Lyttelton Antarctic Experience

IceFest Speaker Series

IceFest is a brand new biennial festival that brings Antarctica to Christchurch. From September 14 to October 14 the city will be treated to a feast of talks, films, ice activities and exhibitions that will entertain and inform you about this magnificent continent.

Christchurch and Lyttelton are both inextricably linked to the Antarctic. Lyttelton has played host to many of the epic discovery voyages, tourism adventures and current day scientific activity that still occurs in port as the various research vessels call in either on their way to the frozen planet or on the return journey. Whilst the majority of IceFest will be in Hagley Park, in recognition of Lyttelton's association with the Antarctic there are going to be some events in Lyttelton.

Project Lyttelton and Lyttelton Port of Christchurch are jointly hosting a local speaker's series. MC'd by Andrew Turner from Project Lyttelton and commencing at 7.30pm on Thursday September 20 and 27 at the Naval Point Club, you will be treated to six very unique and different tales about local people's experiences in Antarctica. Presentations are for twenty minutes followed by ten minutes of questions.

Dr Margaret Bradshaw, a geologist will be the first speaker telling her tales about life in tents on the ice shelf living in very remote camps. Margaret has been to the frozen planet many times. Initially her visits related to her role as Curator of Geology at the Canterbury Museum but she's also been involved in the University of Canterbury's Postgraduate Course of Antarctic Studies where she has assisted with a couple of field trips.

Robin Burton is coming all the way from Ashburton to tell the stories of his grandfather Bill Burton, a stoker on the Terra Nova for three years during the 1910-1913 British Antarctic Expedition. Robin touches on Bill's role in the Navy, some of his experiences during the expedition and his life back in New Zealand.

The final speaker for the first series will be David Ellis. David calls himself the "Head Honcho" of Earth Sea and Sky. The presentation will focus on "My father, Sir Edmund Hillary and 55 years of innovative clothing design". David's family business has been supplying the down clothing for the Scott Base teams for over 50 years plus they have been involved in numerous adventures including Ed Hillary's farm tractor trip to the South Pole.

The second series will follow on Thursday September 27. First up will be Associate Professor John Bradshaw, formerly a geologist at the University of Canterbury. John has made numerous field visits to Antarctica with Antarctica New Zealand, the British Antarctic Survey and the Chilean Antarctic Program. Although much of his work was from field camps in the interior, the talk will focus on the coast of West Antarctica.

Paul Barrett and Henry Sunderland both current day workers at the base will then tell us about the work they are doing. In their presentation "The Environmental Management Story" Paul will link his environmental management work with Henry's raising environmental awareness through putting a Gnome on the South Pole.

The final speaker of the series will be Mark Penn. Mark was a uniformed police sergeant in November 1979 who was sent south to help in Operation Overdue with a contingent of New Zealand police personnel for the difficult Mount Erebus disaster. Mark's presentation will consist of showing about 50 photos that he took at Erebus together with a verbal description of what they did.

Thanks to generous sponsorship from Lyttelton Port of Christchurch the speaker's sessions will be a free event. However in recognition of the close links the Lyttelton Historical Museum Society has with our Antarctic past and their need to fundraise for new premises we recommend an entry donation to support them.

Numbers are limited. Please reserve your seat by calling the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre 328 9093 or sending an email to infocentre@lyttelton.net.nz. For more information on the entire festival see www.nzicefest.co.nz

Lyttelton is where some of the world's most famous polar explorers set off over 100 years ago:

Lyttelton Antarctic Experience

For a more seagoing adventure, LPC has chartered the Tug Lyttelton for two 90-minute jaunts on and around Lyttelton Harbour. Baden Norris, historian will provide an overview of Antarctic visits and the history of Lyttelton itself. Entry is free however gold coin donations are encouraged with proceeds to support the Lyttelton Historical Museum Society. For more information about the tug please visit www.tuglyttelton.co.nz

Bond Street Bridge presents 'The Explorer's Club'

Heartbreaking stories of Captain Scott's ill-fated Terra Nova venture and the tribulations of Sir Ernest Shackleton's Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition are brought to you by Auckland alt-folk act Bond Street Bridge. Original folk songs interspersed with spoken stories bring to life the struggles, triumphs and tragedies of early twentieth century Antarctic adventurers. Bond Street Bridge use acoustic guitars, fiddles, doubles basses and percussion to back up their rich vocal harmonies.

