Norwich Quay Ideal for Prostitution Business

Christchurch City Council Indicate Large Scale Brothels Fine for Lyttelton

The Christchurch City Council hearing panel, deliberating over the Proposed Christchurch City Council Sexual Services Brothels Bylaw 2012, have indicated they do not object to large scale brothels being permitted to trade along Norwich Quay.

With the recent development of the Lyttelton Master Plan, and long term proposed plans to return the inner harbour to Lyttelton with a suggestion of cafe's, accommodation and a marina, some local residents are aghast at the Council's easy approach to Lyttelton and prostitution.

It is a common misconception that the port town of Lyttelton has a history of prostitution. While port towns around the globe might 'be known' to support such trades, history books and research into Lyttelton exposes no reference to brothels ever being operated here.

University of Canterbury student Heidi Whiteside wrote a 173 page thesis back in 2007 entitled "We Shall be Respectable: Women and Representations of Respectability in Lyttelton 1851-1893". From page 110 onward, Ms Whiteside confronts the issue of prostitution in Lyttelton, and following exhaustive research claims:

"The visibility of prostitutes in Lyttelton is difficult to establish, and the evidence is somewhat contradictory. Official reporting placed the real menace of the presence of prostitutes in Christchurch, rather than at the port.

In 1864 the influential pamphlet 'An Appeal to the Women of Canterbury' reported that there were two women working as prostitutes in Lyttelton and twenty two in Christchurch. A few years later, in answer to a request for the number of prostitutes living in the Province, a report sent by the Commissioner of Police to the Constabulary Department Commissioner Office in Christchurch in July 1869 stated 'there are no Prostitutes known to the Police in any other part of Canterbury than Christchurch'.

Lyttelton's situation as a busy port suggests prostitution must have existed there, and it is possible that the official stance denying the significant presence of prostitution in Lyttelton was because the trade was conducted in a way that was not visible or threatening to the respectable residents.

It is true that court reporting made the activities of some of Lyttelton's disreputable women known to the community, and Lyttelton was too small a place for their particular activities and behaviour to remain anonymous, but it is possible that casual and discrete activity was not detected."

Under the Proposed Christchurch City Council Sexual Services Brothels Bylaw 2012, small owner-operator brothels [SOOBs] as defined in the Prostitution Reform Act could continue to be permitted across the city. This is in line with the High Court's ruling on the Council's Christchurch City Brothels (Location and Signage) Bylaw 2004. Some residents in Lyttelton feel this approach is in more in line with the history and acceptance of prostitution known to exist in Lyttelton.

The suggestion that Norwich Quay would be an acceptable location for large scale brothels has been received with a flurry of emails, including this email from Ken Maynard, Chairman of the Lyttelton Community Association directed to Council:

"I was unable to attend yesterday's deliberations, but if these were correctly reported, it appears that you agree that Lyttelton Town Centre [presumably London Street] is an inappropriate area for commercial brothels, but that Norwich Quay may be.

You will recall that Lyttelton people generated a large number of submissions, and that it is clear that people here do not want a commercial brothel in their town, yet you apparently think that Norwich Quay is an appropriate location.

In the public hearings, Helen Broughton said that the reason for the bylaw was that severe earthquake damage to the Christchurch CBD meant that brothels had to be relocated. As we mentioned at the time, Lyttelton was proportionally damaged in the earthquakes at least as much as Christchurch, so it is difficult to see how it could be viewed as an alternative red-light area.

May I remind you of the existence of the CCC Lyttelton Master Plan? This was produced at great expense, and with much consultation with the residents, businesses and others to give a vision of how Lyttelton would look in the future. This included residential, office and business space, access to the water front, cafes, boating services and much else occupying the whole town centre area right down to the water front. It did not include brothels.

As we said in our submission, the Lyttelton Community Association accepts that prostitution is a legal business, but we feel that the area can be [and probably already is] served by the lower-impact SOOBs.

