REVIEW CREATORS

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a voluntary led community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by former Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community and funder the Rata Foundation.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

DIAMOND HARBOUR TURNS PAGE ON LONGER LIBRARY HOURS

Diamond Harbour Library will be open six days a week from Monday, 26 August.

At present, the popular community hub is only open for short periods on Tuesdays, Thursday, Fridays and Saturday.

However, the move to a six-day operation – Monday to Saturday – follows extra funding approval under the Christchurch City Council Annual Plan.

The Diamond Harbour Library opening hours will be extended to six days a week from 26 August.

The library – also known as Te Kete Wānanga o Waipapa – in Waipapa Avenue will also be open for longer on Fridays (2pm to 6pm) and Saturdays (10am to 1pm).

Council Acting Community Libraries Manager Lisa Peterson says local residents have put a very strong case for six-day-a-week access, highlighting the important role the library plays in the community.

"We are so pleased to be able to respond to the demand for increased hours from the Diamond Harbour community – a move supported in the recent Annual Plan," Ms Peterson says.

"The extension of the Diamond Harbour Library hours opens up a special hub to the wider community, encouraging greater local interaction and an opportunity for more connections.

"For smaller areas like Diamond Library, the library is integral to community well-being. By opening the doors for longer, many more people will be able to benefit from all that the library offers."

Diamond Harbour Library will be open during the following hours:

Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays - 2pm to 6pm

Wednesdays and Thursdays - 10am to 2pm

Saturdays - 10am to 1pm

STAY A STEP AHEAD WITH EARLY CHRISTCHURCH WALKING FESTIVAL SPOT

Get ready to stride into spring by booking a spot for The Breeze Walking Festival.

Festival programmes will be available at Christchurch City Council libraries and Service Centres or <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/news-and-events/whats-on/?programme=7%2F&start=0%20> from 19 August.

While about half the festival walks require bookings, you can simply join the other walks on the day. Celebrate spring with a Walking Festival wander over the hills.

Bookings open on 26 August as the festival steps up again this year with more than 50 walks on offer between 28 September and 13 October.

Council Head of Community Support, Governance and Partnerships John Filsell says “a wealth of walks are in our own backyards”.

“We literally have a Walking Festival on our doorstep, offering a path to exploration in a beautiful natural environment across greater Christchurch and Selwyn and stretching up to Waimakariri,” Mr Filsell says.

“People can walk while they talk, focus on fitness and saunter along some amazing tracks and pathways – all while staying close to home but learning more about their region.”

Among this year’s festival highlights are several family friendly feature walks, including a Dogs’ Day Out in the Zone on 29 September, Gruffalo Explorers (2 October), The Generation Game at Travis Wetland (6 October), Pukeko Stomp (8 October) and Adventure on Te Ara Ihutai Christchurch Coastal Pathway (13 October).

Dog treats, activities and stalls all add to the Dogs’ Day Out, with pets gathering at Richmond Community Gardens in preparation for putting their best paws forward.

With Gruffalo Explorers, youngsters can meet new friends as families enjoy a self-guided walk through Bottle Lake Forest. However, beware of the Gruffalo. You can easily recognise the forest dweller by his “terrible tusks, and terrible claws”.

All roads lead to McLeans Island for the popular Pukeko Stomp. Young adventurers can explore the forest and stomp their way through mud, or try their hand at hut building, flax weaving and mud cake creation.

You can also enjoy one of the festival’s special new walks with a wander along Te Ara Ihutai Christchurch Coastal Pathway towards Sumner Beach.

For more information, pick up a programme or check out the walks <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/news-and-events/whats-on/?programme=7%2F&start=0%20>

INTERVIEW WITH THE CANDIDATES

Now all the names are in and we can begin to make our choices for the upcoming Community Board and ECAN elections. The Review decided to pose some quick questions to the candidates for us as a community to see what their thoughts are for the role and our Harbour.