Explore Quail Island

Spend a fascinating half-day exploring Quail Island – where Antarctic explorers Scott and Shackleton trained their sled dogs and ponies before setting off on their ill-fated voyages. The last polar explorer to quarantine dogs on the island was American Commander Byrd, whose huskies were interned on the island between 1928 and 1930. No booking required – simply turn up to B-Jetty in Lyttelton prior to departure time and purchase your ticket on board! www.blackcat.co.nz

Developing Lyttelton's New Reserve

Council Land Purchase Ready for Development

The Council's purchase of the 'Lyttelton Petanque Club' site on the corner of London Street and Canterbury Street is great news for Lyttelton. Thanks to the Christchurch City Council and everyone who encouraged them to step up.

So the question is, "what next?" As we understand it, there are no further Council resources committed to the design or development of the site over the next year, which is fair enough.

Surely development of the Lyttelton town square is a project that is within the means of the Lyttelton community. Can we just get on and do it? Lyttelton already has plenty of designers, builders, machinery, a whole range of materials, arborists, creativity, gardeners and energy in the community.

What about starting with a community driven design process? This could be coordinated as a joint effort of different Lyttelton community organisations. It might include elements of a design competition, but also collaborative community events to identify different priorities for use of the space and features that we would like to have there. Let's work towards a plan for this public space that is widely supported and then get on and build it!

It may be that some parts of the site can be designed and built sooner and other areas later, as it is quite a big area. So where should initial efforts be focused? Is there even scope for a community facility or community-managed commercial spaces at the top of the site?

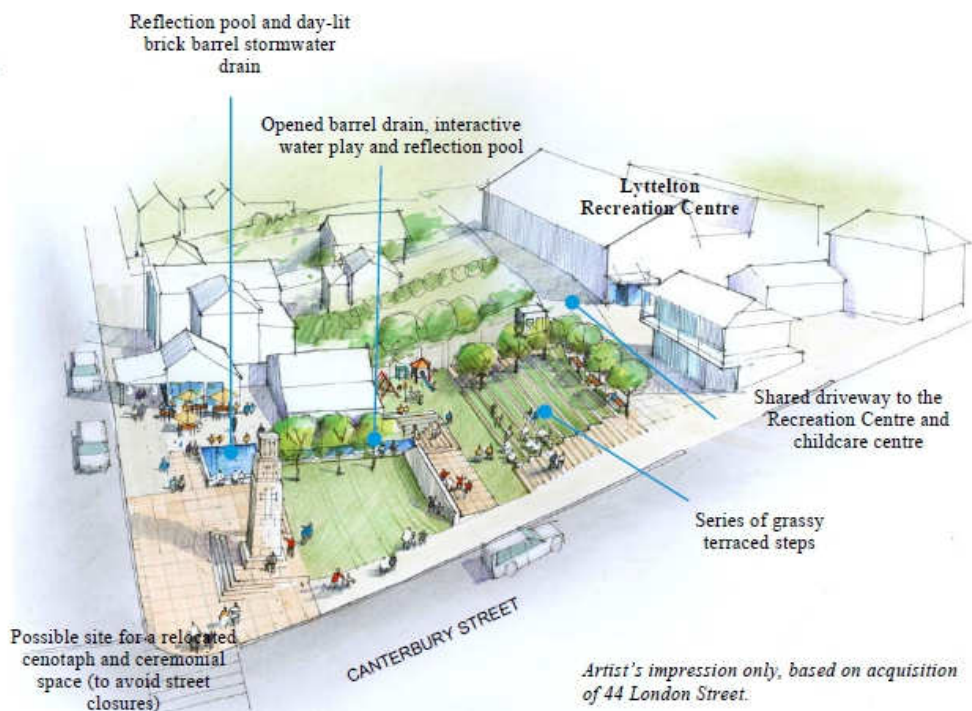

The Gap Filler initiative showed that a lot of pleasure can be gained from simple ideas and some enthusiastic working bees. So let's take that lead a step further. In the process we should be able to get an improved public space faster, and highlight our ability take a lead in our recovery.