You presumably felt that was the case for say, Sumner, Redcliffs and Akaroa as you did not include those places in the permitted areas. We strongly believe that the whole of Lyttelton township should be similarly excluded, and earnestly request you to make it so." Ken Maynard

Ken's email was responded to by Megan Pearce, Committee Adviser – CCC Democracy Services Unit:

"I am writing to inform you of a meeting for the continuation of the proposed Christchurch City Council brothels [location and commercial sexual services signage] bylaw process as the panel didn't complete this process in the last meeting. On Friday 21st September, at 2pm, the panel will hold another deliberations meeting which is open to the public so if you wish to observe this meeting, you are welcome to attend. The purpose of this meeting is for the panel to deliberate the options and is not open for public participation. You will be informed of the outcome once the bylaw process is complete

When: Friday 21 September commencing at 2pm

Where: Committee Room 1, Civic Offices, 53 Hereford Street

If you have any questions about the process, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Three... Two... One

Ministry of Education to Merge Lyttelton Schools

In 1946 Rapaki School was closed and students were transferred to Lyttelton West School. Last week the Ministry of Education declared that Lyttelton West School will be merged with Lyttelton Main School on the schools grounds at Oxford Street as part of an education shakeup spreading across Canterbury.

The two Lyttelton schools surveyed parents on a possible merger last year, and most residents and parents were opposed. One parent interviewed by The Press from Lyttelton West School was "shocked" by the announcement saying "we only voted last year and decided we didn't want to merge, so I assumed that was pretty much the end of it."

Founded in 1887, the Lyttelton West School is set to celebrate 125 years of service to Lyttelton families, and now no one knows how many years this school will be left open.

Lyttelton Main School started its long history as the Lyttelton Borough School, opening in 1875 as a school for pupils aged five to eighteen years. The Lyttelton Borough School was later renamed Lyttelton District High School, but after the 1929 Murchison and 1931 Napier earthquakes the safety of brick schools was questioned, so the grand, two-storey brick Lyttelton District High School, that had stood as a landmark for 60 years, was dismantled and replaced with wooden single storey classrooms and renamed Lyttelton Main School on 21 February 1941.

While founded over 137 years ago, Lyttelton Main School, as we know it today, has served Lyttelton for well over 70 years. The school has seen many changes and is now a Silver Enviro-School awaiting a new school building designed for a 21st century education and an influx of more pupils.

Odd Shoes for Great Cause

Fundraising for Children Living with Cancer

If you see children walking around town in odd shoes next Friday don't be surprised, be impressed, for they are doing it for children living with cancer. September 14 was Odd Shoe Day, a new fundraising initiative which supports Camp Quality in New Zealand. Camp Quality is a volunteer, non-profit charitable trust dedicated to enhancing the quality of life for children living with cancer. Locally, Camp Quality has been running camps at Living Springs, and the Lyttelton Lions have been supporting Camp Quality for a number of years.

Odd Shoe Day has been devised to raise funds to support the camps and is being run New Zealand wide. Wearing Odd Shoes will allow people to experience the fun and laughter that is provided for children at the camps and it will give them an appreciation of the differences which children experience as a result of their illness.

Lyttelton Lions organised an Odd Shoe Day at Lyttelton West School on Friday 14th, and a second Odd Shoe Day will be held at Lyttelton Main School on Friday 28, being the last day of term. Students are asked to wear odd shoes and bring a gold coin donation.

Odd Shoe Day involves wearing mismatched or unusual shoes as an easy way to show your support. But this fundraising event doesn't have to be just for the school kids, and everyone is encouraged to take part. Even if you don't want to wear odd shoes, feel free to head down to Lyttelton Main School give a donation for our nations children living with cancer.

Lyttelton Lions volunteer, Mary Jamieson says "our sincere thanks go to the school principals for allowing us to run this fundraiser."

