a quick brainstorm we came up with some ideas for a seminar series:

- Sustainable products – solar hot water systems, energy efficient appliances, heating
- Re-Cladding – what products are available
- Requirements of the Building Code
- Historic Places Trust requirements for the Lyttelton Heritage Area
- Who do you choose to re-build – the insurers builders or your own?
- What energy ratings should we be aiming for with new and existing houses?
- What are your options if you don’t have insurance?
- What do you do if site access isn’t easy?
- What does replacement value mean for your insurance company?
- What other issues have you identified that a group could benefit from?
- Would you like to be part of a support group?
- Have you already got some research that you could share with a wider group?
- Can you recommend some existing and useful web resources?

We welcome any ideas you have to make these shared resources available. If you have any ideas on how we can share/collect knowledge and information please get in touch. The more informed we are the better decisions we can all make. Please contact the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre if you can contribute to any of these ideas.

Lyttelton Menz Shed

Coal Storage

Lyttelton Port Company

Ken Maynard from the Lyttelton Community Association updates us on the Lyttelton Port Company resource consent application to expand the coal storage facilities:

“The Port Company applied for resource consent to reclaim up to 10ha of harbour to expand its coal pile. The application was referred directly to the Environment Court instead of first being heard by Council, with submissions by interested parties. Then we had the earthquakes. Lyttelton Port Company are now busy trying to recover from serious damage, and keep their current operations going. They are not currently in a position to progress their application for coal pile expansion (though the current reclamation permitted by an order-in-council for general cargo is proceeding).”

At a pre-hearing conference, the judge gave them 6 months to progress the application and indicated she would probably not be willing to defer it further.

Meanwhile, Lyttelton Port Company have submitted an application to Environment Canterbury to extend the existing coal pile landward. We do not know at this point whether the application will be notified.”

OOPS..! Clarification Required

Hearings Process for Draft Lyttelton Master Plan

Andrew Turner, from the Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board, has brought to our attention that an article in last week's Lyttelton Review had misrepresented the Council's decision: As stated in the Council minutes, it was resolved that the Council "receives a consultation report on submissions on the draft Lyttelton Master Plan, and in conjunction with the Community Board, will consider whether to conduct hearings prior to approving the final version of the Master Plan".

The Lyttelton Review article stated that the "Community Board can determine if hearings are required." It is possible that the Community Board might request and recommend that hearings take place, but despite that, it is possible that the Council could theoretically still determine hearings not be held. The final decision of whether or not to hold hearings, can only be made by the Christchurch City Council.

Farmers Market Returns to School

Plans go Back to the Drawing Board

Despite all the best laid plans the earthquake effect strikes again, as news is released that the Lyttelton Farmers Market will not be relocating to the Lyttelton Port Company car park in the foreseeable future.

Further engineering assessments have raised safety concerns over the Lyttelton Port Company administration building, located on the corner of Norwich Quay and Dublin Street. Although the building has held up well after the major aftershocks of September 2010, February 2011, June 2011, and the significant aftershock sequence, it now appears that there have been longer term impacts on the building's structural integrity.

As a result, it is simply not feasible for the Lyttelton Farmers Market to relocate to the Lyttelton Port Company car park.

"The Lyttelton Port Company had been looking forward to hosting the Farmers Market and regrets that the car park can no longer be made available due to safety concerns," says Chief Executive Peter Davie. "However, people's safety and that of the community is paramount."

"Naturally the Farmers Market team and Vendors are disappointed that the move will be delayed, but completely agree with the Lyttelton Port Company that safety is paramount" says market manager, Lynnette Baird. "These are extraordinary times, and circumstances outside of everyone's control can change even the best laid plans. We thank the Lyttelton Port Company for their honest and open communication, in what must be a challenging period in their corporate history."

The Lyttelton Farmers Market team, together with the Lyttelton Main School are re-investigating options for the Farmers Market. Until further notice, the Lyttelton Farmers Market can be found at the Lyttelton Main School every Saturday morning.

Geotechnical Fact Sheets

Released by Christchurch City Council

The Port Hills suffered significant earthquake damage as a result of recent earthquakes. Assessments of the level of damage and decisions around the future of the land are ongoing. Several hundred homes remain at risk of rock fall, cliff collapse or other geotechnical issues and notices have been issued under the Building Act prohibiting entry because of the danger. The Port Hills Geotechnical Group - a consortium of geotechnical engineers contracted to the Christchurch City Council - is working in the hills to assess the damage and carry out emergency response work.

Two new fact sheets regarding the risk decision making process and retaining walls have been released by the Christchurch City Council, and can be downloaded from:

What is Time Banking?

Time Banking is a way of trading skills in a community. It uses time, rather than money, as the measurement tool. Members of a Time Bank share their skills with other members within the community and are given time credits for the work they do. With the credits they gain, each member can 'buy' someone else's time, and get the service they need.

Why Join Lyttelton Time Bank?

Time Banking adds a richness to Time Bankers' lives. As a concept it brings 'wealth', in the form of friendship, caring for one another, having our needs met from within our own community and getting help with things we can't do. Skills that are often taken for granted are valued - especially non-market economy skills - like mothering, basic home help and caring, friendliness, listening.

In Lyttelton as a result of the Time Bank we can see a tighter community forming. Friendships are forming between people of different backgrounds who would not usually have met. The elderly are being cared for and the skills they share are valued. Special needs people are encouraged to participate. Time Banking builds relationships and trust in a community. Everyone has something they can contribute to the wellbeing of the whole.

Everyone's Time is Equal

With Time Banking everybody's time is equal, no matter what type of work is done. 1 = 1. If you give one hour's work, you receive one hour time credit. If you have another member do one hour's work, they are paid one hour time credit. Every person is equally valued.

Here are a few examples of what Lyttelton Harbour residents are giving and receiving this week - can you help?

Website creator or marketing person - I need help to update my website with some good graphics. If you have any marketing experience that would be great and I'm happy to swap for alexander lessons or timebank dollars. - says Belinda

Cooking and Baking - We would like a friend to come and help us with cooking and baking. Please phone Tiri at 3289579 to arrange. - says James

Jazz Piano Lessons - It would be really great to have someone assist my son with his Piano Jazz lessons. We currently travel to the other side of town, and it would be great if we could do this locally. - says Belinda

We make fresh organic ice cream that we would love to share with others. The current flavours we have are caramel, chocolate, and vanilla that we can do in 500g freeze-able glass jars. We could also do a trade?? eggs for ice cream? milled flour for ice cream?? - says Christy & Giulio

Can You Help? Or How Can We Help You?

If you can help with any of these requests, or would like to include a request of your own, please contact the Time Bank team.