This edition we speak to the Community Board candidates and next edition will be an opportunity to see what the ECAN candidates have to say.

TYRONE FIELDS

Q: What is your connection with Banks Peninsula?

A: Ko Te Ahu Patiki te maunga
Ko Whakaraupō te moana

I have been lucky enough to swim, surf, cycle, walk, camp, play football, love and live on Banks Peninsula. Lyttelton is my home. Being Deputy Chair of the Banks Peninsula Community Board has been brilliant, and I have heaps more to give.

Q: What is the most important thing you would like to achieve on during your time on The Community Board?

A: It's all important. I just want to do a good job with a strong team, and make sure there is continuity for future boards and governance on the Peninsula.

Q: What are the current issues that that worry you the most?

A: I'm not a worrier by nature but thinking about the world I would like for my children helps me prioritise. Health of the harbour and heritage have always been front and centre, and other challenges have emerged recently such as the care of our parks, and community safety. Some things need attention more than others and you just get on and deal with them – patience and persistence are essential.

WENDY EVERINGHAM

Q: What is your connection with Banks Peninsula?

A: I have lived in Lyttelton since 2003. I know Lyttelton Harbour communities well. I also have connections with Little River and Akaroa Harbour communities.

Q: What is the most important thing you would like to achieve on during your time on The Community Board?

A: The most important achievement for me is getting more people actively participating in community life. The power of community is amazing. When we work together we are capable of creating amazing things. I have first-hand experience of that.

Q: What are the current issues that that worry you the most?

A: The issue that concerns me most is less concern for local democracy. Some people don't see a need to participate in the democratic process. Whilst democracy isn't perfect, it's all that we have to make our collective decisions. Past generations fought hard for it and I believe we have an obligation to value and protect it. Whilst the processes around our councils might seem obscure, if followed correctly and with our input they provide a basis for good decision making. Please have your say, vote and participate.

Disclaimer: Our lovely editor Wendy Everingham has handed over the editing chores to Ruth Targus for any content relating to up coming Community Board Elections.

REUBEN DAVIDSON

Q: What is your connection with the Banks Peninsula?

A: I was born in Christchurch and spent much of my childhood in Lyttelton as my father lived in Port. It was always an exciting place to be, with activity at all hours and the challenge of trying to hold your breath through the tunnel on the way in and out. When I moved back into the harbour over 5 years ago I immediately felt at home. I love the hills, the harbour and the community and I am very happy to call this amazing place home.

Q: What is the most important thing you would like to achieve on during your time on The Community Board?

A: I believe the purpose of the Community Board is to listen and engage with residents and be a strong voice for local issues. The most important achievement for me would be that the Lyttelton community feel heard, represented, and served.

Q: What are the current issues that worry you the most?

A: My concerns are the same as those raised at our public meetings and in conversation with fellow residents. Our community needs to feel safer, our infrastructure needs future proofing, and our harbour environment needs care and protection.

PLASTICS PROJECT AT LPC

Headed up by The Institute of Environmental Science and Research (ESR) the Aotearoa Impacts and Mitigation of Microplastics project is taking place in sites across the country, including Lyttelton.

You may have seen ESR research scientist Olga Pantos and her team on the Waterfront House pontoon, which is where one of the pilot trials is taking place.

“To investigate what is happening to the plastics that get into our oceans, and what this means for our environment, we are doing controlled experiments by putting known plastics out into the sea and looking at what settles and grows on them, what chemical pollutants concentrate up on them, and the changes that occur to the plastic itself,” says Olga.

There is estimated to be over 15 trillion pieces of microplastic debris in the world’s oceans, 80 per cent of which originate from land-based activities.

Worldwide there is increasing public and regulatory concern about the impact of microplastics on our environment, food, and health.

“Differences in the properties of different plastics may affect how they interact with biota and their impacts on the environment,” says Olga.

“To address this we are using a range of different plastics in our experiment.