Maybe we can also acknowledge Gap Filler's role in helping to start this ball rolling with a fundraising event to help them go on to assist more Christchurch communities. It will be a warm up for the fundraising for construction that will be needed.

Local resident Tim Taylor is happy to gather interest from organisations and individuals, and then organise a get-together in a week or two to see if there is any mileage in these ideas. If you are interested then please drop Tim a note on projects@litttlelion.co.nz.

about the lyttelton review

Lyttelton Review is a community newsletter initiative developed by local Professionals real estate agent Lynnette Baird and Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre chairperson Wendy Everingham. The objective of the Lyttelton Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Each week readers can read about community groups; businesses; events; and everything in between. If you have an event, topic, cause, or other, that you would like to share with the harbour community, then we would love to hear from you. Be heard, be seen, be informed - read it or offer it here.

Lyttelton Farmers Market

Sheehan Apiaries: Meet Barry the Honey Man

Barry has been a regular stallholder at the Lyttelton Farmers Market for seven years. Yes, he is one of the original regulars and is generally the first vendor to arrive at the market each week. In the early days Barry was one of the “market team” opening the grounds each week and just being a great guy helping everyone set up.

Barry has been an apiarist for much of his life. Lyttelton is really lucky to have someone with so much experience at the Lyttelton Farmers Market. Barry has been in the business for an amazing forty two years. Life with bees began when he left school and he got a job with Airborne Honey. Interestingly that company began on the Banks Peninsula but then moved to Leeston. Leeston has been the magnet for many honey businesses. Today there are five commercial businesses operating there.

Barry's first job at Airborne Honey set him up for life. In fact he became the partner and director of his own company for many years. He talks fondly of all the opportunities that work brought. “New Zealand beekeepers are sought all over the world” he said. He was lucky enough to secure work opportunities in Canada and California. Barry makes a plea for more young people to join the industry. He thinks the lifestyle and the opportunities are wonderful. Barry would be more than happy to chat about that. He feels the future is really positive and the bees are doing well despite what we might hear about diseases.

Towards the end of the 1990's he sold that business and then moved into a smaller family business and that's the company that he works from today, Sheehan Apiaries. They look after 400 hives that on average produce five tonne of honey per hundred hives or 20 tonne in total of honey per year. They also have a honey extracting plant that extracts honey for other commercial beekeepers and because they operate under a NZ Food Safety Association (RMP) they can extract up to 100 tons in a season.

Barry is basically semi retired from the business, so he gets to do all the 'nice things' now. Selling weekly at the Lyttelton Farmers Market is one of those things. He laughs and says “I love all the people who visit my stall regularly, but don't ask me what their names are, I'm just the Honey Man to everyone”. The Lyttelton Farmers Market is the only market the Sheehan's sell from. “It suites our sized business and the support from the locals has always been wonderful” he said. At the market you'll find his huge range of honey products including manuka, clover, blends, blackcurrent, honey comb and all at very reasonable prices.

Contrary to the Lyttelton Farmers Market website, you will find that Barry is at the market every Saturday 10.00am to 1.00pm.