Live Below the Line

Awareness for the Fight Against Poverty

Lyttelton resident Cathy Pollock is participating in the Live Below the Line Challenge to raise awareness for the fight against world poverty.

Cathy says "from 24th - 28th September I am going to be living on just $2.25 a day for all my food and drink as part of the Live Below the Line challenge. It's a wonderful opportunity to raise money and awareness for crucial anti-poverty initiatives being undertaken by Oxfam NZ and it would be great if you could take the challenge too."

Cathy says she is taking the challenge because "in today's world, extreme poverty and inequality are unjustifiable and unfair. Live Below the Line demonstrates the problem in a concrete way, while raising money to address the problem. Support me as I live below the line by donating to this cause, your generous support will go towards fighting extreme poverty."

Cathy will be joined by thousands of people across New Zealand who will be taking the challenge to live on $2.25 - the New Zealand equivalent of the international extreme poverty line.

Living on so little will give a glimpse into the challenges faced by the 1.4 billion people who have no choice but to live below the line every day, for everything - food, medical care, transport, education and everything else.

You can find out more about Live Below the Line and sign up at www.livebelowtheline.com/nz. If you aren't able to take part you can still support this great campaign by sponsoring Cathy at www.livebelowtheline.com/me/cathypollock

Letter to Lyttelton Residents

Local resident Hana Black wanted to share this letter with the wider community: I received this awesome letter the other week and though it was delivered to my address, I believe it is addressed to all Lyttelton residents. Bob must be in his 70s or maybe even 80s if he was here in the 60s. I thought other people may want to respond as well, I've only been here eight years so don't know anything about the Lyttelton he recalls. I wasn't sure about publishing his contact details, but if anyone would like them they can email or phone me: Hana Black 022 046 3156 or email hanablack@gmail.com.

"Good evening, or should I say good afternoon. I set up Google Earth today and have been revisiting places where I once lived or enjoyed visiting. A few years back, or should I say 1960-1962, I came into Lyttelton a number of times and found it to be one of the most beautiful ports I've ever entered. After being out to sea for several months at a time, it was mesmerising to see the change of blue waters to that of a moss green. Far more alluring than the clear aquarium waters of Tahiti.

In October, tundra rising from the quaint town of Lyttelton was covered with yellow. Walking the tracks you were greeted by a railway man signalling passage as trains arrived and departed. Truly a beautiful sight.

Lyttelton has certainly grown and I took the liberty of 'walking' down several streets via Google Earth, and up the side to obtain a view of the bay. At the intersection of College Road and College Place I noticed all the beautiful flowers along the road. I believe you are still observing winter so would imagine the views I am looking at are from your past spring. From here it appears residents have a panoramic view with possible visibility of the Pacific.

You are truly blessed to be in a beautiful area of God's creation". - Bob Neal, August 2012

LIFT Library Film Evening

DIRT! the movie

We haven't seen this film yet but several people have recommended it highly. It is about our soil, including what we've done to it and what we should be doing with it.

The last film evening on 12 September, aroused some discussion. The main film was "Unnatural Selection", from the DVD 'The GMO Trilogy', showing the impact of genetically modified crops and animals; and back-up evidence from India; we also saw some Youtube clips on the subject, and read a report on how Monsanto and DuPont, who provided key speakers at the recent AgBio Conference in Rotorua, are fighting among themselves over IP rights and the spoils of war over seed supply. If anyone has information on the place of GE crops in New Zealand, please pass on to me so I can forward it on to those interested.

Sumner Road Update

Sumner Road [the road from Lyttelton to the summit at Evans Pass] has been impacted significantly by rock fall as a result of the earthquakes. Remediation, including the clearing of loose rock, has made no significant difference to the amount of rock likely to fall onto the road and beyond in any future significant seismic events.