“The pilot study we are currently running has two commonly used plastics, which are also commonly found in the marine environment; nylon (e.g. cable ties) and polyethylene (e.g. plastic bags).

“These plastics will be left out for three months, with samples taken for analysis at three times over this period.”

LPC’s Environment and Planning Manager Kim Kelleher says her team is excited to be involved.

“We know our teams here at the Port care for the harbour and are really concerned about plastic pollution, so this is a great opportunity for us to help out with this important research.”

LPC is proud to be involved in this project, and we will keep you updated with any developments and research findings.

PENINSULA ART AUCTION

3-4 AUGUST, LYTTELTON
WWW.PENINSULA-ART.CO.NZ

LIGHTS, HAMMER, AUCTION! PENINSULA ART AUCTION RAISES $40,000

Christchurch's arts cognoscenti descended on Lyttelton for the eighth edition of the biennial Peninsula Art Auction on 3-4 August, which attracted 160 works from 90 artists with a Banks Peninsula connection. More than $90,000 of artworks were sold, raising more than $40,000 for Lyttelton Primary School.

On Sunday evening, around 300 artists, buyers and sponsors gathered for the Gala Evening and Live Auction of 25 prime works, as selected by the curators Hannah Beehre and Sarah Amazinnia, and the conclusion of the silent auction. Spirited bidding ensued under the humorous direction of MC and auctioneer Joe Bennett for works by highly regarded artists including Jason Greig, Ben Reid, Roger Hickin and, most notably, Bill Hammond, who has contributed to the Auction from its inception and this year donated two ink on paper drawings of Lyttelton's Cornwall Road.

The exhibition of the full catalogue of works drew a strong crowd and silent auction bidders throughout the weekend to the upper level of Lyttelton Primary School - the transformation of classrooms and library into a black-panelled and professionally-lit art gallery astounding visitors. Among many other well-established artists supporting the Auction were Stephanie Crisp, Gill Hay, Stuart Clook, Dorothy Shrimpton, Jacqui Gibbs Chamberlain, John Maillard, Kate M McRae, Helen Taylor, Mark Soltero, and James Robinson.

For the first time in the biennial event's history, works by Lyttelton Primary School pupils were among the silent auction lots and an Art Week was held in the lead-up to the weekend where local artists worked in residence at School and instructed workshops involving every student. Another first was the introduction of a Children's Choice Award, which went to Barbi Larkins (Woof) with runners-up Fred Tunnicliffe (Spotted Flycatcher Babies) and Hannah Beehre (Lightsaber).

The Auction is organised by Lyttelton Education Charitable Trust, run entirely by volunteers. Event coordinator, and school parent, Claire Coates commented: "The Peninsula Art Auction has grown significantly over its 16 years and the calibre this year was just amazing. I was particularly thrilled we realised a long-held goal to introduce the children's elements and to receive such tremendous support from even more artists, our wonderful curators and auctioneer, and our sponsors, who help us cover the overheads of hosting such a stimulating and sophisticated, yet fun event to benefit the children of Lyttelton."

"A huge thank you to Claire and her team who put in hundreds of hours of voluntary work to make this incredible community initiative the success it is," says Brendan Wright, the principal of Lyttelton Primary School. "The generous donation received through the Peninsula Art Auction supports the children of Lyttelton Primary School by contributing to initiatives in the arts, science, literacy and technology."

LYTTELTON ARMS PLANTING DAY

It was a cold wet day on Sunday in August as I drove up to Foster Terrace to meet with the Lyttelton Arms planting crew. There were about twelve already up the track preparing for a couple of hours planting. Brian Downey and Wendy Everingham had organized an area up the track and had measured out wooden spikes up the bank where the little native trees from the nursery had been arranged for planting.

It's not a simple matter of just digging a hole and popping the plant in. A clearing has to be made and being up the bank a ledge is formed and flattened out and then a hole is dug deep and wide enough for the roots of the plant to settle in with enough space to spread out. The hole is then filled and patted down.