Pumpkin Chilli and Honey Soup

650 g pumpkin, peeled and chopped for roasting

1 onion

1 large tomato

1-2 cloves garlic

1 red chilli [milder version] finely chopped

1 tabs oil

Salt and pepper

1 tsp ground coriander, and ground cumin

600 ml chicken stock

200 ml coconut milk

1 tsp runny honey

Pre heat oven to 190C. Add oil, garlic, pumpkin, spices, chilli, salt and pepper and toss to coat with oil. When the pumpkin is tender and crisp remove from pan and add to stock on stove top. Bring to the boil. Simmer 20 minutes. Add as much of the coconut milk as needed and add the honey. Blend until smooth. Add more liquid or seasonings and reheat gently.

c'mon get involved

Lyttelton is known for its culture of volunteer activity and community participation. If you have ever had the thought that you would like to be more involved in the local community, but you are not sure where to go, or who to talk to? Start by having a conversation with the team at the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre, as they can give you some advice on the many types of great volunteer organisations here in Lyttelton. If you are passionate about elderly care, sustainability, youth culture, harbour activities, heritage, radio, business development, fundraising, or just about anything - then there is a group who would love for you to be involved!

On the Move: Post Office Boxes

Pending Demolition Sees PO Boxes Move

The PO Boxes [red Post Office Boxes] are being temporarily relocated this week to the basement garage of the council flat at 25 Canterbury Street [the open garage in the photo]. This is because our old block of buildings is due to be demolished in the next few weeks. Mail will be available for collection from there at all hours starting Thursday afternoon the 6th of September, until then you are able to access your PO Box as normal.

To access the new boxes you will need a pin code to enter a lobby where you can use your key to access the box as normal. This pin code will be available on Thursday onward from Bells Pharmacy to box holders only: phone 328 8314.

Thank you for your patience and understanding as we all continue to deal with the issues that arrive from these earthquakes.

A special thanks to Lyttelton Builders for helping us move at such short notice.

New Girl in Town

Storm Hairdressing: Kat Burnby

Sally at Storm Hairdressing is delighted to welcome Kat Burnby as a new stylist for Lyttelton. Kat's family is originally from Lyttelton, so returning here to live and work, feels like home already for the bubbly and very friendly Kat.

Kat enjoys all aspects of hairdressing and styling. With over twenty years experience, including eleven years owning and operating her own salon, Kat is extremely experienced and knowledgeable to look after your styling needs. Kat enjoys meeting new people and the social side of hairdressing.

While Kat's three children keep her very busy, she enjoys fishing, swimming, netball [including coaching] and the odd cheeky vino. Having recently moved into a villa on Oxford Street, Kat is loving the close proximity to work and all that London Street offers.

Kat has already started at Storm Hairdressing, and is presently available Tuesday and Thursdays. Be sure to pop your head in the door to say hello to this new girl in town, and while you are there, book in for your next style appointment.

Lyttelton Port Company Assists with Fireworks Training

Last week we advised there would be fireworks training on Wednesday 29 August between 6.00pm and 7.00pm at the breakwater by Cashin Quay. A decision was made to postpone this event due to the outbreak of fire onboard a vessel located in the dry dock last Wednesday evening. This activity has now been rescheduled for Monday 03 September at the same time and location. If you require further information regarding locations and timings, please contact George Philips, Marine and Security Manager on 027 678 9026.

Plenty to Share

In Lyttelton so many residents grow vegetables; or have fruit trees literally dripping with produce. Plenty to Share is about sharing any excess produce with the community. Tables are set up every Wednesday afternoon between 3.00pm and 6.00pm down on the corner of London Street and Canterbury Street so that people can bring the produce down to share.

So if your lemon tree is yellow with goodness and you can't keep up with making lemon curd or drinking enough gin and tonics, bring those surplus fruits down to the organisers, where every Wednesday between 3pm and 6pm the swapping of produce is well underway. If there is something on the Plenty to Share table that you would like to take home, then you are warmly invited to do so. You will find Plenty to Share on the corner of London Street and Canterbury Street.