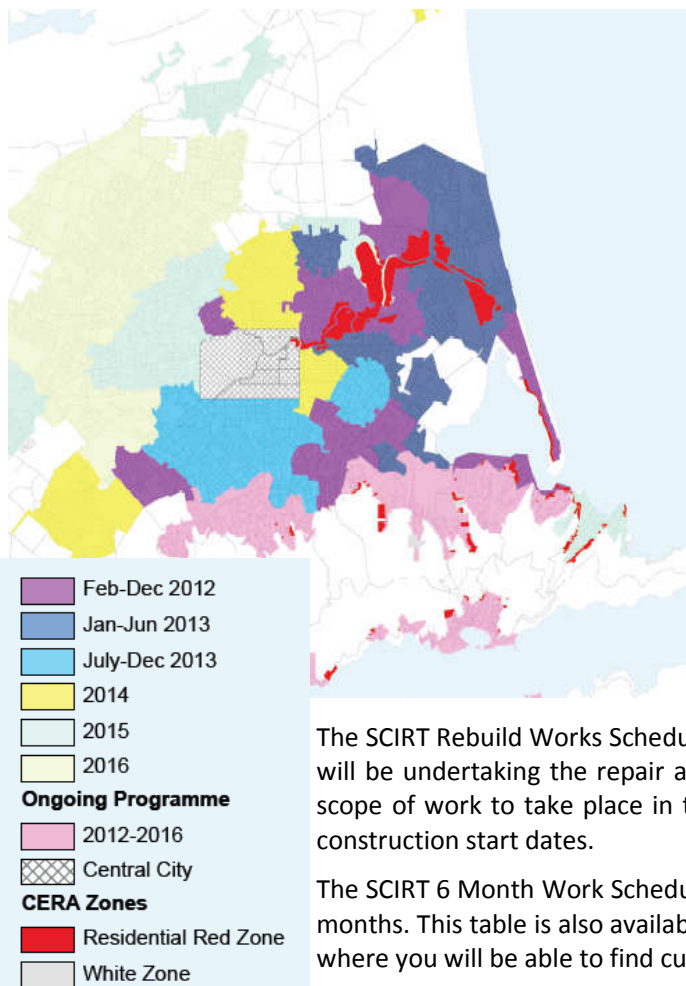

The aim of the Christchurch City Council has always been to open the road, if possible, and a variety of options for reinstating the road, along with measures to reduce the potential impacts of rock fall are being explored.

The option currently being investigated by Council will involve complex work, including excavation and stabilisation techniques across the Crater Rim bluffs. It would also allow access to the Lyttelton Port Company quarry to be re-established. Until investigations are complete the Council is unwilling to confirm timeframes, but they acknowledge the damage is substantial and will take considerable time to complete.

Work to remove rock fall on Evans Pass Road, the road from Sumner to the Summit Road is progressing well with an anticipated opening of this route by October 2012. The opening of Evans Pass Road will provide a route from Sumner to Mount Pleasant.

The Christchurch City Council will be aiming to keep us all informed of any further progress. The image below shows in more detail the area affected.

SCIRT Rebuild Works Schedule

The schedule for the rebuild of Christchurch's earthquake-damaged roads and underground services was released on Friday 7 September, by the Minister for Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Gerry Brownlee and Christchurch Mayor Bob Parker.

The plan includes a map setting out indicative timeframes for infrastructure repairs in different areas of the city. The work has been prioritised based on a range of factors, with the aim being to first fix the worst-affected areas that impact on the most people.

"This work is one piece of a much bigger and complex city-wide recovery programme," says Minister Brownlee. "But it is highly significant as underground services need to be rebuilt and future proofed so that the city's recovery is founded on a secure infrastructure base. It will take another four years to rebuild Christchurch's horizontal infrastructure [retaining walls] and deciding what comes first is not easy. We've used a robust model to prioritise the work and that's what we're launching today. Of course, things might change as work progresses, but residents can now have a good idea of when we'll be working in their neighbourhood."