Grass and weeds are then gathered and placed around the tree leaving room for it to peek out and have the sun. Also this method mulches and protects the little tree.

Brian demonstrated to all the way of planting and everyone enjoyed the time and satisfaction of each planting their trees and knowing that one day it will bring pleasure to people walking Urumau Track. (That's my planting lesson for today).

Years of planting and attention has now given Lyttelton this lovely spot to walk and enjoy the peace, beauty and all the birds that have settled up there: Tui, Bellbirds, Fantails, Wood Pigeons and many more.

Years ago when I was a young girl there were just paddocks below the plantation, no trees at all the way down to the cemetery.

Spring is on the way so for an awesome walk, take a lunch and admire the trees and the track and also the beautiful view of Lyttelton's township and the houses on the hills and our lovely harbor.

After all the planting on that Sunday we all met at the Lyttelton Arms for refreshments and pizza and chips.

A most enjoyable day was had by all.

SUMMER WITH YOUR NEIGHBOURS

Summer with your neighbours (formerly known as Neighbourhood Week) is set up to bring people together and now runs for the entire summer. From 8 July 2019 you can apply for funding for your local gathering.

Have you ever wanted to organise a neighbourhood gathering? Do you want to get to know the people who live close to you? Perhaps you've always wanted to put on a potluck for the whole street.

Summer with your neighbours is about bringing people closer together, and celebrating the unique and diverse mix of each neighbourhood. Neighbourhood Week was the brainchild of the Shirley-Papanui Community Board (now known as the Papanui-Innes Community Board), which held the first event in 1998. It is a popular event that has grown from year to year and is promoted by the Christchurch City Council. Three years ago we extended the event for the whole summer after feedback from our applicants and it is now known as Summer with your neighbours.

COGS - COMMUNITY ORGANISATION GRANT SCHEME - LOCAL DISTRIBUTION COMMITTEE ELECTIONS ARE HAPPENING

Nominations are now open for the 2019 Community Organisation Grants Scheme (COGS) Local Distribution Committee (LDC) elections. Nominations close Friday 30 August 2019. COGS provides grants to non-profit community organisations delivering community-based social services throughout Aotearoa New Zealand.

This maybe for you if you:

- Would like to contribute your experience, skills and knowledge to support your community?

- Have a good understanding of the needs of your community?
- Want to see good funding outcomes for your community?
- Would like to be involved in deciding where to direct Crown funding in your community?

There are 37 LDCs around the country who make annual COGS funding decisions guided by local priorities. Each LDC is made up of volunteers elected by their community. Every three years, community organisations have the opportunity to decide the make-up of their local LDC membership through the LDC election process.

Serving on an LDC is a rewarding experience. It gives members an opportunity to decide how Crown funding can be used to enable and support the valuable services community groups deliver within the community. Members also gain skills and experience in planning, team work, leadership and decision-making. Membership of an LDC requires a commitment of approximately 80 – 100 hours year, which includes attending up to four meetings per year. Each LDC member completes a three-year term.

Voting for LDC members will be made by community organisations from Monday, 23 September to Friday, 11 October 2019. The elections results will be announced in late October 2019.

You can read more about LDC member role and responsibilities, and the LDC election process at https://www.communitymatters.govt.nz/ask-us/view/1585?t=123944_166472 or phone Trish Hughes on 027 557 1046 or by email trish.hughes@dia.govt.nz or phone Julia Cleland on 027 557 1116 or by email Julia.Cleland@dia.govt.nz.