New Zealand Youth Choir Sings in Lyttelton

Free Lyttelton Concert

The choir, which is selected from New Zealand's best young singers, is in Lyttelton for the first week of September preparing for a joint concert with the NZSO National Youth Orchestra. The two groups will perform together Michael Tippet's A Child of Our Time in Christchurch on September 8. The Lyttelton concert is a way to connect with and thank the community in which they are staying while they rehearse. In Lyttelton the choir will sing works by international composers including some of Schumann's Songs for Double Choir, Shearing's Lullaby of Birdland, and Gallus' Musica Musarum Germana. Works by NZ composers include Douglas Mews' arrangement of Two Folk Songs from the Sea and Helen Caskie's quirky Ten Cent Mixture.

Diamond Harbour and Districts Historical Association

Next Meeting: Tuesday 11 September, 8pm

The next meeting of the Historical Association will be held at 8.00pm on Tuesday 11 September, 2012 in the Stage Room of the Diamond Harbour Community Hall.

This month's speaker will be Peter Tremewan whose talk is entitled "French Akaroa: How the South Island nearly became French". Peter is a retired lecturer from the University of Canterbury. He lectured in French, specialising in French literature, particularly the French novel. He then developed an interest in the history of French contacts with New Zealand and has found all sorts of documents on early New Zealand history that were written in French which were unknown to New Zealand historians. Since then he has been delving into French explorers, scientists, artists, whalers, missionaries and settlers and making many interesting discoveries. Peter has also written several books including one on French Akaroa which was first published in 1990.

An advance notice that our October meeting is on Tuesday 9, and the guest speaker will be Pat Unger whose talk is entitled: "The landscapes of W A Sutton".

Remember that your subscription for the 2012 to 2013 year is now due: Family $20; single $12; casual $3/meeting. If your sub is still owing then you can pay Peter Nuthall at the September meeting.

Max had a great turnout for his talk in August so I hope you will all make an effort to come to hear Peter Tremewan. Do encourage friends and neighbours to join us too.

Darfield Earthquake: Two Years On

The Lyttelton Review wanted to quietly acknowledge that this week represents the two year anniversary of the 7.1 magnitude earthquake that shook us from our beds at 4.35am, Saturday 4 September 2010. At the time it was the most damaging earthquake in New Zealand since the Hawke's Bay earthquake in 1931. While there is no dispute that Lyttelton experienced a much greater loss from the February 2011 earthquake, the Darfield Earthquake was the beginning of what has been a challenging two year period, with more than 10,000 aftershocks. In the Darfield Earthquake some Lyttelton residents lost their chimneys, some lost businesses [forever] and others are still not back in their homes two years on. But despite the challenges, Lyttelton and its residents remain strong and more connected than ever before.

Draft Facilities Rebuild Plan to be Considered

Lyttelton Facilities Within "Top 25 Significant Projects"

This week the Christchurch City Council's Community, Recreation and Culture Committee will consider a report that proposes twenty five significant Council-owned facilities be prioritised for funding, further investigation and, where possible, repairs. The report also recommends the approval of a draft prioritised programme for the remainder of the 1,000 facilities included in the Council's Facilities Rebuild Plan project.

General Manager Community Services Michael Aitken says residents understandably want to know when repairs or other work will begin on Council-owned facilities. "These are only recommendations at this stage. If elected members decide this is the way forward, more work will need to be done to finalise the programme and to understand more about the facilities, such as the type of repairs and earthquake strengthening needed, the cost of this work and how much of this will be covered by insurance."

The proposed list of twenty five 'significant projects' includes a range of facilities that are currently closed. Some were closed following the earthquakes while the Council has closed others after receiving Detailed Engineering Evaluation [DEE] assessments which show they are below 34 percent of the New Building Standard [NBS].

The top twenty five were selected based on a criteria that considered a number of factors, including the impact the building's closure is having on the community. At the meeting this week, Staff will ask the committee to recommend the Council endorses the criteria used for prioritisation, the top projects, and the way the rest of the programme has been prioritised. In the report, staff recommend they should seek Council approval for many of the significant twenty five facilities by the end of this year, while they should make recommendations to the Council on the remainder next year.