The SCIRT Rebuild Works Schedule map outlines broad timeframes for areas of Christchurch where SCIRT will be undertaking the repair and rebuild to public horizontal infrastructure. Specific details about the scope of work to take place in these areas will be confirmed with stakeholders and residents closer to construction start dates.

The SCIRT 6 Month Work Schedule outlines in detail current and upcoming SCIRT projects for the next six months. This table is also available on the website at <http://strongerchristchurch.govt.nz/work/schedule/> where you will be able to find current work notices for projects that are already underway.

The rebuild is a huge task and not everything can be done at once. The works schedule map and 6 month work schedule has been prepared with the following considerations in prioritising work:

Operational Priorities: condition and importance of the asset, how well it is operating and the ongoing cost of operating the asset

Interdependencies: repairing downstream wastewater lines before upstream ones.

Key Services: maintaining access to emergency, medical and educational facilities and major transport networks.

External Factors: influences from other Recovery Strategies [such as Central City Development Unit, social and economic]

Constraints: the availability of resources and materials.

Common Sense Check: SCIRT reviews the decision and decides 'is this the right thing to do now?'

All projects are subject to weather, heritage considerations and on-site construction conditions. Timeframes around all the projects are subject to quarterly review and update.

SCIRT Works Notice

London Street Retaining Wall Reconstruction

We will be carrying out reconstruction work on a retaining wall along part of London Street [between Dublin Street and Hawkhurst Road]. Work is scheduled to start on Monday 10 September 2012 and we anticipate the work to take approximately four months to complete.

It may seem like there is not much happening on site in the first couple of days. This is because we spend time at the start of the project to prepare the site. This can involve locating underground services, installing site containers, putting up fencing, installing the traffic management, and arranging machinery on site.

Once the site is set up then we are able to begin the physical construction works:

- The existing stone wall will be removed and the retaining wall slope excavated to a safe angle.
- The new wall will be constructed in the same position as the previous wall.
- As part of the reconstruction work, ground anchors will be inserted into pre-drilled holes to secure the new retaining wall to the slope.

Traffic Impacts:

- During the construction period the northern lane and shoulder along London Street will be closed. Two-way traffic flow will be maintained. The width of both traffic lanes will be reduced and a 30km/h speed restriction will be in place along London Street.
- On-street car parking along both sides of London Street within the work area will be unavailable. On-site signage will indicate where parking will not be available.
- Footpath access on the northern side of London Street will remain closed during the construction work. Please follow on-site signage.

Homes Wanted to Rent

Lynnette says: our demolished cottage in Canterbury Street in taking longer than expected to rebuild, and the home we have been renting in Voelas Road is about to go onto the market for sale. So we are on the hunt for a new rental property with two or three bedrooms, to suit two working professionals. Minimum rental period six months, but could be up to nine months, and we need to be relocated by the end of October. Would love to stay in Lyttelton, but given the short timeframe will also consider Heathcote Valley, Opawa or St Martins. Please contact: 03 328 7707 or 021 224 6637 or email lynnette.baird@gmail.com.

Bonnie says: we are wanting to rent a two or three bedroom house in Lyttelton, for a family of three, long term and or possibly do a swap for our Halswell four bedroom home with a two bedroom sleep out on a big section. Please contact: 021 299 3030 or 03 322 4412 or email bonniebooink@gmail.com.

Gruff Junction and Melton Estate Wine

No cheddar cheese and wine casks! This time it is the best that Canterbury has with award-winning cheese from Gruff Junction, new release wine from Melton Estate and tasty treats from the Melton Estate kitchen.

Gruff Junction is a local, family owned and operated company, producing award winning artisan goat's cheese of the highest quality in a completely integrated "farmstead" operation. This means they grow the grass and the barley; the goats graze the pastures and their milk is made into cheeses. The milk used is not sourced from anywhere else but the Gruff Junction farm so they have complete control and traceability. Gruff Junction are regular stall holders at the Lyttelton Farmers Market.