COMMUNITY HOUSE PLASTIC FREE MEALS

Lyttelton Community House (LCH) is proud of its new initiative to reduce plastic waste. LCH runs a meals service which home-delivers healthy, freshly cooked meals to residents in the Lyttelton, Bays and Heathcote areas. Since April, LCH has stopped using single use plastic meal containers and instead delivers meals in reusable glass containers with reusable lids. Glass containers were favoured over plastic containers, because as well as being microwave-, oven- and dishwasher proof, they are attractive to use. The reusable glass containers are popular with customers, who are keen to help the environment. If you are interested in ordering a meal, the meals are $8.50/each. Phone 741 1427 or email facilitator@lytteltoncommunityhouse.org.nz

COMPUTERS FOR THE COMMUNITY

As a result of the Christchurch City Council's replacement programme we have some personal computers and a limited number of laptops surplus to our requirements. As part of our commitment to the community and in recognising the value of community organisations, rather than selling these computers we would like to offer them free of charge to not-for-profit community groups who would use them to support their local community. For more information please email maryanne.lomax@ccc.govt.nz.

SAFELY DISPOSE OF UNWANTED BATTERIES

Wanting to dispose of unwanted batteries safely? Check out the Christchurch City Council's free battery recycling scheme available from 13 May 2019.

Why recycle batteries?

Batteries contain numerous components that are bad for the environment. If put in wheelie bins, batteries can potentially harm staff and members of the public. Batteries deteriorate if not in use and can become hazardous. Collecting batteries before they deteriorate means they can be recycled appropriately, saving valuable components for reuse and reducing the risk to people and the environment.

For more details please see attached or visit <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/services/rubbish-and-recycling/disposal/batteryrecycling/#12/-43.5308/172.6363>

WASTE WATER PROJECT

The project team recently used a 100 tonne mobile crane to lift a 17 tonne, 600,000 litre stainless steel buffer tank into position on our site at Cashin Quay. They've finished welding the tank, which will then be cast into the concrete foundation below, and next they'll fill the tank up with water and conduct a leak test. This buffer tank installation is part of the measures to ensure that we can control overflows during high rainfall events.

Once complete, all of the harbour's wastewater will be redirected to the main Christchurch wastewater treatment plant in Bromley. This will help improve the health of our harbour for current and future generations to enjoy.

You can find more information about the Lyttelton Harbour Wastewater Project on the Council website or sign up to their monthly e-newsletter by emailing infrastructurenews@ccc.govt.nz Vegetables can be collected Wednesday 12- 4pm and Thursday 10-4pm. Veggies are paid in advance weekly. If you would like to sign up please get in touch with Jill Larking 0272374960.

PLANTING TO BEGIN ON SUMNER ROAD

From next week, teams will start the final planting on the steep slopes above Sumner Road, finishing off the Sumner Road re-opening project.

Thousands of native trees and plants will be planted to rebuild and expand plant and wildlife habitat affected by rockfall risk mitigation works in the Crater Rims Bluffs above Sumner Road. Planting also helps slope stability of areas above the road.

The teams will start stage one of the planting on Monday 26 August, going through until the end of October. Once nursery plant stocks have replenished, they'll go back again in May and June next year to finish off the planting.

Traffic impacts

To keep the planting teams and people travelling the road safe while the planting is being done, traffic management will be in place on parts of the upper section of Sumner Road for approximately two to three weeks across the planting operation period. Small sections of the road will go down to one lane, with stop/go management. We will work to keep any delays as short as possible, likely a maximum of a few minutes.

Due to the steep terrain, helicopters are being used to drop the plants to points where they will be collected by the planters on foot. Mountain biking and walking tracks at Evans Pass, west of Sumner Road, may be closed for short periods of time on weekdays on the occasional day the helicopter needs to land around that area to deliver the plants.

If you have any queries or concerns about the work, please get in touch with David Roth, from Red Tree Environmental Solutions Limited, on 021 058 4338 between 7am and 6pm, Monday to Friday.

COLLETT'S CORNER PROGRESSES

It was the inaugural AGM of Collett's Corner shareholders on Tuesday 20th August. The meeting was addressed by founder Camia Young. There has been lots of progress. Shareholders were presented with the new information package for the tenanted and owner occupied areas of the building and Vicki Tahu Paton has been appointed as the sales person for the complex.