Community Recreation and Culture Committee Chairman Yani Johanson says, "While a huge focus has been on major facilities in the Central City, it is important not to forget about our suburbs either. Local libraries, swimming pools, community halls, and service centres are an integral part of having a well functioning city. As such, I believe it is vital that Council gives a clear indication on key priorities for the permanent repair or replacement of local facilities. It is time to tell people where positive progress will be made in the short term on helping to restore the quality of life that such amenities provide. I look forward to the Committee having a robust discussion on what should happen when."

Based on the criteria being proposed, the Lyttelton facilities include:

Lyttelton Harbour Visitors Centre and Public Toilet

DEE Status 67% New Building Standard

An important asset for the local community. Since its closure after the 22 February earthquake, there has been no public toilet in the township.

Lyttelton Recreation Centre and Trinity Hall

DEE Status 29% New Building Standard

A key facility that supports community well being, with more than 22,000 participations per annum. It is used by a range of sports groups and for public meetings, including the Lyttelton/Mt Herbert Community Board meeting. It is also the primary Civil Defence Emergency Centre for Lyttelton. Alternate venues in Lyttelton have been severely damaged and demolished leaving the Recreation Centre and Trinity Hall as one of the few viable assets to support CCC's community outcomes. The gymnasium doubles as a large assembly space for events and supports basketball, badminton, volleyball, indoor football, indoor bowls, dances, yoga, pilates, group exercise, mothers' groups and foundation movement skills for children.

Lyttelton Pool [Norman Kirk Memorial Pool]

DEE Status [Not Found]

The Norman Kirk Memorial Pool in Lyttelton is a key recreation facility for Lyttelton over the summer as there are no alternative facilities in the community. Classes are held there for swim education for children, and it is widely used by the Lyttelton and Mt Herbert Community, with more that 7,000 summer participations/

Lyttelton Service Centre

DEE Status 10% New Building Standard

This facility provides key services to the local community

what did you hear

Here at the Lyttelton Review we love receiving your stories and notices about events. Keeping it local and keeping it relevant has resulted in the growth of the Lyttelton Review. One page at a time we are all working together to help connect residents around the Lyttelton Harbour. We couldn't produce the Lyttelton Review each week with your contribution. So here's a big Thank You from the editorial team to everyone who receives and continues to contribute to the success of the Lyttelton Review - your views, ideas and stories are appreciated and always welcomed.

1890's Building Rates Best Against New Building Standard

Reviewing the documentation from Council Staff regarding Council facilities identified for repair or reinstatement, we found it interesting that the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre and Public Toilets on Oxford Street, built circa 1890, complies with the highest percentage against the New Building Standard, well ahead of any other Lyttelton Council building constructed post 1970:

1880 - 1890	Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre, 18 Oxford Street	67% New Building Standard
1970 - 1979	Lyttelton Library, Corner Canterbury and London Street	40% New Building Standard
1980 - 1989	Christchurch City Council Service Centre, 35 London Street	10% New Building Standard
1980 - 1989	Lyttelton Recreation Centre, 29 Winchester Street	29% New Building Standard

If anyone can tell us why, after just a few decades, the Council buildings are rating so low against today's building standard, verses the early settlement buildings, we would be pleased to post a response here.

Red Zone Offer Ready for Port Hills Residents

CERA Press Release Date: 31 August 2012

The Chief Executive of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Authority, Roger Sutton, says the owners of eligible properties in the Port Hills will receive information about their Red Zone offer from this week. Since June, 406 properties on the Port Hills have been zoned Red, due to the life risk associated with rock fall and cliff collapse. A further 45 properties are still zoned White while the final analysis on their land is completed. Mr Sutton says the Government offer that will be made to Port Hills' property owners will be very similar to that offered to owners of eligible properties on the flat land.