This will be a popular event with locals and new friends escaping the city for West Melton. Just $15 for a great afternoon out, and Melton Estate is just ten minutes from the airport.

plenty to share

In Lyttelton so many residents grow vegetables; or have fruit trees literally dripping with produce. Plenty to Share is about sharing any excess produce with the community. So if your lemon tree is yellow with goodness and you can't keep up with making lemon curd or drinking enough gin and tonics, bring those surplus fruits down to the organisers, where every Wednesday between 3pm and 6pm the swapping of produce is well underway. If there is something on the Plenty to Share table that you would like to take home, then you are warmly invited to do so. You will find Plenty to Share on the corner of London Street and Canterbury Street.

Celebrate Suffrage Day – Rebuild with Our Vote!

On Friday the 7th of September the New Zealand government took an extraordinary step by announcing the decision to continue to suspend local regional council elections in the wake of the earthquakes and aftershocks which have wracked our community over the past two years. So the question students and the local Christchurch press have fairly asked is: why does the government not trust local citizens with a vote for our own city rebuild or our region's recovery?

In 1893 a Canterbury woman, Kate Sheppard led the successful campaign to gain women the vote, making New Zealand the first country to grant the vote to all women and men, an event marked every year on suffrage day, the 19th of September. This family friendly event honours the Canterbury women and men who led the world in gaining the right for everyone to vote and Canterbury's Adan Wells -NZ's first female council member. Here in Canterbury we care about the right to VOTE in our city and regional decision making.

Democracy and transparency is the only effective way through a disaster over the long term so come and join us on Suffrage day to celebrate that right! SAY Yes to local democracy and NO to the suspension of ECAN elections and sweeping aside of elected city council decision making. NZ Women were the first in the world to win the vote and it started in Christchurch! Make a stand. Canterbury has lost much, we can't lose our rights to use our city or regional vote.

Gather at the Bridge of Remembrance and tell the Government to RESPECT and TRUST democracy in the Christchurch rebuild.
Wednesday 19 September 2012, 5.30pm.

Disaster Research Survey

University of Otago

You and your colleagues, friends and adult family members are invited to participate in our survey to explore what people believe is important when the science of earthquakes and ways of minimising earthquake-related disasters are being communicated. We are seeking adult participants from NZ and overseas from all ages and walks of life. Results from this survey will be used with the aim of improving the communication of science in ways that assist in reducing the impact of natural hazards. The survey should take approximately 10-20 minutes depending on the detail of reply you choose to give. All web-based responses are anonymous.

If you are happy to participate please go to the link below and complete the survey, after first reading the full information sheet.
https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/Earthquake-related_communication_2012

Please also forward this email on to anyone you are comfortable sending it to, as we would like to achieve as wide a group of participants as possible. Your help in this matter is much appreciated. Many thanks for your time and help in our research.

Capture the Legacy of the Red Zone Communities

What made these communities precious and what memories should we save? You can help CanCERN to create a legacy for the people of Canterbury that celebrates the places where we have lived and played. Send us your words, thoughts, memories, stories, and pictures as CanCERN is commissioning Bryan L'Estrange and his team to create an artwork from your ideas.

This is an easy job. Use <https://docs.google.com/spreadsheet/viewform?formkey=dGNVUVRLUFDYkUwVWVdXOHZvLWc6MQ> which is an online form for people who want to write their words or phrases OR if you'd rather draw or add photo memories, email them to us at info@cancern.org.nz. Ideas will be collated by area and presented to Bryan's team who will generate possibilities for you to vote on. The favourite idea will be turned into container art and gifted to the people of Canterbury. So spread the word, help generate ideas and let's make a bit of history

We need to raise about $2700 for this project. Any donations will be most appreciated and can be deposited in the CanCERN account 06 0817 0320607 00. Please use the reference, 'ART' and put your name in the code for a sponsors list.