The building has morphed significantly from the original design and this has been due to CCC planning rules. The original materials were deemed not to fit with the character of Lyttelton. Now the façade of the building is made from corrugated iron and tile. The colour was chosen to reflect the Bill Hammond color palette. The bulk of the building has also been reduced and now there are four pods within the entire structure rather than one single façade.

The complex is scheduled to open in 2022.

BACK TO THE PRESENT

STORY CHATS DUNCAN

I rolled over to look at the bedside clock on her side. Ten-thirty am, another Sunday to fill. Stretching my aching shoulder, the result of showing off on the ski field, I sat up and thought about Jude. She said it was Karma.

'I'm meant to re-live my life, Bob. I'm in a time wormhole.' I still couldn't believe it. We'd married early, Jude was just nineteen and me twenty-one. Our fifteen years together had been blissfully happy. Until now. Jude had visited a car-boot sale with a girlfriend, bringing home various items. A large earthenware pot, which she later planted with daffodils for our decking. An old chisel set for me, in a leather pouch, which I like. Some attractive hand-made tea towels and an old brass bedside alarm clock.

'It's so cute, I couldn't resist it, Darling.' Indeed, she couldn't resist it, polishing it practically every day.

'You're like Aladdin polishing his magic lamp,' I joked. But I liked the old timepiece too. It had two brass shaped bell strikers on top, its ring seemed to recall past days. Two weeks passed before I noticed the change in Jude. Always attractive, she seemed to blossom with an inner glow. I praised her new looks and asked if she had changed her brand of makeup?

'No, I'm changing inside,' she replied. By the turn of the month I followed my mother's advice and suggested Jude should see our doctor. After a thorough check-up he assured us that my wife was not pregnant and in good health. Sorry Mum, but we remain childless.

Four months later Jude looked years younger. I was dumbfounded. My firm's Christmas dinner was due. She went shopping for new clothes to wear, returning with what was more of a teenage outfit. I suggested it wasn't in keeping with her age.

'That's typical of you, Bob, you're so old fashioned and out-of-date, this is the new me.' I watched as she paraded herself at the company dinner, surrounded by male and female admirers, all eager to know her secret. I realised that I was no longer in tune with my wife, as her looks led her to more youthful pursuits. She teamed up with an eighteen-year-old niece who loved dancing. Gradually we drifted apart, we had nothing left in common.

'I'm sorry things have turned out this way, Bob, but it's for the best.' She packed her bags and left. I was devastated and could not sleep at night. Looking for solutions I shifted to Jude's side of the bed and her softer pillow. Noticing her bedside clock had gathered dust I gave it a quick rub over. That night I slept soundly and have continued to do so. Some months passed and being a typical male, I hardly ever look at myself in the mirror. My younger brother, recently returned from overseas, was the first to notice and comment.

'Man, what are you taking, you look so much younger? Later that day I inspected myself in the bathroom mirror. What a pleasant surprise! I had indeed shed years, my hair was black again. I visited my mother. The last time I was there was just after Jude split.

'Hi, Mum.'

'Robert, is it you? You're looking young, son.' Close neighbours, I'd known since my childhood, were summoned to inspect my rejuvenation. They were all impressed. No, I told them, I wasn't taking any expensive treatment, but confided I did sleep well. My injured shoulder no longer ached. Time to catch up with my wife, as we were now compatible in age. Her girlfriend had kept in touch with Jude and passed on her address to me. Most people like surprises, and I was about to give Jude the surprise of her life. I pressed the doorbell and stood back. The door opened to reveal an older woman.

'Can I help you?'

'Sorry I was expecting... good grief, it's you, Jude,' I stammered.

'Yes, it is, and here you are looking all young and handsome again.' She smiled and ushered me in. I was speechless.

'You'd better sit down, Bob, before you fall over.' I complied with a hundred questions buzzing around inside my head. Jude sat down beside me.

'Jude, look I'm sorry, but you took me by surprise, I...'