However there are some differences. The offer will be valid for 12 months or until 31 August 2013, whichever comes first. However the settlement date will be six weeks after the sale and purchase agreement is signed. This will allow for expedited settlement, and has been put in place due to the life risk associated with the Port Hills properties. "This will allow these property owners to have enough time to consider the offer, but for those who make their decision early in the process, it will mean completing the sale much faster. This is not the same as the process outlined for owners in the flat land, but this is necessary given the life risk associated with these Port Hills properties."

Some Port Hills residents have already returned consent forms to CERA. Filling these out and returning them gives CERA the authority to prepare an offer for consideration, and is not an agreement of acceptance on the property owner's behalf. For the property owners who have already received and returned their consent forms, offers are now being finalised and will be sent out shortly.

From Lyttelton resident Margaret Kilvington: SOUTHERN INSIGHT MEDITATION SPRING RETREAT

Meditation and Qi gong with Jeremy Logan and Mark Bouckoms.

Meditation is a great way to deal with all sorts of issues including feelings of discontent and dissatisfaction. It also helps us learn to develop a greater capacity to care for ourselves and others. While it can feel difficult to "give up" the time, no-one ever regrets doing it and without fail people feel recharged and replenished. The Qigong makes this retreat something very special and especially good for beginners, since it allows us to move in a meditative way between periods of sitting. The meditative environment also allows people to learn the Qi gong effectively and quickly. The retreat is suitable for anyone of whatever religious affiliation [including no affiliation].

Join us from Tuesday 11 September [evening] to Sunday 16 September [midday] at Staveley Campsite. Cost: $220, includes all food and bunkroom accommodation. For more information, check out <http://www.southern-insight.org.nz> or phone Dermot on 381 4617.

Dental Services Underway at Canterbury Charity Hospital

The Canterbury Charity Hospital Trust, in conjunction with the Canterbury Branch of the New Zealand Dental Association, have commenced free dental services at the Charity Hospital's expanded premise in Harewood Road, Christchurch. The $1.9 million new hospital wing houses the dental surgery, counselling rooms and an endoscopy suite, signalling the continuing and growing need for free medical and dental services in Canterbury for some people who would otherwise not be able to access the treatments they need.

Canterbury Charity Hospital Trust Chairperson Philip Bagshaw says the Canterbury Branch of the New Zealand Dental Association approached the Charity Hospital last year, offering to provide dental services. When the home adjacent to the original Charity Hospital became available, the Trust decided the timing was perfect to expand their services to include dental care, counselling and endoscopy. "It is fantastic to have dentists and dental assistants on board and volunteering their expertise and time free of charge. The Charity Hospital has always been about those in our community helping others in the community and this new wave of volunteerism reinforces the strength of community spirit in Canterbury," says Bagshaw.

Stuart Johnson, a Christchurch based dentist, is among those who are volunteering to work for free at the Charity Hospital, where clinics will initially be run two days a week. Johnson is a member of the Charity Hospital's sub-committee, which has been set up to manage the dental services, and is also a member of the Charity Hospital's clinical board. Fellow dentists Susan Gorrie and Chris Newbold join him on the sub-committee. "The sub-committee have set up a new and fully operational surgery at the Charity Hospital. The surgery itself has brand new, state-of-the-art equipment and materials and is very well equipped. Referrals will be made through dentists within the Canterbury district and through the Christchurch Hospital's dental department," explains Johnson.

When asked why dentists are volunteering their services free of charge, Johnson says they are well aware that finance is sometimes a barrier to dental treatment. "It is nice to be able to give back to the community in some way," he says. Treatments will include amalgam and tooth coloured fillings, non-urgent extractions, cleaning and gum treatment and root fillings on front teeth.

People wishing to find out if they are eligible for treatment at the clinic should speak to their own dentist to find out about referrals.

"Dental health is no different to any other area of health. A diseased mouth means ill health. There are also direct links between poor oral health and other health issues, such as heart disease. Psychologically, a nice smile itself can be a huge confidence builder, so a nice smile and no pain when eating or drinking can make a big difference to a person's overall wellbeing," says Johnson.