'Yeah well, me too. It happened overnight some months back. Just wham! I was back to normal. I couldn't believe it myself at first. I had to quit my job in real estate, as I no longer fitted their youthful image.'

'That was cruel, Jude.' We talked for most of the night and agreed to return together to our Governors Bay home. Once there, my first job was to smash that dreadful clock into small pieces and dump it in the red bin. Three days later I awoke and stretched my aching shoulder.

'Morning Bob, welcome back to reality.'

GROWING GREAT VOLUNTEERS

Showing appreciation and creating a great culture are two of the secrets to recruiting and retaining volunteers says Project Lyttelton's Teresa Cameron. "We are all equal as a team."

Teresa has worked as one of two co-ordinators for the Garage Sale over the past seven years and is "half staff-half volunteer", a situation she is quite happy with. Teresa recently attended the "Growing Great Volunteers" workshop run by Exult NZ and Volunteering Canterbury, along with other PL staff Francis Willems and Jill Larking. "To be honest what I learnt from it was what I could do to be better as a volunteer around the structure of the Garage Sale," she said.

She says the Garage Sale is lucky to have such a great team but new volunteers are always welcome, as it provides cover for sick days and holidays and support for other volunteers that can only do short shifts. "Often organisations can lose their volunteers, but we've kept ours," Teresa said. "It is important to show appreciation. It's hard work here, it can be quite draining and sometimes frustrating, the volunteers don't get paid and they don't really get perks." "We must be doing something right because the volunteers that have been around us have been here for the last 4 years."

She says people take their jobs seriously and it is important to create opportunities for people to just get to know each other, relax and have a bit of fun. "I've already got someone making cards to show appreciation to our workers." While there may not be a budget to "take them on outings or do things like that," it was important to have ways to get together as a team, she said. "Some are shy and some don't like outings so our next monthly meeting will be held at the Recreation Centre where we can have a game of ping pong."

Teresa said the workshop was really helpful with learning different ways of handling conflict when it arises. She felt her contribution and work was being acknowledged when she was invited to attend the workshop as part of PL's organisational development and it reinforced what she was doing well. "It's like being recognised, not just as a volunteer or staff member, but that you do look after your team," Teresa said. "I've got lots of good ideas about how to structure things better so we aren't getting tired or drained. Volunteers and staff are just the same but the difference is they're not getting paid, and they are working just as hard as you, so you have to look after them."

A number of the team have different health conditions, including Teresa, and creating a positive culture was really important, she said. "If you don't put a happy vibe around your staff won't be happy." Teresa is passionate about the Garage Sale and often drops in when it's closed to check on new donations and safely store them away. "My family always ask me why I work so hard," she said. "I tell them I'd rather die putting passion into the world than sitting on the couch doing nothing. If this was just a shop making money I wouldn't work here, I would use my energy for that. But I know it's going somewhere, it's helping someone."

Teresa knows how it is to struggle by yourself without support. "If I can help someone in some way to take that pressure off - it's amazing how the shop does that for people of all walks of life," she said.

Tinkering.

By

John Riminton Diamond Harbour Writers Group

It had been a bad morning. When Don had bought his latest rotary mower, the blurb had said that re-setting the blades was easy. Not unusually he hadn't been able to find the Handbook and now the one thing of which he was certain was that he didn't know how to do it. "Dammit, this is never never going to work".

He was startled by a gentle melodious voice behind him saying "I can do that for you". Turning around he was astonished to see a rather wispy little figure standing in the garage dressed in old-fashioned girl-child clothes. "who on earth are you?" he asked. "My name is Tinker Bell* and you have just called me from Never-Neverland to help you. Lots of people want my help but I can only come when I am called. Let me see your difficulty". Moving gracefully up to the bench she put her hands around the mower, muttered a few unintelligible sounds and to Don's astonishment, the blades moved smoothly into the positions that he wanted.

"How on earth did you do that? That is a wonderful help – how can I thank you? May I offer you something to eat or drink?" Tinker Bell laughed – a sound like the happy song of birds, – No thank you. My thanks come from the things that I mend, my food is sunlight and I drink from the moisture in the wind". She touched Don with a weightless hand: "You are a good man and I hope that you will tell others how to call for my help no matter what they are struggling with."

"Oh, I shall " from Don. "this has been the most magical moment of my life for now I can believe in things that I have always wished for".

Tinker Bell laughed again: "then you can be sure that for the rest of your days, tinkering will always give you satisfying pleasure". Don opened his mouth to say more, but she had gone.

A NOTE FROM THE NEW MANAGER AT NAVAL POINT – RICHARD MATTERSON

Thank you for the warm welcome that both Madonna and I received by way of mihi whakatau in the Wardroom on Monday morning. Understanding and respecting customs and traditions is one of the key features that separate clubs from other organisations and I'm looking forward to learning more of the history of Naval Point and its predeceasing clubs as we move forward together.

Speaking of history, mine started on the banks of the River Derwent in Hobart, sailing from the age of 5 across a variety of dinghy classes before progressing to keel boats and offshore yacht racing. From a career perspective I spent 8 years at sea with the Royal Australian Navy, before transferring over to the merchant marine initially with Blue Star Line. With young children I decided to come ashore for a few years and took on the role as Sailing Manager at Royal Queensland Yacht Squadron, before building a business providing maritime training courses. A change in personal circumstances saw me sell that business before I returned to Royal Queensland Yacht Squadron first as Marine Operations Manager and later as Facilities Manager. On a personal note Madonna and I have 5 children between us, my son lives and works in London, our respective daughters are at University (Madonna's in Sydney & mine in Brisbane) and Madonna's two sons are in Darwin, her eldest in the last year of an electrical apprenticeship and her youngest completing Year 10.

Whilst my feet are only just under the desk and we aren't making any drastic changes in the way we do business it is important that we begin to focus on the future with the impending departure of Marina and Sarah from the Administration team and Ross May's desire to spend more time on the water and less time organising events for everybody else. We will shortly begin advertising for permanent part-time office administration staff to cover areas such as on-water co-ordination, accounts and membership. Whilst I am still working on job descriptions and identifying the precise allocations of hours and requirements within the existing budget, I am keen to hear from members who feel they or people they know may be interested in joining our team.

I look forward to meeting more members, both next week at the 'All Salts' lunch and as we work towards Opening Day on 21 September.

"...Christmas Day 1847 we were in a gale of a wind in the Bay of Biscay, the ship being deeply laden made rather bad weather of it. One of the boats was struck by a heavy sea and smashed and the First Mate had his leg broken. The Cook... told me that I would never see my mother again..."

So began the adventures of master mariner Captain Henry Rose, who rose through the ranks to command some of the fastest clipper ships in the world before coming ashore in Lyttelton to become marine superintendent of the New Zealand Shipping Company.

Getting Ready for the Cruise Ships' return to Lyttelton in October 2020

A Conversation with the Community

When: Thursday 29th August 6pm to 7.30pm

Where: Lyttelton Recreation Centre, Trinity hall

The Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre and the Banks Peninsula Community Board would like to engage with the community in a conversation about how we can best prepare for the cruise ships and ensure that opportunities are realised and any words of caution listened to and addressed.

Why....

The new cruise ship terminal is on track to welcome visitors from October 2020.

Are we ready for an influx of visitors?

What is the best way of welcoming visitors to Lyttelton Harbour?

What will this mean for Lyttelton Harbour businesses and the community generally?

What do we need to do to prepare for significant numbers of visitors?

Are there opportunities for new businesses/entrepreneurial ideas to develop?

What are our ideas for promoting Lyttelton Harbour?

You are invited to attend this informal drop-in to share your ideas and thoughts about cruise ship visits with us.

We are really looking forward to hearing what you have to say.
